DISMISS PANEL; SEDITION TRIAL TO BEGIN ANEW

Attorney Is Cited for Contempt.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 1.—All prospective jurors in the mass sedition trial were dismissed today and all proceedings in the case suspended until 10 a. m. Wednesday to permit a hearing on contempt of court proceedings instigated by the trial judge against one of the defense attorneys.

James J. Laughlin, Washington attorney, appointed by the court to represent defendant Robert Noble and retained by defendant Edward James Smythe, was directed to appear before Federal Justice Jennings Bailey tomorrow morning to answer a petition of Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher of the federal court of the District of Columbia to show cause why Laughlin should not be held in contempt.

With the prospective jury dismissed and a new panel of veniremen called for Wednesday, the case thus reverted to the point at which it started two weeks ago when selection of a jury began.

"Malicious Scheme" Charged.

Justice Eicher's petition, drawn by government prosecutors O. John Rogge and Joseph W. Burns, charged Laughlin with pursuing a "malicious scheme" of filing certain motions and making certain statements to the press that attracted wide publicity and which, if brought to the attention of the prospective jurors, might cause them to form an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendants.

Among the Laughlin motions cited in Justice Eicher's petition was an affidavit filed in behalf of Noble, charging the judge was biased and prejudiced against the defendants. It alleged Justice Eicher had been promised an appointment to an appellate court judgeship and possibly to a berth on the Supreme court by President Roosevelt if he obtained a conviction of the defendants.

When Justice Eicher announced the contempt proceedings several defense attorneys jumped to their feet and demanded a report on the nature of the proceedings and denounced the judge's action.

Lawyers Denounce Charge.

Atty. Maximilian St. George of Chicago labeled the proceedings "a vicious attempt to intimidate counsel." Ethelbert B. Frey, another defense attorney, asserted "it is a serious thing to smother that at this time," after Justice Eicher had refused to reveal the nature of the contempt proceedings. Defendant Lawrence Dennis was ordered to "sit down" but continued to speak until a motion to disclose the contents of the petition in open court had been made and denied.

St. George asked the judge a question and was fined $20 for being in contempt of court when he continued to ask for permission to speak after being told repeatedly that he was "out of order."

The judge designated government prosecutor Burns to represent him in the contempt proceedings before Justice Bailey.

Asks More Desk Space.

A request for more desk space for defense attorneys, made by Claude Thompson, court-appointed counsel for Hans Diebel and Herman M. Schwinn, was denied. Justice Eicher also refused to permit Thompson to have taken, for use in a possible appeal, pictures of the court room to show the crowded conditions under which the defense attorneys must work.

Thompson told Justice Eicher that he had work space on a tilted table from which his books and papers constantly slipped into his lap or onto the floor. He said the space is only 2 feet wide and 15 inches high.

Gen. 'Ike' Sits In on British Empire Parley

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 1.—The conference of prime ministers of the British empire began its first working session this afternoon when Prime Minister Churchill opened the debate on the war with a statement reportedly covering the present situation and the future conduct of operations against Germany and Japan.

The discussions were said to be concentrated largely on the invasion of Europe and disposition of dominion troops. The dominion prime ministers were understood to be greatly concerned over the role allotted to their military forces because of the unprecedented nature of operations and heavy casualties anticipated.

Churchill Welcomes Delegates.

Gen. Eisenhower, supreme commander of the allied forces, attended the conference. He was the first American or other non-British subject to take part in an imperial conference. Officials said the general attended to provide information.

The working session of the conference followed its formal inauguration at the prime minister's residence this morning. Churchill welcomed the delegates. It was the first time they had met together under one roof. The ceremony was attended by the war cabinet, the chiefs of staff, dominion high commissioners in London, and British government officials.

Plan Migration Policy.

Subsequent meetings, it was announced, will be "informal." Apart from the war, discussions will cover arrangements for world settlement and world security, the future policy of the British commonwealth on defense, shipping, education, welfare of colonial peoples, and migration.

Considerable importance is attached to migration, particularly by Canada. The conference will consider the best method of inducing demobilized soldiers to emigrate to the dominions which need new settlers before they have a chance to return to pre-war environments.

BOMBS BERLIN, WINS MEDAL, RETIRES—AT 16

A U. S. LIBERATOR BASE IN BRITAIN, May 1 (AP).—Sgt. De Sales A. Glover of Pittsburgh, Pa., a Liberator bomber gunner who recently was awarded the air medal, is being retired from the United States army air forces at the ripe age of 16, it was learned today.

He was grounded recently after completing six missions, including one trip to Berlin, when it was discovered he was under age. Administration officials said he probably will be sent home and honorably discharged. By fibbing about his age, Glover enlisted in the army Oct. 14, 1942, when he was only 14.

Here's One Way to Avoid Having a Tooth Pulled

WITH U. S. FORCES AT AITAPE, Dutch New Guinea, May 2—[Tuesday].—After setting up a dental office, Capt. J. B. Berkowitz of New York City got a soldier patient, who needed a tooth pulled. As he got out the forceps to pull the tooth the soldier fainted. Berkowitz's GI assistant revived him, handed him a vial of smelling salts, and said, "Here, take this." The aid turned away and came back to see the patient gulping. "Gosh, you didn't swallow it?" he cried. The patient's tooth pulling was delayed and he was turned over to the medics.

Mrs. F. D. R. Gives Bridal Gown to British Girls

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—Girls in the British auxiliary services now can wed in white—thanks to American women's gift of 50 bridal outfits, including one from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. Lots were drawn for the Roosevelt gown—heavy white silk with a long train and fine net veil. It was won by the auxiliary territorial service and will be available to all its brides.

COOK COUNTY'S QUOTA PLACED AT 6,600 MEN

Plan to Define Key Jobs This Week.

Illinois is being called upon to supply 12,000 men over 26 years old for the military service in the last nine months of this year. Of this number Cook county will supply 6,600.

Authority for this statement is Col. Harris P. Ralston, Springfield, deputy state director of selective service in charge of occupational deferments, who spoke yesterday before the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Palmer House.

"Military man power requirements of the nation for the remainder of 1944 are 1,385,000 men," he said. "Of the 1,699,213 men under 26 available on April 1, selective service estimates 1,075,000 will be inducted by the end of the year.

Nation Takes 175,000 Past 26.

"Of the 310,000 men who must be obtained elsewhere, 135,000 will come from youths who become 18 years old, leaving a deficit of 175,000, which must be obtained from those past 26.

"Illinois supplies 6.6 per cent of all men inducted into the military service in the United States. Cook county's share of the state quota is 55 per cent.

"On April 1, the nation had 603,236 men under 26 in classes 1-A and 1-A-O. Selective service estimates these will yield 355,000 draftees. Another 158,830 were in 3-A, 3-B, and unclassified. These will yield 88,000. Out of the 373,089 in 2-A and 2-B, a yield of 127,000 is expected and only 85,000 will be obtained from the 564,058 in agriculture. There also are 420,000 18 year olds.

6,700,000 Now in Group.

"Currently there are 6,700,000 men in the United States in the 26 to 37 year age group. More than half of these are deferred and in 2-A or 2-B."

Col. Ralston told the association members the estimated needs of the military services and the figures for Illinois and Cook county should stand unless battle losses in the European and Pacific theaters are unusually serious. Army and navy officials have taken losses into consideration in arriving at their estimated needs for replacements.

Col. Ralston, who admitted Illinois selective service officials have been somewhat confused by contradictory orders from Washington, said instructions were received April 12 to postpone induction of all men who were 26 before March 4 if they were in essential work and that some local draft boards had misinterpreted the order and postponed induction of all men.

Calls to Decline After July.

He emphasized that registrants over 26 should be inducted if not in essential work and also the necessity for filling state quotas in May and June. This means that slightly more than 700 registrants over 26 will be inducted in Cook county this month and in June. After July 1, Col. Ralston said, calls for men over 26 will be spotty.

He advised employers who are working on new replacement schedules to stop and await the outcome of a meeting of state directors with the national director in Washington Friday. At that meeting it will be decided what jobs for men over 26 will entitle registrants to deferments.

Orders 4,500 Tribunes for Yanks in Italy

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NAPLES, Italy, May 1.—The reading habits of soldiers run to mystery stories, tales of the west, and, of course, all the news they can get from their home towns, Capt. Robert Bennett, assistant base exchange officer at Naples, told THE TRIBUNE today.

Capt. Robert Bennett

Bennett, whose residence is at 2625 Montgomery av., Chicago, was pleased at the landfall of reading material which had just come his way—he having received 34 recent issues of THE TRIBUNE to which he subscribes regularly.

Seeks 4,500 Copies.

Bennett has placed an order for an additional 4,500 copies each week of the Overseas Tribune which are expected to arrive at this theater of war shortly. Glancing thru the copies which had been mailed to him, he was enthusiastic over the news and feature articles, the comic strips, sports, and pictures.

"I don't anticipate any difficulty in disposing of the copies we have ordered for Chicagoans and middle westerners in the army in Italy," he said. "I, for one, have wanted such a publication, and I am certain others do."

Bennett, 39, has been in the army since 1923 and was steward in the commissary at Fort Sheridan, Ill., from 1933 to 1936. He is married and has two children, Jerry, 10, and Margie, 4½.

Sellout in England.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT A 9TH AIR FORCE BASE IN ENGLAND, May 1.—There were no copies of the Overseas Tribune on sale at this airdrome's post exchange when a Tribune correspondent walked in to make a purchase of some cigarets, but he knew there should have been.

"You've got to get here early Monday morning if you want one," said Lt. Charles H. Franks of Port Washington, Wis., who is assigned to the public relations office. "They are all gone in a few minutes."

EXCHANGE SHIP SAILS TODAY TO GET YANKS HELD BY GERMANY

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—The Swedish exchange liner Gripsholm will sail tomorrow to carry out the second exchange of seriously sick and wounded war prisoners with Germany.

Involved in the exchange also will be a number of other persons entitled to repatriation under the Geneva Red Cross convention, the state and war departments announced.

The exchange is to take place at Barcelona, Spain, about May 17. American repatriates are expected to land in New York early in June.

The names of American service men to be brought home will not be available until after the Gripsholm leaves Barcelona for its return journey. The announcement did not say how many German or American prisoners would be exchanged.

The Gripsholm, which has already made three exchange trips and brought home wounded American war prisoners on its last journey across the Atlantic, will travel both ways under safe conduct from all belligerents.

MacArthur Misses Jap Bullet in Hollandia Visit

New York, May 1 (AP).—Gen. MacArthur, who went ashore during the Hollandia landings April 22, missed a Japanese bullet by "only a few inches," William Kelty, NBC reporter, said tonight in a broadcast from New Guinea. Kelty, who participated in the landings, said "enemy sharpshooters let go only a few minutes before Gen. MacArthur strode by."

City Tax Rate Higher; $3.90 on $100 Value

Chicago's 1943 tax rate, made public yesterday by County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, is $3.90 on $100 of property assessed at full value.

This is an increase of about 1 per cent in the rate over 1942. Last year County Assessor Clark assessed at 37 per cent of full value and the tax rate was $10.42 on $100. This $10.42 figure, if the old assessment basis had been kept, would have become $10.54 this year. Making the comparison another way, $3.85½ instead of $3.90 would be comparable to the $10.42 figure.

Other Rates Due Today.

Flynn said he would release today tax rates for municipalities in the county outside Chicago. There are more than 400 of these taxing bodies. Flynn added that bills would be ready for mailing by June 7. It is expected the first penalty date for payments will be July 1.

The new tax rate includes levies of the six major taxing agencies partly or wholly within the city. These bodies and their individual rates are: Cook county 24 cents, forest preserve 4 cents, Chicago schools $1.38, city $1.46, parks 45 cents, and sanitary district 33 cents—total $3.90.

Only one of these bodies, the county, took advantage of the new assessment to levy more money than it could have had under a maximum rate applied to 37 per cent of full value. Its raise totaled about 4 million dollars.

Valuation Figures Given.

Flynn said that the total assessment values this year in Chicago are: Real estate, $3,610,710,578; personal property, $1,060,656,361, and rail and utility stock [assessments made by the state department of revenue], $155,545,284.

Railroads in the county stand to benefit by the assessment change. Last year their assessments, based on the average of assessment ratios over the state, were at 31 per cent; this year at 54 per cent. With the smaller rate they stand to profit by some 4 millions, according to an estimate of Philip W. Collins, state revenue director. However, they will have bigger tax bills downstate.

COURT BATTLE IS WAGED OVER SEIZURE OF WARD

BAR CONFESSION OBTAINED THRU 36 HR. GRILLING

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 1.—In a 6 to 3 decision fraught with significance to the law enforcement authorities of the 48 states, the Supreme court today ruled that a confession in a Tennessee murder case was inadmissible because it was obtained after 36 hours of questioning, altho no violence had been employed.

On this basis, the court reversed the convictions of two men who had been sentenced to 99 years in prison for complicity in the slaying of Mrs. Zelma Ida Ashcraft, of Memphis, Tenn., on June 5, 1941. The defendants were E. E. Ashcraft, 45, husband of the dead woman, and John Ware, 20, a negro, the latter, according to the confessions, having been hired by the husband to commit the murder.

Dissented by Three.

The dissenting minority, composed of Justices Jackson, Roberts, and Frankfurter, criticized the majority opinion read by Justice Black in which Justices Stone, Reed, Douglas, Murphy, and Rutledge concurred.

The majority noted that Ashcraft had been taken into custody, 10 days after the crime, about 7 o'clock on a Saturday evening and was questioned continuously until Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Ashcraft did not complain that he was physically abused but he was examined by relays of officers until, after 28 hours of questioning, he named Ware as the murderer. Ware was then arrested and when brought face to face with Ashcraft, confessed that he was hired to commit the crime by Ashcraft. Ashcraft then dictated a confession which, however, he refused to sign.

Object to Coercion.

"The Constitution of the United States stands as a bar against the conviction of any individual in an American court by means of a coerced confession," the majority said. "There have been, and are now, certain foreign nations with governments dedicated to an opposite policy: governments which convict individuals with testimony obtained by police organizations possessed of an unrestrained power to seize persons suspected of crimes against the state, hold them in secret custody, and wring from them confessions by physical or mental torture. So long as the Constitution remains the basic law of our Republic, America will not have that kind of government.

Quizzed Without Respite.

"For 36 hours after Ashcraft's seizure during which period he was held incommunicado, without sleep or rest, relays of officers questioned him without respite. . . . We think a situation such as that here shown by uncontradicted evidence is so inherently coercive that its very existence is irreconcilable with the possession of mental freedom by a lone suspect."

The "new and novel" doctrine enunciated by the majority may fetter the states in protecting society from the criminal, the minority protested, and the court was "moving far and fast" in the direction of prohibiting use of all confessions

Company Attorney Contends Store Is Not War Plant.

The attorney general of the United States stood in federal District court here yesterday and announced that it is the position of the New Deal that "no business or property is immune to a Presidential order."

He told Federal Judge William H. Holly, hearing Montgomery Ward & Co.'s motion to dissolve a temporary restraining order enjoining the company or its officials from interfering with government operation of its seized Chicago properties, that:

"Particularly in time of war, the court should not substitute its judgment for that of the executive."

[Stockholders of the United States Steel corporation yesterday adopted a resolution praising Sewell L. Avery and reëlected him a director of the steel corporation at their annual meeting in Hoboken, N. J. Story on page 21.]

In the heat of what legal authorities from coast to coast view as a decisive test of burocratic powers, Atty. Gen. Biddle stated flatly the New Deal's policy of government.

Holds F. D. R. Supreme.

"The President has a great constitutional reserve of power," said Biddle. "The President clearly has the power to take the action he took here. The statutes recognize that the right is there. In time of war, it is true that in taking over plants the government is subject to the regulation of the 5th amendment [the due process of law amendment], but no business or property is immune to his order."

Biddle, head of the department of justice, appeared as one of the two chief protagonists in a court hearing, focus of attention from coast to coast, involving the power of the government. Lean of frame, and quietly dressed in a blue suit, he stood before a desk littered with papers, including six affidavits from government employes supporting the government's contention that Ward's is a war plant. Biddle scarcely moved as he talked.

Chicago Lawyer Speaks for Firm.

Biddle's opponent was Harold A. Smith, suave, dapper, middle aged, and slightly graying member of one of the city's most prominent law firms. Smith spoke in a resonant voice, emphasizing his points with a pointed index finger.

The two lawyers waged their battle in the second floor courtroom of Judge Holly, ruddy faced, white haired, and well past three score years and 10. When the hearing opened, the courtroom was jammed; the crowd thinned out in the afternoon. It is Holly who will rule on whether the government is entitled to court protection in its seizure of Montgomery Ward & Co.'s Chicago properties by executive order.

Claims "Reserve of Power."

The substance of Biddle's argument was that the war labor disputes act entitled the President to seize a mercantile establishment because it does not expressly forbid such seizure; but that even if the act did so forbid, the President, as commander in chief of the army and navy, had sufficient "constitutional reserve of power" to make the seizure anyway.

Biddle argued that congress intended the act to deal with "every process of manufacturing and distribution of any article for the war effort," altho it mentions only plants, mines, or facilities equipped to manufacture, produce, or mine materials required for, or useful to, the war effort.

Smith, answering Biddle, argued that Montgomery Ward & Co.'s Chicago properties do not fall within the definition of industries permitted to be seized under the act; that the President, in issuing his executive order, neglected to proclaim that they are such plants, as required by the act; that the seizure is not authorized by the Constitution, and is in violation of the 4th amendment, relating to unreasonable search and seizure, and the 5th, or "due process" amendment.

Cites Power of Agents.

"If they [the government agents] can grab our Chicago plants, which do not manufacture anything, even for the war effort, then they can grab a little general store on Main st. in Marshfield, Wis.," Smith told the court.

"I have listened in vain for any reference by my distinguished opponent to the Bill of Rights or the rights of the people.

"My distinguished opponent is a representative of the people as well as of the President. He has said there must be some power some place for the President to take over this plant, but he has failed to point it out.

National Fear Cited.

"Spontaneous fear rose up in the country after this seizure. Why? Because never has anything like this happened since the days of King John. Shades of King John! Are we at Runnymede again?

"My distinguished opponent has discussed the President's rights, but he has said nothing about civil rights.

"The people of this country are shuddering and shivering as a result of what happened in Chicago. It is not surprising that the President has sent my distinguished opponent here to justify it.

"After Pearl Harbor, did any one dispute the President's power to resort to a curfew law on the west coast? No. Could any one dispute the right of the President to handle the Nazi saboteurs who came here with dynamite to blast our war plants? Of course not.

"But he sent his legal staff here, headed by its chief, to justify his action in seizing a retail store. I hope this government is big enough to protect even these people in their constitutional rights. This is one of the most important cases to be decided in this century."

Analyzes Executive Powers.

"By no possible construction can the war labor disputes act intend to cover property aligned with war plants," Smith continued.

"The statute is so clear that it requires no argument. The government's complaint clouded the issue here by stating that Ward's operates plants in various other cities. They are not in Chicago. They are not included in the seizure order and there is nothing to show their operation is dependent upon or harmed by any trouble here in Chicago.

"The act is meant to hold only to property itself and not to the owner. Section 3 is a special grant of power to the President to continue the uninterrupted production of war material. Every seizure prior to the passage of this act was of the type of plant designated by the act itself, war plants engaged in manufacturing materials directly connected with the war.

"The President has full authority under section 3, irrespective of a labor dispute, to seize any plant in which there is trouble and which plant directly affects the war effort."

Court Decision Cited.

Smith cited a decision of the District of Columbia District court holding that the WLB could go into court and ask a mandatory injunction in any case where its orders were disobeyed.

"Congress intended this seizure power, unprecedented in this country, to be limited to plants equipped for the war effort," Smith asserted.

"If this court has jurisdiction at this time, which it has, then it had jurisdiction before the seizure.

"They have put up a lot of hypothetical fears here that disturbances arising out of trouble in Chicago will spread to other plants. If that has happened or will happen, this act specifically takes care of it. Don't let these hypothetical fears disturb you."

When the hearing recessed at 4:30 p. m. until this morning, Judge Holly observed that, because he must rule simultaneously on the government's plea for a permanent injunction and the company's motion for dissolution of the temporary injunction, he would be unable to give his decision at 2 p. m. today as he had previously planned.

Calls Defense "Foolish."

Biddle had contended that congress, writing the war labor disputes act, had intended "to deal with every process of manufacturing and distribution of any article for the war effort."

"It seems clear that the defendant's construction of the act would lead to unusual conclusions," Biddle said.

"It would seem, from their stand, that you must take the whole show or nothing; that the President can take only plants engaged in the war effort; altho we could seize the Hummer plant [in Springfield], we can't seize Ward's Chicago plants. This is a very foolish construction of the law.

"The defendant argues that the executive order is not valid because it fails to find and proclaim these Chicago plants are war plants. It is not necessary for the President to do that. Whenever the President finds and proclaims there is an interruption in the operation of such a plant, it is obvious that his proclamation does not require such a finding. The executive, by reason of his power as commander in chief of the army and navy, should be given the benefit of the doubt whenever the word even implies what is meant.

Court Warned by Biddle.

"The Constitution imposes on the chief executive the duty to see that the laws are faithfully executed. It is unthinkable that the President should lack these responsibilities. He carried them on before the war and congress later enacted legislation giving him that power beyond a doubt.

"The court should hesitate, in the light of the proclamations of the last year and a half, to do anything that would divert from the President's power.

"The act clearly indicates that the President's power extends not only to those industries designated by the words 'plant, mine, or facility equipped for the manufacture, production, or mining of any articles or materials which may be required for the war effort or which may be useful in connection therewith,' but to other facilities directly or indirectly connected. The act does not seek to limit the powers of the President, but on the other hand there is evidence that such limitation was not intended."

FBI Agent Takes Notes.

Opening of the morning session found the courtroom jammed, and Judge Holly ordered deputy marshals to clear the room of all persons not seated. Biddle then filed a group of six affidavits from government employes dealing with various phases of the government's contentions, and Smith filed an amended answer on behalf of Montgomery Ward & Co.

An agent of the federal bureau of investigation took notes of the proceedings thruout the morning.

Affidavits filed by Biddle included one from William H. Davis, chairman of the WLB, stating it to be his opinion that, if the Ward labor dispute in Chicago were not settled, it would spread to the company's plants in other parts of the country.

An affidavit from Marvin Jones, war food administrator, admitted that Jones had no statistics on how much farm machinery Ward manufactures or distributes, but said that any reduction in the flow of such material would impede food production.

Priorities Sought by Firm.

Mrs. Daphne Scarborough, supervisor of the status and files subunit of the case operations unit in the distribution section of the wholesale and retail trade division of the war production board, swore that Ward had filed some 30,000 applications for priority assistance. This was corroborated with an affidavit from Bluma Goldman, an employe of the subunit.

An affidavit from Clifton E. Mack, director of the treasury department's procurement division, said Ward's received contracts totaling $181,556.03 for agricultural equipment and spare parts shipped to Britain under lend-lease, and a contract for $1,051,126.93 for shoes for distribution in liberated areas, also under lend-lease.

An affidavit from G. Lyle Belsley, executive secretary of the WPB, said he kept the records of applications for preference ratings. Photostatic copies of 12 such applications made by Montgomery Ward & Co. were attached.

When Biddle began reading from a brief, Smith objected both to the attorney general's argument and the affidavits, on the ground that Biddle was not going into the issues of the case.

Presidential Power the Issue.

"The main issue here," said Smith, "is whether the President can take over a private establishment of this type."

"Yes, I understand the issue here," said Judge Holly.

Biddle told the court that the essence of his case is that the possession the government already has of the plant should be protected.

"The government does not need and did not need a court order to take possession," he said.

"The basis of the action is the President's right to take over a plant without reference to the type of goods it handles, or the narrow construction of the law, but on the basis of the history of executive orders, which are all based on the present emergency.

Firm's Answer Challenged.

"We will show clearly that under the act it appears that the word 'production' was meant to cover all processes of the economic cycle and that, irrespective of the powers given in the act, the President, as commander in chief of the army and navy, has the power and the responsibility, irrespective of any statutes, and can act in such an emergency."

Biddle took exception to paragraph 5 of the company's answer, which denies that Montgomery Ward & Co. is engaged in the "manufacture, production or mining" of war essential materials within the meanings of the act:

"We think they are engaged in war work and the kind of work they are doing is the kind covered by section 3 of the amendment to the selective service act, known as the war labor disputes act.

Basis of Federal Case.

[This section provides that the President's power to take possession of a plant found in violation of the act's provisions "shall also apply—to any plant, mine, or facility equipped for the manufacture, production or mining of any articles or materials which may be required for the war effort or which may be useful in connection therewith—whenever the President finds, after investigation, and proclaims that there is an interruption of the operation of such plant, mine or facility as a result of a strike or other labor disturbance, that the war effort will be unduly impeded or delayed by such interruption. . . .]

"The size of a corporation has much to do with the President's power," Biddle went on. "Last year this corporation's sales had a value of $600,000,000. The items they sell are not only necessary for the war effort, but for the civilian economy during war time. Labor strife there has an effect on the war effort."

War Production Cited.

He then asserted that the company's Hummer Manufacturing company plant in Springfield was making war implements, and that the company had other plants making farm machinery.

He then traced the history of the labor dispute between the local union and the company. The union was first given a contract on Dec. 7, 1942, after the company had refused to sign the contract because it contained a maintenance of membership clause. The company defied a directive of the war labor board ordering it to sign, stating that it would sign the contract only if ordered to do so by the President. The WLB asked the President for aid, and the President directed the company to sign.

Company Signs Under Order.

The company then signed the contract, despite the fact that it was not permitted to insert a clause to show that it was signed under duress.

When the contract expired, the company declined to extend or renew it unless a new election were held to show that the union still represented a majority of employes. The WLB ordered the company to extend the contract pending an election, and the company refused, contending the board lacked authority to issue such an order. The board appealed to the President, who seized the company's Chicago plant.

"After the machinery of the WLB is flouted by either employes or employers," Biddle said, "the President must support the order of the board. As a result, he issued an executive order for the plant's seizure.

Company Blamed for Dispute.

"His order found the labor dispute caused by Ward's failure to abide by an order of the board.

"The defendants cannot deny that they are engaged in activities essential to the war effort. They cannot deny that their actions brought on a labor dispute. They cannot deny that this labor dispute has spread to other places, and that it would have an effect on labor in general."

While yesterday's court hearing was in progress, George M. Moore, an investigator sent here by Sen. McCarran [D., Nev.], chairman of the senate judiciary committee, was conducting an independent inquiry into the seizure.

"I am here merely to get the facts, and that I shall do," he said.

Moore was sent to Chicago under authority of a resolution authorizing the committee to inquire into the legality of all Presidential executive orders. He said he expected his inquiry to last several days, after which he will return to Washington to report his findings.

Principals in Ward's Hearing

U. S. AID HEARS GRIEVANCES OF CIO WARD UNION

While the government seizure of Montgomery Ward & Co. was being contested in federal District court yesterday, a special assistant to the secretary of commerce opened discussions with a grievance committee from the CIO United Mail Order, Warehouse, and Retail Employes' union.

John D. Goodloe, delegated by Wayne C. Taylor, operating the business for the government, conferred in a room in the mail order building at 618 Chicago av. with a union representation that included Leonard Levy, international vice president; Norman Twist, international representative, and Henry B. Anderson, president of local 20.

Levy said "hundreds" of grievances would be submitted to Goodloe for settlement. Today he will submit a list of individuals he said have been discharged by Montgomery Ward because of union activity. The private owners of the business are not represented at the grievance hearings.

HOUSE REVOLT FORCES ACTION ON WARD PROBE

Drift to Absolutism

Cincinnati, O., May 1 (AP).—Gov. Bricker tonight termed government seizure of the Montgomery Ward store in Chicago and the forcible ejection of the company's head by soldiers "an ominous warning of our tragic drift toward absolutism."

"If you want a convincing example of where burocracy inevitably leads, you need only recall what happened at the Montgomery Ward store in Chicago last week," the Republican presidential candidate said in a speech before the American Mining congress in convention here.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 1.—Faced with a congressional revolt against their stalling tactics, house administration leaders today abandoned an attempt to sidetrack the Dewey resolution calling for a special investigation into the President's seizure of Montgomery Ward & Co.

Rep. Sabath [D., Ill.], New Deal wheel horse and chairman of the powerful rules committee, announced he will report the measure to the house tomorrow, and said it is "probable it will come to a vote Friday." Overwhelming passage of the resolution, which would create a seven man committee to conduct the inquiry, was predicted by both Democratic and Republican members.

Sabath, who made an unsuccessful fight to block the measure in his committee last Friday and then announced he would delay calling it up for a vote the full 10 legislative days permitted under the rules, retreated today in the face of a rebellion led by members of his own party.

Sabath's Hand Forced.

Representatives Cox [D., Ga.] and Smith [D., Va.], both members of the rules group, early today began circulating a petition among committee members calling for a committee meeting tomorrow to force an immediate report to the house on the measure, authored by Rep. Dewey [R., Ill.].

Sabath thereupon hastily conferred with Cox, and then with Speaker Rayburn [D., Tex.], and announced the change in strategy. It was understood the New Deal reversal of tactics was dictated by fears that further attempts to stifle the inquiry would backfire politically against administration congressmen and the President's four term ambitions.

Meanwhile, Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.] offered an amendment to the war labor disputes act which would specifically forbid the government from seizing any business concern unless and until the federal District court finds at least 50 per cent of the materials produced or handled by the company is war goods.

Sees Dictatorship.

The proposed change, Hoffman said, would directly ban future government seizures of nonwar plants, as in the case of Ward's.

The congressman said in a statement that the "absurdity" of the government's action was evident from Atty. Gen. Biddle's refusal to seek court authority to seize Ward's before the army took possession of the company.

"Are the administrative agencies so drunk with power that they must flaunt the exercise of it in the face of citizens who support and pay them?

"The seizure of the Ward plant by the armed forces of the nation discloses to the public what many members of congress have long known; That is, that we have here a dictatorship by administrative agencies.

Senate Group Called.

"Long ago congress should, by direct enactment, have rebuked administrative agencies for the exercise of unauthorized, arbitrary power which denies to civilians their constitutional rights."

In the senate, meanwhile, Sen. McCarran [D., Nev.] called a meeting for tomorrow morning of a judiciary subcommittee which is already probing the legality of the Ward seizure. The senator said the special investigator, who is now in Chicago conducting an inquiry into the action for the group, will return to the capital Wednesday with a report.

McCarran said he will support a pending resolution by Sen. Byrd [D., Va.] which would put the senate body on record in favor of investigating the action against Ward's. This measure, he added, will probably be taken up on the floor tomorrow.

Altho the senate was not in session today and the house adjourned after six minutes so members could attend the funeral of the late Navy Secretary Knox, the Ward case continued to consume the attention of many members in both houses.

Gets Hundreds of Letters.

Dewey said he has received hundreds of letters from citizens of virtually every state denouncing the seizure and supporting his demand for an investigation. Many of the letters are from Democrats.

Rep. Fish [R., N. Y.], ranking minority member of the rules committee, predicted in a statement the house will pass the Dewey resolution "by a vote of four to one." The grabbing of Ward's, he said, "resembles the high handed, autocratic political tactics of Hitler and Mussolini on their advent to power."

Sen. Weeks [R., Mass.] issued a statement calling the move against Ward's "not only unjustifiable but outrageous." He said congress never intended to "authorize any one to take over a private business not engaged in war work."

WARD-CIO HEARING ENDED; NLRB VOTE DECISION AWAITED

Examiner Samuel H. Jaffee, of the national labor relations board, yesterday concluded a hearing into the labor dispute between Montgomery Ward & Co. and local 20, United Mail Order, Warehouse & Retail Employes International union, CIO. He will take his report to Washington, and a ruling by the NLRB there may come within a week.

The hearing dealt with a proposed election on or before June 7 to determine whether the union shall be sole bargaining agent for Ward employes. Most of the points in the dispute were settled by stipulation, with only one major issue left to be settled by NLRB.

This deals with the question of unit vote. The union wants Ward employes to vote as one unit, with a majority decision applying to all employes. The company wants the employes divided into office, warehouse, store and mail order divisions, with each division deciding for itself whether it wants union representation. Testimony by Ward's yesterday sought to show that each division was separate in work, hours, and pay.

BOY HURT BY PLAYMATE.

Alfred Hambien, 5, was cut on the head yesterday by a stone hurled by a playmate in front of his home at 945 Cleveland av.

SIDNEY HILLMAN CALLED BY DIES IN QUIZ OVER CIO

Washington, D. C., May 1 [Special].—Sidney Hillman of the CIO political action committee has been served with a subpena requiring him to produce financial records of the organization for scutiny by the Dies committee, Robert E. Stripling, a Dies committee investigator, said tonight.

Stripling said May 8 has been set for Hillman's appearance before the house committee to investigate un-American activities, headed by Rep. Dies [D., Tex.].

TYDINGS WINS EASY VICTORY IN MARYLAND POLL

Uninstructed G. O. P. Slate Is Far in Lead.

Baltimore, Md., May 1 [Special].—Sen. Tydings [D., Md.], long one of the outstanding foes of the New Deal in the senate and target of an unsuccessful purge effort by President Roosevelt in 1938, easily won renomination in today's primary.

Returns from 1,169 of 1,328 polling places in the state gave Tydings 72,490 votes as against 15,495 for his closest opponent, Willis R. Jones of Baltimore, who had campaigned on an all-out platform of a fourth term for President Roosevelt.

Tyding's frequent criticisms of the national administration were a direct issue in the campaign waged against him by Jones. A member of the senate for the last 17 years, Tydings opposed the President on the Supreme court packing proposal. In 1938 Mr. Roosevelt personally campaigned in Maryland against him.

Pick Unpledged Slate.

Republican voters gave a 5 to 1 majority for a slate of uninstructed delegates to the national convention over a slate of delegates pledged to Wendell Willkie, whose withdrawal from the Presidential race came too late to permit their removal from the ballots.

The race for the Republican senatorial nomination was close between Paul Robertson, chairman of the Baltimore city Republican committee, and Blanchard Randall Jr., Baltimore banker who ran with the backing of State Republican Chairman Galen L. Tait.

Randall Slightly Ahead.

Randall led Robertson, 9,384 votes to 7,112, on returns from 936 polling places. A third candidate, Rives Matthews, weekly newspaper editor, whose expose of a high Democratic politician's 1,500 mile automobile jaunt on rationed gasoline brought an unsuccessful attempt to prosecute him for criminal libel, trailed with 2,776 votes.

Returns indicated two Republican members of congress and 3 of 4 Democratic members had won renomination. In the 1st district however, Rep. Ward [D., Md.] was running second to Dudley G. Roe, former state senator.

John W. Benson, 28, purser on a merchant marine ship, won the Republican nomination for congress in the 3d district, defeating G. Frank Young, Baltimore restaurant owner, 978 votes to 526. Benson filed for the office while on a 12 hour leave from his ship and conducted his campaign by V-mail.

M'ARTHUR CLUBS END CAMPAIGN; VOTE TO DISBAND

Immediate dissolution of the National Association of MacArthur for President clubs and of the Illinois branch was voted yesterday at a meeting of directors and officers in headquarters at 11 S. La Salle st. Action was in response to Gen. MacArthur's statement Saturday that he would not accept the Republican nomination for President if tendered to him.

"While many people thruout the country urged continuation of these organizations, the movement was founded by the principle that they work solely in behalf of drafting Gen. MacArthur for President," said Joseph P. Savage, chairman of the association and of the Illinois club. "We said we would have no affiliations with, nor interest in, any other candidate.

"On this premise the MacArthur clubs were organized thruout America. It was the unanimous opinion of those present that these organizations should be discontinued and the individual members thereof be left free to support the candidate of their choice."

Judge La Buy Becomes U. S. Judge

600 Attend

Judge Walter J. La Buy, formerly of the Circuit court and long prominent in county judicial circles, was inducted as a member of the United States district bench yesterday in ceremonies on the sixth floor of the United States courthouse.

The induction, presided over by Judge John P. Barnes, senior federal jurist of this district, was attended by more than 600 friends and representatives of federal, municipal and county courts, bar associations and political offices. The oath of office was administered in the flower banked courtroom which Judge La Buy will occupy by Roy H. Johnson, clerk of the District court.

Speakers included Chief Justice Frank H. Bicek of the Cook County Circuit court, Evan A. Evans, senior jurist of the federal Circuit Court of Appeals, and District Judge William H. Holly, whose retirement next July 1 creates the vacancy which Judge La Buy will fill.

The new federal judge was born in 1889 on a farm near Beaver Dam, Wis. A Democrat, he is the author of numerous judiciary reforms. He lives with his wife at 1242 Lake Shore drive. They have two daughters.

WEIGH SPECIAL ELECTION FOR 5 COURT SEATS

Advisers Hope Green Will Alter Stand.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Existence of five bench vacancies yesterday raised the possibility of a special election for these places on Circuit and Superior courts of Cook county concurrent with the Nov. 7 Presidential election.

Judge Walter J. La Buy of the Circuit court yesterday was elevated to the United States District bench. Judge George Fred Rush of the Circuit court died Sunday. Previous deaths, all in Superior court, were those of Judges James F. Fardy, William H. McSurely, and Oscar F. Nelson. Three were Republicans elected on Democratic coalition slates.

Special Election Up to Governor.

Gov. Green has the power to call a special election. It would have to be done by Aug. 1 because under election statutes amended to facilitate soldier voting the call for county party conventions to nominate candidates would have to be issued by Aug. 3.

When there were three vacancies in March the governor decided not to call such an election. However, yesterday some of his advisers believed the additional vacancies might cause him to change his mind. The judgeships pay $15,000 a year.

Coalition May Be Considered.

There is a chance that Republican leaders might sanction a return to coalition judicial slates, tho the Chicago Bar association opposes such practice.

If there is not to be coalition, most G. O. P. leaders believe that the 1944 Presidential election would offer them a better opportunity than 1945 of winning a few judgeships. Even if the G. O. P. carries its county ticket this fall, the Democratic machine would remain supreme in an off-year test, they said.

Seven Downstate Judges Here.

The courts are making up calendars for the fall on the basis of the present number of judges; but seven downstate judges are employed in Cook county courts on a per diem system of payment.

There are 48 judgeships on the Circuit-Superior benches of Cook county. Recent efforts failed to enact legislation to give the county more nearly its rightful number of judges according to population: about 75.

Among Republicans mentioned for the bench are Elmer J. Schnackenberg, speaker of the Illinois house; John F. Tyrrell, counsel for the party's state central committee; Werner W. Schroeder, national committeeman; George Fisher, secretary of the G. O. P. county committee, and Edgar A. Jonas, who was appointed by Gov. Green to fill a vacancy in 1941.

BRICKER FLAYS NEW DEAL IDEAS ABOUT JAPANESE

Columbus, O., May 1 (AP).—Gov. Bricker of Ohio asserted today the New Deal does not "understand the Japanese now any more than in pre-Pearl Harbor days.

He replied to a statement by Interior Secretary Ickes Thursday accusing Bricker of "racial discrimination" on the question of resettlement of Japanese-Americans.

"Mr. Ickes," Bricker said in a statement, "cannot by his personal abuse divert attention of the country from the poor handling of the Japanese situation before Pearl Harbor and handling the Japanese situation since that time. He evidently does not appreciate we are at war with Japan and he expresses the typical New Deal philosophy that the local communities and the state should be ridden down regardless of their opinions by a burocratic Washington."

New Deal Faces Test Today in Florida, Alabama Primaries

Pepper in Fight

Jacksonville, Fla., May 1 (AP).—Ultra-New Dealer Claude Pepper comes up for renomination or defeat as Florida's junior United States senator tomorrow in a primary. Politicians will watch for any possible indication as to the scope of fourth term sentiment or otherwise in the Democratic south.

The outcome, however, could prove little if anything. Local issues and personalities are involved along with the contentions among Pepper and four opponents over the New Deal. A Pepper defeat thus would attract much more attention nationally than a victory.

Sharing top interest will be the election of 18 delegates to the Democratic national convention. Of 49 delegate candidates, 27 favor President Roosevelt; a full slate of 18 is running pledged to Sen. Byrd of Virginia.

Congress Seats at Stake.

In all, Florida Democrats will nominate candidates for one United States senate seat, five congressional places, the 18 Democratic national convention delegates and for governor and other state and local officers. Nomination on the Democratic ticket is tantamount to election.

Sen. Pepper has been saying, in a dozen speeches a day, that the world will be watching the result. He has pleaded for an overwhelming majority as a vote of confidence in Roosevelt war policies and moves abroad.

While not publicly assailing President Roosevelt personally, Pepper's opponents have joined in a denunciation of many New Deal policies.

Ward Seizure Cited.

Said Judge J. Ollie Edmunds of Jacksonville, most frequently termed Pepper's ranking opponent:

"The war will not end one day sooner nor last one day longer no matter what the result of the election in Florida."

The other senatorial aspirants are Alston Cockrell, Jacksonville; Finlay Moore, Lake City, and Millard B. Conklin of Daytona Beach.

Conklin, an attorney, cited the Montgomery Ward case at Chicago as "an example of what the government is doing for business."

To win tomorrow, Pepper must obtain more than 50 per cent of the total vote cast among himself and the four other senate aspirants. If no candidate receives more than 50 per cent, the two receiving the highest total will be in a run-off primary, May 23. Few expect Pepper to fail to get at least enough to take him into a run-off.

Eyes on Alabama

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP)—Politicians of both parties today displayed keen interest in the balloting tomorrow in Alabama and South Dakota. They felt the outcome might have a bearing on the Democratic national convention this summer, and the general election in November.

Lister Hill [top] and James A. Simpson.

Tomorrow's balloting in Alabama is considered a real test for the administration. The Democratic party whip in the senate, Lister Hill of Alabama, is opposed for reelection by James A. Simpson, Birmingham attorney, on a clearcut New Deal issue. Simpson campaigned on an appeal to Alabama to defeat the Roosevelt senator and "bring the government back to the people."

In South Dakota Sen. Gurney, a Republican, was the only member of that state's congressional delegation to draw primary opposition. He was forced into a race with the state's lieutenant governor, A. C. Miller of Kennebec.

Plenty of Politics.

Despite the overshadowing senate races, there is plenty of Presidential politics mixed into the voting. Directly or indirectly, delegates to one or both of the national party conventions in Chicago are being selected.

Two unpledged Republican delegate slates—one inclined to support Gov. Dewey of New York and the other apparently favoring Lt. Comdr. Harold E. Stassen—vie for South Dakota's 11 seats at the national convention. There are two complete slates for the eight Democratic delegates, both of them inferentially supporting a fourth term altho the winning group will go to the convention nominally uninstructed.

Primary in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 1 [Special].—Indiana will hold a state-wide primary tomorrow, voting for nominations for county offices, for 12 members of the United States house of representatives, and delegates to the party state conventions in June. Because repeated rains, which continued thruout the state tonight, have made plowing unusually late and also because of general apathy, the vote is expected to be very light.

ELEVATOR SHAFT FALL FATAL.

A FIGHTER AT 90, COXEY MARCHES ON CAPITOL ANEW

Attacks Fiscal System in Speech on Steps.

BY PHILIP DODD.

Washington, D. C., May 1.—Jacob S. Coxey today celebrated the 50th anniversary of his march on Washington by attacking the nation's fiscal system in a speech delivered from the steps of the capitol and by having lunch with his congressman.

On May day, 1894, when Coxey led his ragged army of unemployed to the capitol grounds, police prevented him from speaking. His cohorts were herded back to their camp on the city's outskirts, and Coxey followed them. His lunch that day was stew, cooked in the open and shared with his followers.

His Vigor's Unchanged.

But oldtimers who joined the crowd of 200 reporters, photographers, newsreel men, and curious capitol visitors today agreed there was little change in the 90 year old political veteran's vigor with which he castigated private banking and called for "untaxed money."

Coxey asserted paper money printed by the government should be deposited in the treasury for the payment of all government debts.

"The people would carry the non-interest bearing debt in their pockets and all interest on their money would be abolished," he said. "Don't put the money in the federal reserve banks. To get it back, the government has to sell bonds to the banks and pay interest on the bonds. That is taxing the people's money and should be stopped."

Proposes World Currency.

He proposed a system of international currency. As he outlined the scheme, paper money would be printed, stamped by the United States on one side and on the other side by a foreign nation to which this country had made loans.

Coxey said depressions come in cycles of 7 to 10 years because private bankers have to call credit loans whenever the total of such loans too greatly exceeds money in circulation.

"I warned President Roosevelt about this in 1932," Coxey declared. "To make my point clear, listen to this little jingle:

Rags make paper,
Paper makes money,
Money makes banks,
Banks make loans,
Loans make poverty,
Poverty makes rags.

"In other words, rags to rags, every 7 to 10 years."

Coxey, who wore an old fashioned stand-up "statesman's" collar with a black string tie and a faded blue suit, was in the capital for the 36th annual convention of the Hoboes of America, of which he is president.

Fifty years ago Coxey led 1,000 men from Massillon to Washington to petition congress to provide money without interest to local communities for public works to provide jobs for unemployed. He was not permitted to present his petition.

DEMOCRATS PICK J. H. LEE FOR RACE IN MICHIGAN

Lansing, Mich., May 1 [Special].—Members of the Democratic board of strategy who decided last week to back Ernest C. Brooks, Holland, the party's state central committee chairman, for the governor nomination, announced today they had drafted James H. Lee, Detroit, to make the race for lieutenant governor.

Lee, long a member of the Detroit corporation counsel's staff, was described as a "Bryan Democrat."

Brooks has competition, not regarded as serious, from William J. Cody, Detroit, a Wayne county Circuit court commissioner.

There were growing indications that the present Republican lieutenant governor, Eugene C. Keyes of Dearborn, will face a primary contest as petitions were printed in behalf of State Sen. James T. Milliken of Traverse City.

Canada Asks Dim-Out of St. Lawrence Lights

OTTAWA, Ont., May 1.—With the navigation season opening on the St. Lawrence, A. L. MacDonald, minister for naval affairs, has asked for a dimout of all lights that shine on the waters of the river. The area will include a strip five miles deep along the north shore of the river and gulf beginning at the Saguenay river and extending to the boundary of Labrador.

How Chicago Tax Rate Has Risen

Continued rise in Chicago tax rate since 1937 is shown by ascending line, which passed the $10.50 mark for this year, with County Clerk Flynn's announcement yesterday of $3.90 rate. Asterisk denotes how new $3.90 rate is translated into rate formerly applied against 37 per cent valuation.

EASTERN GROUP ASKS TO TEACH CITY TOLERANCE

Would Sponsor Race Study in Schools.

BY JOSEPH GREEN.

The Chicago board of education will be asked at its next meeting May 10 to determine whether a race relations course shall be offered in Chicago schools under auspices of the Bureau of Intercultural Education, New York.

Stewart G. Cole, executive secretary of the bureau, tried for nearly two hours in a meeting with Supt. Johnson and others yesterday afternoon to sell Johnson the idea. Johnson gave him no encouragement, declaring Chicago school teaching shall be done by teachers responsible to the superintendent and the board of education, not to outsiders.

Agrees to Submit Plan.

Johnson agreed finally to present outlines of Cole's course to the board. Johnson said he was not empowered to hire outside teachers.

The Bureau of Intercultural Education was reported to have been organized about six years ago, sponsored and financed by persons and organizations interested in racial and religious tolerance.

On March 23 it was announced in New York that the bureau would expand to national scale. Formerly it had operated only in the New York area. The National Education association, the American Council of Education, and similar bodies were reported coöperating with it.

Yesterday's meeting in Johnson's office was scheduled to launch a race relations teaching program envisioned by Johnson. The superintendent outlined his ideas as the meeting opened, stressing that human or race relations should be taught in connection with regular courses, rather than as a separate subject.

Cole Differs with Johnson.

Cole was given a hearing then, along with James M. Yard, head of the Chicago Round Table of Christians and Jews. Cole's idea was the opposite of Johnson's. The meeting got back to its original purpose, and Johnson said afterward that he would go no farther with his program until the board acts on the Cole matter.

Yard was invited to the meeting because of his interest in tolerance. Cole also was expected to be able to help the committee's deliberations because of his interests. Mrs. L. Robert Mellin and Mrs. Walter F. Heineman, school board members at the meeting, expressed agreement with Johnson.

LYONS' PRIMARY VOTE EXCEEDS THAT OF LUCAS

Party Totals Given in Official Canvass.

Springfield, Ill., May 1 [Special].—Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator, in defeating two opponents in the April 11 primary, personally received more votes than his unopposed Democratic rival, Sen. Lucas, the official state canvass showed yesterday.

Lyons got 536,030 votes for better than a 6 to 1 victory over the internationalist contender, Deneen A. Watson, who got 85,004, with the aid of a pretentious radio campaign and the New Deal metropolitan newspapers. The third G. O. P. aspirant, William J. Baker got 57,330, without campaigning at all. Lucas got 532,358 votes.

Gov. Green was high man on either state ticket, getting 621,286 votes to 99,381 for Oscar E. Carlstrom for the G. O. P. gubernatorial nomination. Arnold R. Benson received 401,040 to win the Republican nomination for secretary of state against State Treasurer William G. Stratton, whose total was 302,539. Rep. Stephen A. Day got 445,240 to 201,270 for Col. Edward Davis in the G. O. P. congress at large race.

State's Atty. Thomas J. Courtney of Cook county had 531,134 votes as unopposed Democratic choice for governor.

A total of 1,428,685 votes were cast, 793,198 Republican and 635,487 Democratic.

Gen. MacArthur's official vote in the G. O. P. Presidential preference test was 550,354. Gov. Dewey of New York had 9,192 write-in votes; Rep. Everett Dirksen of Pekin, 581; Gov. Bricker of Ohio, 148; Stassen of Minnesota, 111, and Wendell Willkie, 107.

JUDGE UPHOLDS BUDD'S RIGHT TO CRITICIZE UNION

Philadelphia, Pa., May 1 [Special].—The right of employers to express personal views on labor unions to employes was upheld today by Judge Charles Alvin Jones of the 3rd Circuit court of appeals. He said that "to stop a man from expressing himself would be a denial of the right of free speech."

Jones expressed his opinions during argument before the court on a rule issued March 3 on Edward G. Budd, president of the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company, to show cause why Budd and the company should not be held in contempt for alleged violation of a decree of the court enforcing an order of the national labor relations board.

The NLRB had instructed the company to post notices of the NLRB order which directed the company to cease dominating an independent union, the Employes Representation association, and to state that the 15,000 workers were free to join any union of their choice.

Complain Against Letter.

The labor board's ruling stemmed from a complaint filed by the United Auto Workers [CIO], against the company. The order was sustained by the 3rd Circuit court and the Supreme court.

The company complied with the order to post the notices and at the same time circulated a letter from Budd. The NLRB immediately sought the show-cause rule, charging the letter violated the board order by interfering with the rights of the employes to choose their own bargaining agent.

A. Norman Somers, counsel for the NLRB, told the court today that Budd's letter expressed the executive's views about "outside unions" in such an "indirect, adroit way" as to "belittle the court's decision, undermine its effect, and whittle away the assurance given the employes" that their rights would be fully protected.

No Threats or Promises.

Somers acknowledged that no threats or promises were made by Budd and that he had assured the workers that they would be treated alike, regardless of the union they joined, but he contended that by reminding the workers of what had been accomplished by the independent group Budd had created the impression that no other union was desirable and thereby had "cast aspersions" on the CIO.

Judge Jones asked:

"Where is the prohibition against a man saying he does not like a labor organization?"

"The court's injunction certainly does not prohibit him from writing a letter in the future," the jurist continued.

SUMMIT YANK, FIRST TO LAND AT ANZIO, MISSING

Pvt. Walter P. Krzysztofiak, 30 years old, Summit soldier who was the first Yank to land on the Anzio beachhead in Italy, has been reported missing in action, the war department yesterday notified relatives in the south Cook county suburb. When lost he was accompanying the captain of his company on a mission. The officer also has been reported missing.

Pvt. Krzysztofiak, a middleweight boxer who had appeared in C. Y. O. tournaments, enlisted two years ago when he quit a job in the Corn Products Refining company.

U. S. AIR HERO FLIES HOME IN EFFORT TO SAVE MOTHER'S LIFE

U. B. BOMBER BASE IN BRITAIN, May 1 (AP).—Staff Sgt. Everett L. Dodd, Walnut Ridge, Ark., a Flying Fortress tail gunner, rode out his 25th mission in the April 24 attack on Friedrichshafen. A few hours later he started on his 26th—the most important of all to him.

It was a flight home in an effort to save the life of his mother, Mrs. Mary Pauline Dodd, critically ill in a hospital in Poplar Bluff, Mo. The sergeant had a letter from his father, saying his mother was undergoing a serious operation.

Air service command officers, convinced that the mother's life might be saved if Dodd returned home, arranged the trip by air. Dodd wears the DFC and air medal with three clusters. He has been over Berlin twice.

GERMANS REPORT KILLING 11,224 TROOPS OF TITO

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—A German dispatch said tonight that 11,224 Partisan troops were killed in fighting during April in Yugoslavia and that additional thousands were wounded or captured. The report was broadcast by the German news agency DNB, which said it did not include "the high number of casualties sustained" by the Partisans on the Dalmatian coast and on the Croat-Serbian border.

A bulletin from the Partisan forces of Marshal Tito said the Germans had launched new offensives along the entire Yugoslav front and generally were being held in check.

The Partisans told of the capture of 160 Bulgarian prisoners in fighting on the Macedonian front, where the Germans were said to be attacking. In fighting 40 miles inland from the Adriatic port of Split the Partisans said they repulsed the Germans with heavy losses.

498 TROOPS DIE AS ENEMY SINKS AMERICAN SHIP

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—The loss of 498 men in the recent sinking of an American ship by enemy action in the Mediterranean was announced today by the army. This was the third large loss of life in transport sinkings.

Whether the ship was attacked by enemy submarine or planes was not disclosed in the announcement, which did not mention survivors or give the date of the sinking.

"The vessel sank swiftly and 498 military personnel are missing," the army said. "The next of kin of the personnel have been notified."

Earlier Sinkings Recalled.

Less than three months ago the army announced the loss of 1,000 men on an allied ship sunk by enemy action in European waters on an undisclosed date. On that occasion approximately an equal number of soldiers was rescued.

The first major transport disaster of the war was the loss of about 850 army, navy, and marine corps officers and men early in February, 1943, when an enemy submarine sank two passenger laden cargo ships in a North Atlantic convoy.

In other transport sinkings loss of life has been small. The President Coolidge had more than 4,500 men aboard when she was sunk in the South Pacific in October, 1942, but only five lost their lives. The army suffered no casualties when several transports were lost in the North African invasion a month later.

Other Sinkings.

Other sinkings announced by the army included the steamship Cynthia Olsen, under army charter as a freight transport, on Dec. 7, 1941, with 33 civilian crew members and two soldiers, and the army transport Royal T. Frank, sunk by an enemy submarine in Hawaiian waters Jan. 28, 1942, with 29 missing.

In addition the army lost 31 officers and 12 enlisted men early in the war when the navy's aircraft tender Langley was sunk, and 43 enlisted men aboard miscellaneous merchant vessels.

German Claims for April.

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—The German high command today said 23 allied merchant ships and transports totaling 153,820 tons, and 27 destroyers and escort vessels were sunk by German action during April. A minesweeper and seven speedboats also were sunk and a number of others were damaged, a bulletin said. The claims were not confirmed by allied quarters.

U. S. AND BRITISH PROTEST FRENCH PRESS 'SCOOPS'

ALGIERS, May 1 (AP).—Representatives of the United States and British press jointly protested today to Henri Bonnet, information commissioner of Gen. Charles de Gaulle's French committee of national liberation, against what they termed official favoritism in releasing news to the French agency, France Afrique.

The correspondents asked that all news released be given to all foreign correspondents simultaneously with the committee's releases to France-Afrique. Their protest was based on recent cases in which the French agency received news which was not given to correspondents until the next day.

This, the petition said, tended to establish an official state agency in opposition to the desires of newspaper men for a truly free press.

BRITISH SEIZE NAZI GENERAL IN RAID ON CRETE

CAIRO, Egypt, May 1 (AP).—A daring raid on Crete by British officers a few days ago resulted in the capture of a German general named Kriepe, commander of the 22d panzer grenadiers who are known as the Sevastopol division, it was officially announced today.

The operation was carried out without Cretan aid. No further details were given.

[A Cairo broadcast on Sunday said the German commander of the Crete garrison had been captured by British officers and identified him as Heinrich Freyberg. The cabled announcement from Cairo did not mention such a garrison chief.]

677 JAPS KILLED IN HOLLANDIA INVASION, SAYS GEN. M'ARTHUR

ADVANCED ALLIED HDQ., New Guinea, May 2 [Tuesday]—(AP).—American infantry patrols searching the jungle north of Lake Sentani are liquidating isolated Japanese troops who survived the air, naval, and land fire when the Americans invaded Hollandia, Dutch Guinea, Gen. MacArthur announced today.

Japanese dead counted by the invaders since the landing April 22 totaled 677.

MacArthur's bulletin told of allied medium bomber sweeps along the Manokwari coast of Dutch New Guinea, far to the west of Hollandia, and the destruction of an enemy vessel by bombing in that area. The bombers headed farther west of Manokwari and damaged three small enemy craft off Cape Waios.

Navy Catalina planes in a long flight to Amboina island, in the Netherlands East Indies 600 miles northwest of Darwin, Australia, bombed Japanese installations at Hitoelama village.

SINGLE BOMBER RAIDS TRUK AND DAMAGES A SHIP

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, May 1 (AP).—The skipper of a single navy Liberator made a daring daylight aerial attack on Truk last Saturday, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today. The bomber made two runs on a ship anchored in the Truk lagoon, damaging the vessel. Then the pilot audaciously buzzed airstrips on Moen and Eten Islands, strafing both runways. He then flew safely home to report.

The single plane attack was the 32d air strike at Truk in seven weeks.

Ventura planes from the Aleutians bombed the Paramushiro base in the Kuriles Saturday.

Drop 2,000 Tons in April.

7TH AAF HDQ. IN THE CENTRAL PACIFIC, May 1 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Robert W. Douglass Jr. today said 2,000 tons of bombs were dropped by army flyers in April on central Pacific targets, and that "Jap Caroline bases east of Truk are very nearly completely neutralized." The acting commanding general added that "the Jap air arm in the central Pacific is steadily weakening," and "Marshalls bases remaining to the Japs are sealed off and effectively quarantined."

JAPS TAKE PASS IN CHINA AFTER EIGHT DAY FIGHT

CHUNGKING, China, May 1 (AP).—Chinese defenders suffered a severe blow today as field reports admitted the fall of Hulao pass in northern Honan province, and the Japanese were rushing fortifications there in preparation for a possible drive on Loyang, rail city to the west which underwent a heavy air attack.

The pass, an ancient battleground guarding the route to Loyang, was defended fiercely in an eight day battle. A small piece of flatland backed by steep mountains on three sides and fronting the Yellow river north of the Lunghai railway, the pass lies west of Chenghsien, former rail junction which fell previously.

Chinese troops continued to attack in the Mihsien sector southwest of Chenghsien, and 50 miles to the south of Chenghsien, field dispatches said. A small mobile force of Japanese had by-passed the city of Hsuchang to attack it from the southeast, while a main body continued to advance on the city down the Peiping-Hankow railway.

SKY TROOPERS SMASH THRUST BY BURMA JAPS

Illinoisan Leads Tanks in Drive.

SOUTHEAST ASIA HDQ., Kandy, Ceylon, May 2 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Allied airborne troops have decisively defeated a strong Japanese attempt to break a rail and road block 65 miles southwest of Mogaung in northern Burma after a three day battle in which heavy casualties were inflicted upon an attacking enemy force of 2,000 men.

It was the fourth Japanese attempt to wipe out the road block, established on the enemy's main supply route from southern Burma to the Mogaung valley front, where Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese-American forces are fighting their way toward Mogaung and Myitkyina.

Field dispatches said the Japanese had succeeded in breaking thru barbed wire entanglements fronting the allied positions but had been driven back after hard fighting.

Cochrane's Commandos Help.

The air Commandos of Col. Philip Cochrane [Flip Corkin] joined in the battle, bombing and strafing the enemy close to the perimeter of the allied defenses.

An allied spokesman said that on a conservative estimate the Japanese have lost at least 1,000 men killed in their unsuccessful attempts to smash the road block. This figure, he said, does not include losses from air action.

Meanwhile, Stilwell's troops, reenforced by medium tanks, were smashing the Japanese back and may capture Mogaung, 30 miles to the south, before the monsoon rains begin about May 15.

Commanded by Illinoisan.

Stilwell's tank formation is commanded by Lt. Richard P. Bocan of Vandalia, Ill. In its first action Saturday it pumped more than 100 rounds of shells into the Japanese in an hour long fight north of Inkangahtawng, destroying two anti-tank guns, exploding an enemy ammunition dump, and killing 39 enemy troops. There were no casualties in Bocan's forces.

The fighting around Kohima in India followed a confused pattern, with British and Indian troops officially reported continuing operations "in difficult country against strong enemy positions." An allied spokesman insisted that the Japanese were being pushed out of the area.

Stiffer enemy resistance was reported just north of Kanglatongbi, a village 22 miles north of Imphal on the highway to Kohima. Allied troops driving northward from Imphal to clear the highway captured Ganglatongbi last week.

AUSSIE GENERAL BLAMES OUSTER ON HIS WRITINGS

'Unforgivable Sin,' Says Bennett.

SYDNEY, Australia, May 1 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Gordon Bennett retired from the Australian army today and promptly handed newspapermen a signed statement asserting he was forced out of the army and attacking Gen. Thomas A. Blamey, commander in chief of Australian forces.

Lt. Gen. Gordon Bennett.

Bennett, an acknowledged expert on jungle warfare, is famed for his escape from Singapore after its capitulation.

The retiring general said he escaped so he could help remold Australian jungle tactics and lead a force to rescue captured Australian troops. When he wasn't given an assignment at the front in New Guinea, Bennett said he asked Gen. Blamey if he planned to give him an operational command.

Criticises Escape.

"He replied he would not do so," Bennett's statement continued. "The reasons Blamey gave me included:

"1. That I was associated with a failure—meaning the failure to hold Malaya.

"2. That my escape from Singapore was ill-advised.

"I refuse to accept the blame for the failure to hold Singapore. Our Australian troops fought stubbornly, valiantly, and we were only a fraction of the total force.

"As far as my escape is concerned, it is laid down as a soldier's duty to escape if captured and bring back any valuable information that can be obtained. My escape was after the hostilities ceased, not before.

"Writings Real Reason."

"It is hard to understand Blamey's attitude, seeing he, himself, escaped from Greece before operations ceased and took his son with him.

"The reasons given me by Blamey, however, are not the real reasons. When the war began I was senior to Blamey. His opposition can be traced back to the time when, not being on the active list, I wrote certain articles on defense when little was being done to prepare for war. At that time apathy was everywhere. In writing to the press I committed an unforgivable, unforgettable sin."

AUSSIE CENSOR ON STAND CALLS ACTION MISUNDERSTANDING

SYDNEY, Australia, May 1 (AP).—Australia's chief censor, E. G. Bonney, told a federal court today a censor's deletion from a Sydney newspaper of criticism of Information Minister Arthur Calwell was a result of misunderstanding.

Testifying at a hearing on government charges that the Sydney Daily Telegraph violated censorship regulations, Bonney identified the particular deletion as "Calwell had abused his ministerial privilege," and added that he had never had instruction from cabinet ministers on censorship matters.

He testified, however, that in regard to a story concerning the wheat market, the cabinet thru Calwell had asked him to withhold political comment because the government desired to prevent unjust and improper speculation.

FATAL 'HOTFOOT' TRIAL HEARS OF PLANT PRANKS

Detroit, Mich., May 1 (AP).—Two witnesses in the manslaughter trial of Herbert Pomeranke testified today that the "hotfoot" prank that caused the death of Louis Marino was commonly played in the war plant where all four men were employed.

Marino, whose clothing had become soaked with an inflammable cleaning compound, was fatally burned Jan. 2 when a fellow worker in the Continental Motors corporation's plant stuck a match in the toe of his shoe and touched it off. Pomeranke, accused as the prankster, is on trial before Recorder's Judge Christopher E. Stein and a jury.

"I gave the hotfoot to fellow workers at Continental lots and lots of times," Andrew Atwell testified today. J. R. Hargis, foreman of the department in which the men were employed, said he too had often played the prank before his promotion.

DOUBTS PLANES CAN BOMB JAPS OUT OF THE WAR

BY COL. CONRAD H. LANZA.

[Regular contributor to the Field Artillery Journal and recognized as an authority on military matters.]

The declaration at the Associated Press luncheon in New York on April 24, by Lt. Gen. A. A. Vandegrift, marine corps commandant, that the American route to Tokio will be via the Caroline, Marianas, and Bonin Islands is worthy of attention. These islands, or some of them, are to be taken one by one, and air bases established on them.

At the same luncheon, Rear Adm. Dewitt C. Ramsey, chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics, explained that by the end of 1944, the United States will have not fewer than 100 aircraft carriers in the Pacific to spearhead the coming American drive.

Outnumber Jap Planes.

These carriers will have a plane capacity vastly superior to any number of planes which Japan might be able to accumulate on Pacific islands. These islands are all small and there is a limit to the number of planes that could be based upon them. It is hoped that it will be possible to overwhelm the Japanese defenses by the vastly greater number of American planes that can be brought into action from the great fleet of carriers.

This plan is simple on paper. Not entirely so in practice. Adm. Ramsey recognized this.

From now on it will be necessary to attack islands which are indeed small but which are much larger than the coral islands of the Gilberts and Marshalls. Our new objectives will be the volcanic islands, up to 20 to 30 miles long or wide, mountainous, and having much cover for defenders.

Is Impression Correct?

These islands can not be swept from end to end by naval gunfire. Many installations are in caves and cannot be bombed even if their location is known.

When the entire job is done, which apparently cannot be hoped for until some time in 1945 at the earliest, the United States will have bases south of Japan from which planes can be based for the bombing of Japanese cities.

Our people seem to attach extreme importance to this. The general impression among many is that once this is accomplished the end of Japan is in sight.

This is far from being certain. Germany has held up under heavy bombings from bases in the British Isles for well over a year. These bases are enormously superior to any that can be established on the small Pacific islands and the 100 aircraft carriers combined.

Will Move to Mainland.

If bombing of Japan does commence in 1945, there is reason to believe that the Japanese government will move to the mainland, if it has not already gone there. At that point it will probably be necessary to start land operations on the Asiatic mainland.

The general situation is that the proposed bombing of Japan may be accomplished about as planned. To end the war it will probably also be necessary to go ahead with the operations of Gen MacArthur toward recovery of the Philippines, and of Adm. Mountbatten's forces into Singapore, and then northward into south China.

Walter Dill Scott and Mrs. Scott. He holds golf bag birthday gift from son.

Walter Dill Scott, president emeritus of Northwestern university, said yesterday on his 75th birthday that "in the past we made the most of our poverty; in the future we must learn to behave as rich people."

Sitting in the study of his home at 1729 Chicago av., Evanston, Dr. Scott surveyed the three-quarter century of his lifetime and asserted in that period man had progressed more than in the previous hundreds of thousands of years.

"In 1870," Dr. Scott said, "the nation's total wealth was 30 billion dollars. I would not attempt to state the exact figure of our wealth today. It is too stupendous. We do know our national income in 1941 was three times our total wealth of 1870.

"I remember vividly a poem of my youth, 'Over the Hill to the Poorhouse.' Poor farms and orphan asylums were our biggest public institutions then. We made the most of our poverty then. Now we must make the most of our riches. We must learn to behave as rich people."

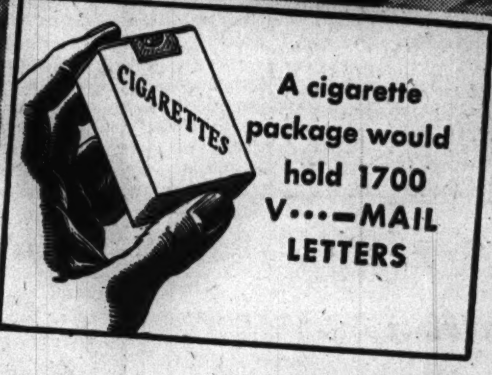
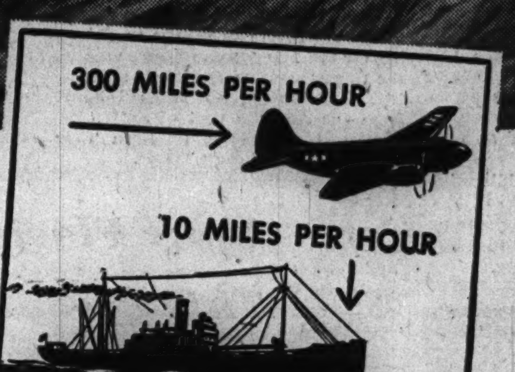
How to make a letter hustle overseas

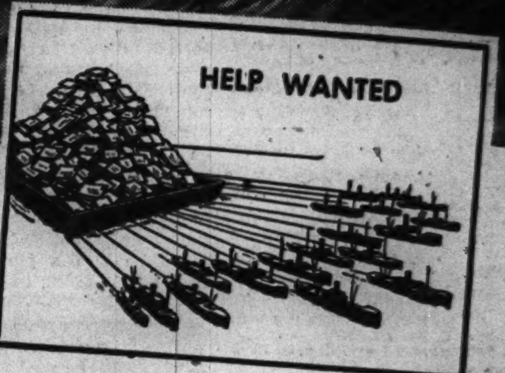
Want it to reach him quick? Then send your overseas letter V-Mail—Uncle Sam's new method of speeding letters to faraway fronts. A method of handling letters that saves days, weeks. A method of carrying lots of mail by air mail—400,000 letters on a single speeding plane. And carrying them across oceans as quickly as train-mail can travel from New York to Dallas!



What V-Mail is—An automatic photographic machine makes a picture of your letter—a copy so small that one cigarette packet would hold 1,700 of them. Overseas this flying-weight copy is enlarged to readable size—then this enlargement is sealed and delivered privately like any other letter. Your original letter and the film are then destroyed.



Faster—safer, too—V-Mail is not only many times faster than boat mail—it is also safer. For it is less likely to be intercepted and destroyed by enemy action. V-Mail is so safe, so sure, that over 400,000,000 letters have been carried overseas without the loss of a single letter!



Help lick this big job!—Ordinary mail now takes enormous cargo space in hundreds of ships—ships needed for food and ammunition. Food and munitions can't be reduced to flying weight—but letters can. And must, officials fear, if the growing mountain of mail is to be kept moving. So send every overseas letter V-Mail—save time, save ships.

Here's what to do—

1 Get V-Mail paper at any stationery counter. You must use this paper because of its special size and shape.

2 Follow the simple directions printed on the back of the paper. Be sure to print full name, rank, serial number, military unit and A.P.O. number.

3 Mail your letter at any post office or letter box. Postage 3 cents. The same kind of stamp you use on a letter to a neighboring town will send your letter overseas by speeding plane.

SEND IT V···-MAIL
It's fast...it's safe...it's private

★★★★ Says General Eisenhower—"The inauguration of V-Mail service is a vital forward step—we, here, know and appreciate the value of the postal link that is our only connection with our parents, relatives and friends."

★★★ Says General Somervell—"I cannot urge too strongly the use of V-Mail when writing to soldiers overseas. The use of V-Mail effects a ninety-eight per cent saving in cargo space, thereby releasing this sorely needed space for shipment of supplies, weapons and munitions."

2,500 Planes Take Part Assaults on Rails.

LONDON, May 2 [Tuesday] (AP).—Gen. Eisenhower's invasion command opened the month of May by hurling more than 2,500 planes against German anti-invasion defenses on the Calais coast nearest Britain and 17 rail junctions of the transport web designed to support them.

R. A. F. bombers smashed at targets in France during the night. Thus, the sustained aerial assault entered its 18th straight day. Axis broadcasts said that United States planes of the Mediterranean command also had attacked Florence in Italy.

Two thousand American heavy and light bombers, fighter bombers and fighters, aided by swarms of allied planes, participated in yesterday's dawn to dusk aerial onslaught on a 225 mile front extending thru Belgium and France to the German border.

Only 3 Bombers Lost.

Three United States bombers and three fighters were missing. Five enemy planes were downed. One enemy planes were downed. One victory was shared by Lt. Russell Sobieski, 1625 58th court, Cicero, Ill., with two other pilots.

Five hundred United States Flying Fortresses and Liberators and as many fighters struck 20 miles across the channel at the Nazi "mystery" installations on the Calais coast.

Another American heavy bomber formation of equal strength punched at railway yards at Brussels, the Belgian capital, at Liege, and four other important rail targets.

More than 275 American "work horse" Marauder and Havoc bombers smashed at rail centers of Douai, in northern France near the Belgian border; at Mantes-Gassicourt, on the Seine 27 miles northwest of Paris, and Charleroi-Montignies and Monceau sur Sambre in Belgium.

Heavy Attack on Louvain.

Marauders and Havocs made additional "heavy attacks" on the railway centers of Louvain, Belgium, and Valenciennes and Blanc Misseron, in northern France.

Mitchells and Bostons blasted the railway centers of Hirson and Cambrai in France.

United States Thunderbolts swept over a wide area of Belgium, France, Holland, and western Germany. They teamed up with the bombers in the assault on Louvain. Thunderbolt fighter bombers attacked the Belgian rail junction of Haine-Saint-Pierre. Mustangs hit the Namur rail yards in Belgium.

390,000 DODGE CANADA DRAFT, COMMONS HEARS

OTTAWA, Ont., May 1 (AP).—John Diefenbaker, Saskatchewan Progressive Conservative, told the house of commons today the Canadian conscription record "reveals an appalling condition of default and disobedience" and said 390,000 men had failed to respond to service calls.

His charge was disputed by Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell, who reported subsequently that Canada's man power pool was so near the bottom of the barrel six men had to be called to provide one for the army.

Diefenbaker said a return on file in the house showed 1,449,417 men were called for medical examination and 979,569 reported, leaving 469,848 unaccounted for, less 71,545 who enlisted. Mitchell had stated previously only 49,001 men now were unaccounted for and stood by his report, saying Diefenbaker had quoted figures "to suit himself." Canadians cannot be conscripted for duty outside North America. Volunteers make up the overseas forces.

ASSERTS U. S. HAS HUGE POST-WAR WORK FOR REDS

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—Declaring that American business had received enough contracts for rebuilding Russia's industry to "keep the whole United States machinery keyed up after the war," Ellis Smith, Labor member of parliament, called upon the Churchill government today to explain "why Britain was left behind." He said Americans signed contracts for $2,500,000,000 to supply the soviets with machines, tools, and commodities.

SAY NAZIS WILL FLOOD HOLLAND TO GUARD FLANK

Deemed Necessary to Protect West Wall.

BY P. E. BRIQUET.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, May 1.—Interesting particulars have been published recently in Nazi newspapers about the German plan to flood all Dutch territory lying below sea level.

The Essener National zeitung, Reichsmarshal Goering's paper, said the plan may be carried out "not only in case of an allied invasion of Holland, but under any circumstances as a flank protection for the German west wall on the Atlantic ocean."

Volk en Vaderland, the paper of Anton Mussert, Dutch Nazi leader, said the "plans will be turned into reality. All the peasants are shuddering. This beautiful country is about to undergo a hard necessity of war which will be an undeniable catastrophe."

The paper said the plans include the flooding of the "greatest possible areas."

Called "Holland's Sacrifice."

In May, 1940, German newspapers branded the Dutch government's plans to flood all of the Dutch water belt to protect the national safety as "crazy and destructive." Today Mussert's organ calls this "Holland's sacrifice and contribution to the life of Europe."

The Nazi papers assert that the abandonment of valuable land, saved from the sea thru centuries of Dutch effort, is "the German right to do whatever Germany deems useful to herself."

The Dutch underground press indicates that it is expected the German army will break up the great seadam between Helder and Camperdown, all the dikes and dams to the North Sea canal, and inundate great stretches along the Rhine.

According to German information, "wherever possible fresh water, which supposedly does not harm the ground, will be used instead of sea water."

Sea Water Destructive.

A glance at the map shows, however, it is possible to flood most of the areas only with sea water. The Dutch underground says this "would prevent the growing of grass, wheat, potatoes, vegetables, fruit, flowers, and tulips for decades," and that even fresh water, when it remains on the ground for years, is harmful.

Goering's paper said the Dutch must take care of evacuation of the threatened areas themselves. Evacuees are limited to 400 pounds per person and cannot remove their furniture and cattle. The underground press reports that few peasants are leaving their farms.

One underground paper said "indescribable misery already is following the trail of the evacuees and is due to increase frightfully later, as it is impossible to find adequate compensation wher whole towns and thousands of villages are swept away with the land itself."

Foreign observers here predict that the Dutch will consider making up their losses by claiming German territory.

CITE WOUNDED YANK WHO MADE PALS CARRY ON

Robert F. Winter, 24, a Wilmette gunner and signalman, was lauded by the war department yesterday for the "bravery, fortitude, and high devotion to duty" he displayed in inducing his comrades on patrol in New Britain to let him lie wounded behind Japanese lines in order to facilitate their return to headquarters with vital information. Gen. MacArthur awarded him the distinguished service cross.

Robert F. Winter.

Winter, a technician fourth grade, graduate of New Trier High school and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Winter, 418 Ridge rd., Wilmette, was not rescued for 13 days. In a letter to his parents Winter said he had left a hospital recently.

Wounded in both legs aboard a landing barge near Arawe, Winter propped himself up and continued firing, holding the enemy at bay until his patrol reached the beach. His comrades placed him on a litter, but he decided he would slow their progress and made them leave.

BRITONS WARNED AGAIN TO HUSH CARELESS TALK

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 1.—A new intensive pre-invasion campaign to curb careless talk has been opened in Britain. Members of parliament, councillors, shop and innkeepers have been asked by home office authorities to coöperate.

Following a meeting among the eastern regional commissioner, William Spens, and Essex members of parliament, this warning was given to the latters' constituents:

"Don't talk about what you see going on around you, and above all don't write to any one about what you see. Secret information of value to the enemy can start with some one perfectly loyal talking or writing about some of the things he has seen."

Similar Action Expected.

Other regional commissioners soon will take similar action, it was reported.

The main object of the new campaign is said to be double barrelled: to impress on every man, woman, and child in Britain the vital necessity of keeping mum about ships, troops, guns, and airplanes they have seen or heard about, and to check the circulation of silly rumors.

Ninety-five thousand employes of the Navy, Army, and Air Force institutes [a British USO known by the letters NAAFI], as well as artists of the department of national service entertainment [ENSA] have been warned particularly against careless talk. Security officers are said to be on the alert thruout the country to pull in possible offenders.

Weather Examined.

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—The beginning of May is statistically most favorable for invasion from a weather standpoint. However, only one thing seemed certain about the forthcoming venture—the approximate date was decided long ago and the timetables worked out in minutes, even seconds.

Records covering a number of years show the weather in the English channel ordinarily gets better each month from January thru May. Thru many years May has seen less fog and fewer gales at both ends of the channel—the Scilly Islands on the west and Dungeness on the east.

Shrine Choices

Orla A. Reed, Syracuse, N. Y., and Mrs. Pearl T. Harman, Bluefield, W. Va., chosen king and queen yesterday at Shrine conclave.

More than 4,000 members of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, a Masonic organization of men and women, filled Medinah temple, Wabash av. and Ohio st., last night in the first assembly of their annual meeting. All states and Canada were represented.

Flags of all the allied nations were displayed. Another touch of color was added with the election of Orla A. Reed of Syracuse, N. Y., and Mrs. Pearl T. Harman of Bluefield, W. Va., as king and queen.

Business meetings of the convention will open today.

150 PASSENGER LUXURY PLANE MODEL SHOWN

Fort Worth, Tex., May 1 (AP).—A post-war plane, intended to carry nearly three times as many passengers in luxury accommodations as the Lockheed Constellation, was shown in its wooden "mock up" form to a group of aviation writers here today.

The aircraft is on the drawing boards at the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft corporation plant near here.

The Constellation, which crossed the nation recently in six hours and 58 minutes to establish the fastest time yet set, is designed for 57 luxury passengers and will carry 100 or more fully armed troops.

The new plane, not to be built in a flying model until peace comes, is intended to carry 150 persons from New York to London nonstop with ample fuel reserves in event of bad weather. It will fly fast enough to be used for three such round trips weekly.

3 WAYS TO GET A $100 LOAN

How to get cash quickly—privately—without endorsers

SHORT OF CASH? Get a salary, car or furniture loan at Household Finance. To apply for $50, $100, or any amount up to $300, just give us a few facts about yourself and your job—and choose a convenient payment schedule. We require no endorsers or guarantors, no wage or salary assignment, no recommendations from friends or relatives. At Household you borrow quickly, privately and at reasonable cost.

Instalments repay everything

Notice the choice of plans for repaying your loan. Payments shown in the table include principal and charges.

You have no fees or other extras to pay. The shorter the time you take to repay the less your loan costs. At our rate of 3% per month, a $100 loan repaid in six monthly instalments of $18.48 each costs $10.88; if repaid in four monthly instalments a $100 loan costs only $7.72. A $75 loan repaid in three monthly instalments costs $4.62.

Solve your problem here

Household supplies cash to pay old debts, taxes, doctor bills, help relatives—for emergencies of many kinds. When you need a loan of $25, $50, $100 or more, just phone, write or visit Household Finance.

POLES AROUSED OVER PRIEST'S TRIP TO RUSSIA

Deny Father Orlemanski Represents Them.

Chicago leaders of Polish extraction said yesterday their nationals thruout the country are aroused both to anger and ridicule by the mission to Moscow of the Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski, Polish Catholic priest of Springfield, Mass., and Oscar Lange of the University of Chicago.

Father Orlemanski, pastor of Holy Rosary Polish Catholic church of Springfield, and Lange went to Russia at soviet invitation and were received by Dictator Stalin and ostentatiously entertained to the accompaniment of Russian newspaper publicity. Diocesan authorities said the priest, who has been advocating Polish-Russian collaboration, left his parish without permission.

Find No Quisling in Poland.

"The Communists couldn't find any Poles in Poland who would so far undermine their own people and their own government in exile as to hobnob with the Reds and offer to spread their propaganda, so they came to the United States, where there are so many with communistic leanings," said Leo Walkowicz, president of district 20, Polish-American council.

"The five years of untold suffering by the Polish people in the home country did not produce any Quislings. All the misery failed to produce any one who would help the Russians in their aims. They were compelled to come here. I have spoken to a great many of the Catholic clergy and I am certain that the priest will fail utterly in his promise to come back and form branches of the Kosciusko Legion, a communistic organization."

Deny He Represents Them.

John Olejiczak, president of the Polish Roman Catholic union, said news of Father Orlemanski's airplane trip came as a complete surprise to Americans of Polish extraction.

"It is surprising," Olejniczak said, "because Father Orlemanski does not represent any one at all. He certainly doesn't represent the Poles or those of Polish extraction in this country. And if he has gone simply as an American citizen, what good does his trip do them?"

Speaking for members of the Polish Women's Alliance of America, with 60,000 members, Mrs. Barbara Fisher, the organization's attorney, said the Kosciusko Legion, "which Father Orlemanski appears to represent, is purely a communistic organization."

"The whole thing is, of course, Russian propaganda," Mrs. Fisher said. "I do not pretend to express the opinion of all our members, but I have talked with many and they are very much against what the priest has done."

POLAND URGED BY PROF. LANGE TO HELP RUSSIA

New York, May 1 (AP).—Prof. Oscar Lange of the University of Chicago said in an address quoted tonight in a Moscow broadcast of the soviet-sponsored union of Polish patriots that occupied Poland's most direct road to freedom lay in a coördination of all her efforts with the military operations of the soviet union, Britain and the United States.

"The sooner a pooling of resources takes place," Lange was quoted as having said, "the sooner will the common enemy be defeated and our country liberated. Therefore, the pooling of our efforts is the most important task confronting us."

The broadcast was beamed to Poland. Lange's arrival in Moscow along with the Rev. Stainslaus Orlemanski, a Catholic priest of Springfield, Mass., was announced in Moscow last Thursday.

APRIL COOLER, CLOUDIER THAN IT IS NORMALLY

April was cooler and cloudier than normally, O. T. Lay, in charge of the Chicago office of the United States weather bureau, said yesterday. Average temperature for the month was 45.3 degrees, he said, against a normal of 46.9. There were 3.33 inches of precipitation, with 2.54 inches as normal, and the sun shone 49 per cent of possible hours, against the normal percentage of 58. There were six clear days, 16 cloudy, and eight partly cloudy days, and precipitation fell on 21 days.

Altho 1.1 inches of snow is normally expected during April, there was no measurable snow last month, Lay said. High for the month was 74 on the 23d; low was 22 on April 4.

193 More Fire Alarms Answered During April

Chicago firemen answered 2,282 fire alarms in April, Fire Commissioner Corrigan said yesterday, an increase of 193 over March.

Red Flyers Raid Brest-Litovsk

Legends tell highlights of Russian war news.

BULGARIAN AIR FORCE CONTROL WON BY NAZIS

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 30 [Delayed].—The German air force is assuming control of the Bulgarian air force as the Balkan situation approaches its climax according to a report from an informant just arrived.

The Bulgarians have returned to German control all German aircraft supplied to Bulgaria since 1939 with the proviso that they remain Bulgarian for defense use under German control.

Must Serve in Germany.

Bulgaria was reported to have agreed that all Bulgarian pilots will finish training in Germany with a three month period of active service in the German air force. This naturally is valuable experience, but also helps the luftwaffe to bolster its supply of pilots.

The Bulgarians have allowed many Bulgarian pilots to volunteer for active service for the Germans, he said, and many such volunteers participated in the air defense of Bucharest, Romania, during recent allied air raids. That, at least, is how the Bulgarian government is trying to prove it has not defied the Russian warning that Bulgar forces must not fight outside of Bulgaria.

Derided by Germans.

Friction was reported developing between the German and Bulgarian air forces because of these volunteers, since they get German as well as Bulgarian pay, and the Germans deride them as inferior pilots.

As the Russians forge on toward the Danube, Bulgaria faces the most serious crisis of her career since independence was won for her by the Russians in 1878.

When Russia reaches the Danube Bulgaria must join the Germans in the fight against Russia or turn on the Germans and help the Russians.

RUSSIANS BOMB BREST LITOVSK, A FORTRESS CITY

Military Trains Set on Fire in Raid.

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—Russian bombers made a mass raid on Brest Litovsk last night, touching off fires amid axis troop trains, Moscow announced tonight. The old Polish fortress city was captured by the Germans only two days after they launched their 1941 invasion.

Brest Litovsk is 115 miles east of the Polish capital of Warsaw, and about 80 miles northwest of Russian troops operating in the Kowel sector.

17 Fires Started.

Seventeen fires were started at the rail junction and enemy trains carrying troops, ammunition, and equipment were left in flames, said the Moscow bulletin. One soviet plane was missing.

A later bulletin said 600 Germans were slain in two unsuccessful attempts to capture "advantageous positions" north of Iasi, Romanian rail center. A battalion of 800 to 1,000 attacking axis troops failed to gain ground and was wiped out southeast of Stanislawow in old Poland.

The German high command reported a lull in the Sevastopol area of the Crimea and the lower Dnestr river area. It told of the fighting on the upper Dnestr river, presumably in the areas southwest of Stanislawow and southwest of Kowel, which is 170 miles southwest of Warsaw.

Germans Report Gains.

Berlin said its troops gained "further ground" southwest of Kowel. The fighting in this area is around Turja, 22 miles southwest of Kowel, and four miles from the Kowel-Lwow railway connecting two vital German wings in former Poland.

The Germans told of Russian attacks between Vitebsk and Polotsk on the north-central front. They said that Russian "artillery deployment positions were dispersed."

Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's 1st Baltic army last Dec. 26 was reported within eight miles of the Vitebsk fortress.

Poles Deny Seeking Pact with Reds Thru Stettinius

LONDON, May 1.—Polish authorities today issued a complete denial of reports that Prime Minister Stanizlaw Mikolajczyk had made new proposals to United States Undersecretary of State Stettinius for a resumption of Polish-Russian diplomatic relations. "There is not a word of truth in it," the spokesman said of the article in today's London News Chronicle setting forth the purported proposals.

TUGWELL RULE BREWS REVOLT, ASSERTS CRITIC

Puerto Rican Regime Called Czardom.

Washington, D. C., May 1 [Special].—Puerto Rican resentment against Rexford Guy Tugwell, governor of the island since July, 1941, has reached a point where the people are "almost on the verge of revolution," Bolivar Pagan, the island's resident commissioner in congress, said in an interview today.

Pagan, who has been a critic of Gov. Tugwell's administration, said the dictatorial attitude of the former No. 1 braintruster of the New Deal "can be matched only by Hitler's and Mussolini's tactics."

"If the American flag had not been waving over Puerto Rico the people already would have gone into open revolt by arms," Pagan asserted.

"Little New Deal" Charged.

Tugwell frequently has been accused in congress of sponsoring a little New Deal in the island territory, and of attempting to use Puerto Rico as a proving ground for experiments in economic socialization.

His administration has been a stormy one and his removal has been asked from time to time by the Union Republican, Socialist, and Unification parties, the chamber of commerce, Farmers' association, and the Free Federation of Labor, Puerto Rican organizations.

Pagan pictured Tugwell as living a life of luxury on the island. His home is a 300 year old Spanish castle on which the government spent $500,000 before he moved in, Pagan said, describing it as more comfortable than the White House, with 30 servants and eight automobiles.

Armed Guard Described.

Tugwell also has two summer homes and travels with an armed guard, Pagan said.

"What the people want right now is the reëstablishment and enforcement of the present organic act and the immediate removal of Gov. Tugwell to reëstablish in Puerto Rico a government of law and honesty and a real government by a majority of the people," he asserted.

"We have a most scandalous situation in Puerto Rico. It is overexcited, almost on the verge of revolution. Sensible persons wonder how the United States can hold the banner as champion of democracy thruout the world while two million American citizens in that American territory continue under a most incapable, corrupt, and undemocratic government."

New York, May 1 (AP).—The latest entry in New York City's marathon of multiple births is a set of triplets—two born in an automobile and one in a hospital elevator after a race with the stork. The babies, born today to Mrs. Virginia Romano, 26, were two girls, 5 pounds each, and a boy 4 pounds. The father is Frank Romano, 27, foreman for a luggage company. Quadruplets and a set of triplets were born here last month.

YANKS BOMB TWO AIRCRAFT PLANTS IN MILAN REGION

ALLIED HDQ., Naples, May 1 (AP).—A crippling blow was struck against Nazi controled Italian aircraft production when large formations of Flying Fortresses yesterday bombed factories at Varese and Bresso, which manufacture speedy Macchi fighter planes. Varese is 30 miles northwest of Milan. Bresso is five miles northeast of Milan.

Night bombers pounded the port of Genoa for the third straight night and spilled bombs upon Livorno [Leghorn] on the west coast. Liberator bombers delivered twin punches against two vital rail centers at Milan and Alessandria, the latter a key point for heavy Nazi supply movements from southern France. Smaller formations of heavy bombers blasted the Reggio Emilia airdrome northwest of Bologna and rail targets.

Ground action on the Italian front remained limited to small scale patrol clashes.

YOUR BROTHER is right, Bud. You, too, have a war job. You're helping to deliver the goods to your brother and all other men at the battle fronts.

Maybe you'd rather be there yourself. But your duty is here. You're a railroad man—fourth generation Illinois Central—and you know it takes men to move trains.

It's workers like you who put together those trainloads of men and materials—the reinforcements all our fighting brothers pray for to make their assaults swift, overwhelming and saving of casualties. They depend on you to keep those trains rolling.

No war work is more important. Yet, right today, there aren't recruits enough to fill essential railroad jobs. Many more are needed to maintain tracks and signals, to repair cars and engines, to man offices and stations, to operate yards and trains. We are counting on you—and on all the other "home folks" of the Illinois Central—to help us meet this pressing war emergency.

Until the war is won, our main concern is victory. After that, all the experience gained by our workers in the war years will be turned to account in improving Illinois Central service. We want to keep on earning the good will of all!

THE BOMBARDIER DOESN'T ALWAYS HIT THE TARGET

Disappointed Youngster Typical of Yanks.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT A U. S. AIR BASE IN ENGLAND, May 1. — An intelligence officer sat in a jeep as our newest group of A-20 light bombers was returning from a raid on northern France, and had a hunch they had hit it on the button. But as the bomber rolled by the pilot pinched his nose with his fingers in disdain, and the bombardier in the nose turned his thumb down in disgust.

A moment later the bombardier slipped thru the hatch to report that "the visibility was perfect. We could see the target exactly, but I missed by 100 yards. The bombs fell just to the left of the target. It was heartbreaking."

Then he asked hopefully if the group was going out again in the afternoon, and his shoulders dropped when he was told that the mission had been scrubbed. Thus he had emphasized again the adage that no matter how good we are, the bombers can't always hit the target on every mission.

Former Cleveland Boy.

In his eagerness to achieve perfection every time, despite the usually fierce anti-aircraft fire, this 22 year old bombardier typified the spirit of these newest additions to the 9th United States air force. His own record should have been a consolation, for the first time the group hit the target this young man rode as bombardier for the group. And a few hours later the same day he again led the group right onto its target for a double header.

This bombardier-navigator is Lt. John T. Ertler of Cleveland, O. When he wasn't driving a soft drink truck to earn the money to finish college, Johnny Ertler was boxing in Cleveland's amateur gymnasiums. Thirteen times he went into the ring as a light heavyweight, scoring nine knockouts in succession, and reached the semi-finals in a Golden Gloves tournament once. Johnny Ertler believes that no knockout can compare with the thrill of accurate bombing.

"I'll never forget that first raid with Lt. Col. Martin P. Crabtree as my pilot," said this surprising ex-boxer, who relaxes by playing the Warsaw concerto on the piano. "He's an old hand from Africa and as cool as they come.

Colonel Slows Him Down.

"As we started across the channel I began barking fast into the intercom phone with my requests. The colonel said, 'Slow down, Johnny. Take it easy and tell me exactly what you want.' That's all I needed, and from then on I was as cool as he was.

"As we started into France I picked up the target area, then began looking for the exact bombing area while the colonel was taking expert evasive action. Once we settled down for our run I called for a level and went to work in earnest on my bombsight. The hard lines came up level and true, and the next moment the bombs were away scooting down smack dab on the target. That was the prettiest sight I ever saw and I was as happy as a kid."

On a raid like this the bombardier has no time to worry about flak, said Johnny Ertler. He's too busy going in, he said, studying maps and watching the ground intently and then, over the target, working the bombsight mechanism.

But for days and weeks before, Johnny has been intent on studying every priority target until he could draw it and the surrounding territory blindfolded. That's the way good bombardiers are made, and right now Johnny Ertler is the hottest one in his group.

Ertler's ambition is to complete his tour of duty and return home to take cadet pilot training and naturally, he wants to return to his wife.

3 MILLION RED RATION POINTS BOGUS, SAYS OPA

More than 3 million forged red ration points may be circulating in Chicago, Homer Clay, area enforcement attorney for the office of price administration, said yesterday as the government acted against more individuals charged with dealing in bogus points.

United States Commissioner Walker issued a warrant charging George Pappas of 6227 Ellias av., a salesman for Pappas Brothers, wholesale meat company at 417 E. 71st st., with selling forged ration certificates.

John Besas, president of the Harrison Restaurant company, 601 S. Wabash av., said he bought 100,312 points from Pappas, Clay asserted. Besas was ordered to appear next week before John F. Manierre, regional OPA hearing commissioner. Joseph C. Brodzinski of 8000 Brandon av., a butcher; Thomas Panos, 5565 North av., a restaurant owner, and Guy O'Neal, 823 W. 69th st., a meat dealer, were charged with possessing illegal red points.

Bicyclists Throw Bomb at Italian Police Chief

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, May 1.— The police chief of Florence, Italy, Col. Ingrano, was the victim of a bombing outrage yesterday. Four bicyclists threw a bomb at the chief's car, killing the chauffeur. The men escaped. A half million lire reward has been offered.

Mrs. J. B. writes: "My nephew is a marine in the Pacific area. He loves baseball stories and the different columns in the daily papers. I have made a scrap book of these, and I wonder if it can be sent to him. The stories are those that have appeared in the papers since last January. The scrapbook measures 10½x14½ inches. Is there some way I can send this book to him? I shall look for a reply in your column."

ANSWER: If the scrapbook does not exceed five pounds in weight, you may send it. Postal regulations governing mail to men in the marine corps list the weight and size regulations as five pounds in weight, 15 inches in length, or 36 inches in length and girth combined. No written request is required to send packages to marines.

Mrs. D. P. writes: "My son enlisted in V-12. He is now on active duty [or school] and is a seaman second class, V-12. I understood that he could apply for an allowance for me, since I am a widow and need his help. Can you tell me if this is true? He is willing that I have it. Can you tell me what steps he or I should now take?"

ANSWER: It is my understanding that men of your son's rank are eligible for the family allowance for dependent parents, but not for wives. The personnel officer at his present station can provide him with the necessary forms to be filled out. It is always preferable that the service man make such applications. Only in unusual circumstances may class "B" or "B-1" dependents do so.

Mrs. J. T. writes: "My son, who has been in the army since before Pearl Harbor, was killed in action about two months ago. Am I entitled to collect the mustering out pay?"

ANSWER: No. It is my understanding that survivors of men who are killed in action are not entitled to collect mustering out pay. If your son had been discharged from service and died sometime later, before he had collected the amount due, there would then be some right to entitlement. However, if he had neither wife nor children, you would be eligible for the six months' death gratuity, if you have been designated as beneficiary.

Mrs. W. O. asks: "My husband is a private in the army, and we have on child 2 years old. I have been told that I can receive free medical care for my daughter thru the government. Can you advise me?"

ANSWER: Necessary medical and hospital care is available under the government plan only to infants under 1 year of age. Emergency requests for medical care for children exceeding that age are referred to the Red Cross.

NEGROES BUILD AIR BASE—MEET BROWN BOMBER

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AN AMERICAN BOMBER BASE SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, May 1.—This new base, built almost entirely by Negro engineer troops, today was turned over to the air forces which soon will be flying Liberator bombers off its long runways with cargoes marked "Germany." The field is one of two in England on which the major work was done by Negro troops.

Big Job Well Done.

Some idea of the amount of labor involved was given in data prepared by the press relations officer: The engineers poured 280,000 square yards of concrete, constructed 15,000 yards of drains, laid 5,000 additional feet of cross drains, laid 15,000 feet of waterpipe, built an operations block containing 160,000 bricks, built a Red Cross club, theater, post exchange, workshops, maintenance sheds, locker rooms and too many other things to mention.

At least to enlisted personnel, the most important visitor of the day at the base was Sgt. Joseph Louis Barrow, heavyweight champion and "brown bomber" of the boxing world. He arrived belatedly in a C-47 transport plane after the ceremonies were over and all high officers had departed. He was welcomed enthusiastically.

Ten Pounds Overweight.

Louis appeared to be in excellent condition. He carried a white handled riding crop purchased in London, which he said he planned to send to Detroit where he has stables. He is only 10 pounds over fighting weight, he said, and hopes to resume his ring career when the war ends.

JERUSALEM, Palestine, May 1.— British communications and Anglo-American oil are deemed here as likely to provide the principal hinges on which the peace conference's eventual settlement of Palestine's political future will rotate. Observers point out that it is no longer solely a narrow question affecting the rival national interests of the Jewish and Arab peoples.

SAYS SHOE RATIONING MAY MEAN CRIPPLING OF CHILDREN'S FEET

Springfield, Ill., May 1 [Special].— Rigid rationing of shoes may produce a generation of "foot cripples" unless parents are permitted to provide their children with new and larger-sized shoes frequently enough to permit normal growth, Dr. H. B. Somerville of Decatur said here today. A past president of the Illinois Osteopathic association, he spoke at the organization's annual meeting.

"Some disabilities are already appearing among girls of high school age in pelvic disorders which are traceable, at least partially, to ill-fitting shoes," he said. "Children's feet grow rapidly at certain ages. If parents make their children wear shoes for a longer time than formerly because of rationing, the toes will become crowded and deformities will be started."

Dr. Floyd F. Peckham of Chicago, association president, called for "unified coöperation between governmental and other public health agencies to work out improved health programs."

DOCTORS WANT F. D. R. TO STAY AWAY LONGER

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).— President Roosevelt's doctors are anxious that he not leave his vacation place in the south until "he has really completed his rest," Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told her press conference today.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who reported that the President looked very well when she saw him one day last week, said it probably would be "a week or so" before the President considers returning to Washington.

The President has been at an undisclosed location south of here as part of a recuperation program following attacks of flu and bronchial complications earlier in the year.

CHILD'S RATION FREE SHOES GO LIKE HOT CAKES

Scores of mothers yesterday crowded stores offering low priced children's shoes ration free, on the first of the 20 days authorized by OPA for their sale at a maximum price of $1.60.

Children from 4 to 10 years were reaping the benefits of the new release, and several salesmen told of the heroic efforts of mothers to squeeze older children's feet into the ration free sizes. One State st. store reported the sale of 800 pair in a five hour period. It was estimated there are 250,000 pair of low priced shoes available for sale under these conditions in this area.

Several of the larger department stores had no ration free children's shoes to offer, saying the OPA maximum made it impossible to dispose of quality merchandise at that price.

NEW CONTEST SPURS SCHOOLS' PAPER SALVAGE

Waste paper collection stock piles are expected to mount this week at elementary schools in the second week of a contest to win a 20 volume set of encyclopedias. The sets will be awarded, one each of the leading schools of the nine elementry school districts of the city. The contest is sponsored by American publishers of five encyclopedias.

A third $1,000 prize contest among public and parochial schools will start Monday. It is sponsored by the American Boxmakers Manufacturers' association of New York, which will be represented here by E. J. Mulholland, Chicago, chairman of the prize committee.

Winners of the second $1,000 prize contest will be announced Thursday, John R. Robinson, representing the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, said.

With a 1944 goal of 60 million pounds, Chicago pupils have amassed 35 million pounds of waste paper in the first four months of the campaign.

TRUTH SERVICE DEPENDABILITY — CHICAGO COAL MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION

COKE AND EASTERN COALS RESTRICTED by Government Directive!

Demands for coal to power America's war effort have now grown far beyond the capacity of some of our mining fields, due chiefly to an increasing shortage of manpower.

Therefore to assure all coal users a fair, equitable share of available coal supplies during the 1944-45 heating season, the Solid Fuels Administration for War has announced two directives, known as "Regulation No. 17" and "Regulation No. 21", controlling the distribution of coal through the nation's retail dealers.

HERE'S HOW IT AFFECTS YOU

Eastern Coal and Coke

"Regulation No. 21" applies to certain "scarcer" fuels, and provides strict regulation of purchases. These fuels include coke in all sizes; Pocahontas lump, egg, stove, pea, buckwheat, mine run, briquettes and packaged fuel; Eastern Kentucky and West Virginia high-volatile lump, egg, stove and nut.

Under the terms of this regulation no consumer may receive from all sources combined, up to October 1, more than 75 percent of the consumer's annual requirement—less supplies in his possession April 1, 1944, and any delivered since then.

Anthracite (HARD COAL)

"Regulation No. 17" applies to anthracite, or hard coal, which is also one of the "scarcer" fuels. Under the terms of this regulation, all sizes are restricted in the same manner as the coals listed above, with the exception that no consumer may receive, up to October 1, more than 50 percent of his annual requirement. Each anthracite user must file with his coal merchant a signed declaration of his requirement up to March 31, 1945.

Other Coal—TO MAKE UP 100% OF REQUIREMENTS

"Alternative" coals, such as those produced in Illinois, Indiana and Western Kentucky are more plentiful in the Chicago area because of their convenient location. These coals should be used to make up the additional portion of coal required for the year. If you burn eastern coal or coke, "alternative" coals should make up at least 25 percent of your order. Our government urges that these alternative coals, as well as your portion of the "scarcer" fuels, be put into your bins during the spring and summer months.

Annual purchases of all types of coal—including both the "scarcer" and "alternative" coals—are definitely limited by government directive to absolute requirements for the period from April 1, 1944 to March 31, 1945.

Purpose of Regulations

Our government naturally wishes every coal user to obtain 100% of his requirements during the 1944-45 season.

The demand for the "scarcer" coals is so great, however, that it will be impossible to give all consumers their full requirements of these fuels. Therefore regulating distribution was considered necessary to assure each user a fair share.

To make up the "deficits" of these "scarcer" coals, three recommendations are urgently advised by the government, namely:

1 That Illinois, Indiana and Western Kentucky coals be accepted by both domestic and industrial consumers for the unobtainable portions of "scarcer" fuels.

2 That delivery of as much coal as possible be made during the summer months.

3 That all coal mines, in all districts, produce as much coal as possible during the summer months.

Wholehearted, patriotic co-operation of all coal users is essential in making these regulations accomplish the purpose for which they were designed. Complying with the terms will help you, your neighbors and your country as a whole. And complying with the suggestions of your coal merchant wherever possible will help him do his part in keeping the program running smoothly.

NAPOLEON III. APPEARS ON CHICAGO AV.

In the Ward affair Mr. Roosevelt had the appearance of a man who had reached a position long sought, gradually approached, and at last confidently occupied. Eleven years' tenure in office have given the incumbent a sense of unquestionable authority. The military pistols dressing up this affair of state needed the Argentine or Bolivian scene or the Paris boulevards. Then the spirit and the paraphernalia would have been wholly consonant and the effect, which Chicago av. made seem unreal, would have been complete.

Americans, often warned that they could be protected against any one but themselves, may have wondered how the dictatorial man could arrive and prevail against the many defenses erected against him. They were told what sort of man he would be. The methods he would use were explained. They thought they would never raise that man to the chief magistracy, that he would never have the ambitions described or be able to make them plausible and expedient in any circumstances in which the nation might find itself. They now have only to review three terms in the White House.

In nearly every respect the American political system is designed to prevent the growth of a personal autocracy. The people thought their governmental forms were proof against such a development. The conviction was so strong that altho limitation of tenure was often proposed and occasionally adopted by one house or the other as a constitutional amendment to be submitted, usage and long observed good faith seemed sufficient protections. In the tenure there was a weakness which would be only theoretical until an executive wished to make a test of it in conditions he thought were favorable. Mr. Roosevelt was the man who was to try it.

The two party system makes the seemingly difficult republican form of government really work. It also, as we now observe, gives the dangerously ambitious man an instrument for his purpose. Peoples who try a republic with many political blocs fail in their effort. Public opinion with so little general agreement is too flimsy a foundation. A country must be able to state its political differences in simpler and less scattering or shattering terms. Its general agreements must be broad, its disagreements conciliable, and its decisions accepted.

Our political party system has been a satisfactory method for the expression of opinion and it has been solid and substantial enough to carry thru civil and foreign wars without a break in the process, to provide continuity of government by the governed thru periods of excitement, and to allow the blowing off of steam. At the same time, as we now have illustrated, it offers advantages to the disregardful man who is unrestrained by the country's usages and customary law, who is favored by unusual conditions, and who is shrewd enough to advance on what he wants without raising general alarm at any particular step or allowing his ultimate purposes to be detected.

Such a man, as we see, can take possession of a major political party. Mr. Roosevelt has reduced the Democratic party to political poverty. In 11 years of place giving, favors, and subsidy endowments he has made the coattails the party standard. Democratic opposition to the fourth term and indefinite tenure must go outside the party organization. A man like Sen. Byrd of Virginia would not expect support in the national convention and might not get attention. A man like Sen. Barkley of Kentucky may be mad for a moment, but he snaps back into the ranks, proving that he was moved by pique and not by principle. The pauper condition of the party is revealed in its acknowledged lack of any other candidate who would be considered by the convention. Mr. Roosevelt has stifled natural competition about as effectively as Stalin did in Russia, proving that it can be done. His record proves that he intended to do it.

Under his tutelage men who profess heart throbs for humanity make common cause with machine politicians whose profession is with the pocketbook. Mr. Roosevelt has known how to attract the self-interest of many varieties of men and how to create situations favorable to a caterer to personal and partisan advantage. He knew how to turn a depression into a panic and use it to obtain many new arbitrary powers. When the panic subsided back into the depression he knew how to preserve hard times as an advantage, creating politically dependent classes. He encouraged revolutionary attacks on private management and plant property. He arranged the stage for the doctrine that private capitalism had flowered and decayed, forcing in the era of government finance.

Communists were attracted to him like bees to a honey flower. They were not repelled. When the depression had served for two terms he looked abroad for the third and sought involvement in foreign affairs to gain the semblance of a war time indispensability. His admirers will deny that he did these things. Nevertheless the things were done and he was the beneficiary.

A dictatorial man who has brought one of the great parties to his heel has become the threat to the republican form of government which overconfident Americans thought could not appear on the scene. The fact that he needn't even ask for the fourth nomination is proof that he is here. He has arrived by seizing a party and by trying gradually to accustom people to a change of view, hoping that familiarity would breed indifference.

This is not Napoleon I. The intellectual equipment is not there. It is Napoleon III.

THE HELPING HAND.

A group of Chicago candy manufacturers met here a week or so ago to see what they could do about getting enough corn sirup to continue making candy. The corn processing factories which make the sirup have been unable to get an adequate supply of corn from farmers at present ceiling prices and have been operating almost on a day to day basis. Corn sirup has become a very scarce commodity.

The army is the largest single buyer of candy. When a group of army officers from the Jersey City quartermaster depot walked into the meeting of the candy makers here the manufacturers probably thought that the federal government was going to help them get the sirup they need to fill army orders. Instead the army men dumped orders on the table calling for 250 million additional nickel candy bars to be delivered by June 30. Then they walked out, their faces wreathed in smiles.

The confectioners were left to figure out how they can make 250 million more candy bars than their quotas called for without enough sirup to fill their present orders. No wonder business men grow a little choleric when the New Dealers start talking about "government aid."

HITLER AND THE GERMAN PEOPLE.

Adolf Hitler at 55 was silent. Mr. Goebbels did the speaking honors for the anniversary. If the fuehrer had whipped himself up for an oration he could not have gone over much of the old ground. Events have crowded him off his most familiar premises and away from his best liked promises. The crusade against bolshevism is in reverse. The master race theory is war worn. The war has found its way into Germany. Anxiety has taken the place of confidence. The time is coming when Hitler will pass from the judgment of his contemporaries to the judgment of history which may have trouble in making his era comprehensible.

The problem is not stated exclusively in the moral deficiencies and mental abnormalities of one man, but rather in the hallucinations he inspired in a great nation once notable for its intellectual achievements. Explanations are found in national character and philosophy, in economic conditions, and in the experiences of the Germans with other peoples in the last fifty or sixty years. Causes are sought in German education, lack of political experience, love of authority, submissiveness, combativeness, sense of inferiority and consequent assertiveness, and in other attributes without regard for coherence or consistency.

Other nations at other times have had preeminence in bad repute. The French had incorrigibility attached to them. Spain was the name of a terror, and perfidious Albion stated the case against England. Analogies and historic parallels do not help much to explain present day Germany in its relation to the man who was not even a citizen when he undertook to run for president of the German republic. His career on the way up was one of ruffian recruitment and armed brawls, not altogether remarkable in a country in which assassination was used as a political expedient and partisan bands were uniformed, armed, and tolerated. Nevertheless, when Hitler took over as chancellor he presented himself before Hindenburg, the infirm president, as rightful claimant of the place, being head of the most numerous political party.

What is difficult to understand is the apparent indorsement of the program of fury, intolerance, callousness, and servitude preached by a man who is obviously on queer street at least part of the time. We as Americans could not well pretend ignorance of our own erratic and violent public movements. Offensive, silly, eccentric, intemperate, and other varieties of agitators have raised followings from time to time and have undertaken to poison the public mind. Few eras have been without them.

Men of consequence have trespassed against reason in appeals to prejudice and animosity. Lesser men have been flagrant offenders and have scandalized the country's common sense. Premeditated mob action and lynchings have been a reproach. The revival of the Ku Klux Klan in 1915 was an unwholesome social phenomenon. We know enough about these sporadic exhibitions of low mentality and loose morality to have a very vivid idea of what it means in Germany to have a whole country governed by the undisputed will of a grand imperial wizard and to have his ravings converted into coldly calculated acts.

It would be inconsistent with American sentiments to reflect upon Hitler's unpretentious origins. What would be known among his own people as lowly birth and mean conditions would add to his achievements if they had been as honorable as they were conspicuous. Our verdict against him does not hold him guilty of the long climb from inconsequentiality and apparent incompetence. American opinion would have no use for an indictment which set forth that a house painter had become chancellor and head of the German nation. He never was a house painter. Possibly if he had been a good one in 1914 he might be one now. Without a gift he wanted to be what he couldn't be—a gifted artist. That, again, might have satisfied him. It was an odd frustration which seems to have led to the Nazi party, the degeneration of Germany, and the demoralization of Europe.

It may be that when Hitler has been defeated and overthrown, when all the living culprits of the party are in custody, and when any Germans who want freedom of speech and opinion have it again we shall learn more of the fascination the ranting Austrian exercised on the masses which followed him thru all his excesses as thru a delirium.

GOOSE ISLAND REVERIE.

After a Sunday afternoon stroll over the large hunk of industrialism completely surrounded by water which Chicago calls Goose Island, we decided to consult the historians and learn how it got that way. But there seems to be no easy route into the heart of its mystery. The baffling tables of contents of the three ponderous volumes edited and published by A. T. Andreas provide no clews. The indexing of the two volumes by Bessie Louise Pierce lead us nowhere. Ditto for the single volume by Lloyd Lewis and Henry Justin Smith. Apparently local historians are weak on geography.

* * *

Harry Hansen's "The Chicago," in "The Rivers of America" series, gives about four anecdotal pages to Goose Island, but does not gratify our curiosity. He attributes the north branch canal, which created the island, to the influence of William B. Ogden, Chicago's first mayor, who controled some of this real estate in the 1850's. . . . "He used its clay for a brickmaking enterprise. The clay pits, the low land, and the bulge [caused by a meander in the river's course] suggested a canal cutting off the neck and converting it into an island." . . . But why? To make more water frontage for factories, we suspect.

* * *

Its official but obsolete name is Ogden Island. You will not find this or its generally accepted name on any map. Nevertheless, in Chicago tradition the memory of the island's original inhabitants, Irish cottagers who were great folk for raising geese, is kept green.

* * *

The old island could provide feeding ground for geese even now, in spite of the machine age. Its industrial glory has passed, and there is much open land in its mile-or-more stretch from North to Chicago avenues. It is an excellent place for distant views of Chicago's loftier civilization to the east and south. To the west, the towers and steeples of Polish churches along Noble street—St. Stanislaus, Holy Trinity, and St. Boniface—make a picturesque skyline.

* * *

The working day population of Goose Island is large, but after dark it is Chicago's emptiest area. When the true Goose Islanders prepare for bed, perhaps to dream of geese waddling in green back yards, they represent a political strength of 125 votes.

SONNET IN GREEN.

The thin-etched shapes of naked winter boughs
Kindle to emerald fire, as a sudden sheen
Of foliage runs in lyrical carouse
From trunk to topmost twig, all sparkling-green.
Green in the bordering bushes, green on the lawns,
Green over field and parkland, slope and hill—
Out from the light and the flight of its beauty spawns
New as the Spring that first set Eden a-thrill,
Color of courage, scattering with your scorn
The old, cold hues of hesitance and grief,
Promise and hope are the messengers of morn
You breed in every reappearing leaf;
And ah, how grateful for these gladdening days
We go again our April-brightened ways!

Small Boys Blowing Bubbles.

Sometimes I wonder what has happened to the charming custom of blowing soap bubbles.

My oldest brother and I would put on our old clothes, take clay pipes and a pan of suds. We would each sit on a kitchen chair and place the pan of suds between us on another chair, and beside us would be an open window, for it was warm spring. The sun shone brightly thru the window.

Now we would dip our pipes upside down into the soapsuds, place the stems in our mouths, and blow gently. At once there would be a small bubble. We would blow gently again and again, until the soap bubble was as large as an orange, and the sunlight shone in the bubble in purple and gold, and upon the little nest of small bubbles at the bottom of the large one. We would blow and blow to see how large it would grow, then snap it off the pipe bowl and watch it drift lazily downward. Sometimes it landed on one's clothing, only to burst in a miniature shower, and that is why we wore our old clothing.

Brother would sometimes vary the custom by "taking a drag" from his corncob pipe, holding the smoke in his mouth, and blowing it thru the clap pipe into the bubble. He would blow gently, gently, until the bubble increased to unbelievable proportions. Then he would stand upon his chair, hold the pipe aloft, snap off the bubble by waving the pipe, and blow it gently toward the ceiling.

It floated upward until it burst and filled the air with pipe smoke, mist, and dreams, which sparkled purple and gold in the sunlight; dreams which sparkle now, of him who blew for me soap bubbles when I was small and he was taller.

Now I am taller, but I do not see him.

WE BEG TO DIFFER.

("That is what dandelions are, sunlight and moonbeams."—Roy Engel, the Line, 4-22.)

Bright dandelions in memory's musing
Likened to sunlight and moonbeams—O, boy!
Not a description in words of my choosing,
Nothing to cherish, no wellspring of joy.

Only a city apartment house dweller
Could entertain such a fantastic thought.
Home owners know them as villainous queller
Of hopes for a lawn that's a rare beauty spot.

Moonbeams and sunlight? Nix, try again, brother;
Not in the language we call 'em, by heck.
Out in the suburbs, a menace to smother,
Simply a pest and a pain in the neck.

Warren Estey.

Regarding houses that are a stone's throw from the station: I met the realtor at the station, and we walked, and walked, and walked. Finally he said, "There! Isn't she a beauty?" I told him: "She sure is. Now that I've seen the house, show me the so-and-so who threw the stone." Foxy.

G. V. Dexter calls this column's attention to the possibility of changing the name of Bangs Lake at Wauconda, Ill., to Veronica Lake.

These are the days when the stout fellows who have suffered thru the winter in summer underwear can gloat, "I told you so."

BLIND SACS ON THE COLON WALL.

MANY of us are possessors of tiny outpocketings [diverticula] somewhere along the large bowel. These lesions occur frequently in that segment of the intestinal tube where it makes the S turn [the sigmoid] to enter the rectum. The bulges vary in size from a pinhead to a small marble.

For the most part, they are not producers of symptoms. We may go thru life without the slightest awareness that we own them. They may be discovered, however, in the course of a routine X-ray examination. When they are numerous we call the condition "diverticulosis." Only when they are inflamed do we use the term "diverticulitis."

What is responsible for their formation? Apparently there are weak spots in the bowel wall, chiefly in areas where blood vessels pass thru. If too much pressure is exerted from within we can understand how one of these figurative blisters can be acquired.

Wherein lies the danger? It is not very great. But occasionally—if bacteria become active—one of these sacs will swell shut, whereupon a small abscess may develop. It is well, therefore, to make certain that drainage from the intestinal tube is not blocked by constipation. After all, this is merely a precaution which every normal person should observe. Furthermore, some care may be exercised not to permit the colon to become overfilled and thus overstretched. The chances are that regular habits, with one or two natural stools daily, will act as a preventive.

Fortunately, we have X-ray films which will tell us rather accurately what is going on. By means of a barium enema it is possible to detect the existence of these pouches. If they are bothersome, treatment is in order. We will know soon enough with the advent of abdominal cramps, which seem to center in the rectum. In addition, the stools will probably show the presence of blood.

An important part of the healing program includes rectal irrigations which will be of real value, particularly if the trouble is low down. The administration of relaxing drugs is usually advised as well as heat by means of hot packs over the colon.

Many an acute episode has been terminated abruptly thru the use of sulfasuxidine. This is the remedy of choice as it has a powerful effect upon the bacteria which inhabit the intestine.

If irritation is accompanied by fever the sufferer must be put to bed. We must then regard the situation as requiring expert management. Such a seizure may be likened to appendicitis. If the white blood cells continue to increase in number, and should inflammation appear to be spreading, skilled surgery may be demanded. But this will be needed only when a true abscess has formed or when rupture has occurred into the peritoneal cavity. After a period of watchful waiting, during which the "gathering" becomes walled off, drainage will be necessary. Fortunately, such complications are rare.

On the whole, we can look upon these affairs as relatively harmless altho they are not to be trifled with. A protective diet will include but little roughage. Buttermilk may be employed, as lactic acid organisms are useful in destroying many types of germs which lead to fermentation. If the amount of acid in the gastric juice is substandard, this substance may be taken by mouth.

Finally, a short course, two or three times a year, of the sulfa compound referred to will serve to slow down the tendency to infection.

PLASMA NOT TYPED.

Mrs. A. K. writes: You recently said that it is not necessary to type plasma. This confuses me as I always understood that it had to match the type as indicated on the soldier's dog tag. Will you explain further?

REPLY.

When transfusions are given, the blood must be matched accurately. Whole blood contains corpuscles as well as the fluid portion. Plasma is the liquid minus the cells and may be administered to any one without danger.

BUTTER.

O. N. writes: What is the difference between oleomargarine and butter?

REPLY.

Butter is prepared from the fat contained in cow's milk. Oleomargarine is a mixture of natural fats and oils. The caloric values of the two are approximately equal. Both are wholesome. The substitute is not as rich in vitamins as butter, but it is fortified with these food accessories.

IN LIEU OF MILK.

F. B. writes: In your article on children who cannot drink milk, you said that substitute foods may be given. What are they?

REPLY.

Leafy vegetables, particularly greens, will supply calcium and other minerals. Meats, including fish, fowl, and eggs, will wholly satisfy the protein and fat requirements. These two food groups, with root vegetables, fruits, and cereals will meet vitamin demands.

IF CAREFULLY DONE.

A. D. writes: Can a diabetic have his teeth pulled and a denture put in?

REPLY.

Yes, if the malady is under complete control. The physician will coöperate with your dentist.

My Bodkin, Marie!

Today's little homily deals with the needlecraft division of the United States treasury department. You didn't know there was one? My dears, it's just too, too exciting.

No matter what you think, the needlecraft division of the United States treasury department is exactly what its name indicates. It has no interest in embroidering dollar bills, or even in patching an old one to make it wear longer, altho it would be nice if it did get around to that in time, nor has it found any means to run up a seam in the national debt on your sewing machine. No, none of that. The treasury department's needlecraft division is interested solely in ladies' fashions.

The first issue of the treasury's Needlecraft News sits on this desk today. It shows seven Powers' models and one opera singer wearing the latest treasury department fashions. The first picture carries the reasonable caption: "Light heads are the fashion for spring and summer." [If you don't understand that, you soon will.] The next, depicting a sleeveless, backless shift, says: "Newest fashion news is the sleeveless, backless that is both attractive and versatile. Wear it for sports and suntanning, then add a perky matching bolero for street wear. Especially vivid in a tropical green or red, you might make several in various colors."

It goes on like that—a "smart spring symphony in pale green," a "crisp two-piece gingham, right for town or country," a "breezy rayon print of yellow, gray, and white," some snappy denim overalls, the slack suit "that every well rounded wardrobe must contain," and then—the pinafore. The pinafore, which is as old as Mrs. Noah, is the treasury department's real discovery of the war. A singer poses in one. Of her the lyrical treasury department writers say: "The young American concert-opera star Marjory Hess has her victory garden rambling over this colorful pinafore apron. It is a lifesaver for your party dresses and fun to make, even for a beginner. Miss Hess suggests making several aprons because then, with a minimum of time and effort, you will save enough money to buy extra war bonds and stamps."

The treasury department sent all this, complete with reproductory mats, so that it all could have been reproduced in this newspaper. Wouldn't that have been wonderful? It is sent to all newspapers. Don't mind the white paper shortage, kiddies. Tell the women of the United States, most of whom were born with a needle in one hand and a sewing machine treadle under one foot, that they will save money by making their own clothes. The treasury department has discovered that clothes can be made with paper patterns, a neat trick that Elijah Butterick discovered in 1879 and made available to women of all nations. Paper patterns may have just arrived in Washington, but they've been floating around the rest of the country a good 60 years or more. And any one who has been into what is known as the yard goods department of any dry goods store in the last four years knows that any woman who can move a hand is sewing these days and has been for some time. Now, who is crazy? With one breath the treasury department, the OPA, the WPB, the ZBQ, and the President exhort the public not to buy, not to spend money, not to hasten inflation. With the other, that flying buttress of our national debt, the treasury department, urges women to make pinafores, a lot of them, to make a backless dress "in several colors," to make that smart spring symphony in pale green with unpressed pleats and a softly draped neckline, and, whatever they do, by no means to overlook the slack suit. It is a must item.

Needle in a haystack? It's yours if you can find it, and every bit as easy to find as an unused sewing machine. If you can't clip your coupons, pink your seams and look for the dropped stitch in the national budget. And if you can't add, use our treasury department fashions. It's the people's war. See what we mean?

"THE ONLY SUPREME POWER."

Crawfordsville, Ind., April 28.—It may be well to recall an excerpt from the opinion of Mr. Justice Miller in the historic Arlington Cemetery case:

"No man in this country is so high that he is above the law. No officer of the law may set that law at defiance with impunity. All the officers of the government, from the highest to the lowest, are creatures of the law and are bound to obey it. It is the only supreme power in our system of government, and every man who, by accepting office, participates in its functions, is only the more strongly bound to submit to that supremacy, and to observe the limitations which it imposes upon the exercise of the authority which it gives.

"Courts of justice are established not only to decide upon the controverted rights of the citizens as against each other, but also upon rights in controversy between them and the government, and the docket of this court is crowded with controversies of the latter class.

"Shall it be said, in the face of all this, and of the acknowledged right of the judiciary to decide in proper cases, statutes which have been passed by both branches of congress and approved by the President, to be unconstitutional, that the courts cannot give remedy when the citizen has been deprived of his property by force, his estate seized and converted to the use of the government without any lawful authority, without any process of law and without any compensation, because the President has ordered it and his officers are in possession?

"If such be the law of this country, it sanctions a tyranny which has no existence in the monarchies of Europe, nor in any other government which has a just claim to well regulated liberty and the protection of personal rights."

WANTS AN ELECTION.

Chicago, April 28.—As an employee of Montgomery Ward I cannot see how or why the WLB and then the administration should take the stand they have in this battle between the CIO and the company. At least they could have waited and given us, the employes, a chance to vote on what we want before invading the plant? Or don't we, the employes, have anything to say in the matter? Those who want to be in the union have their right to do so; but let's have an election. That will settle the question once and for all. M. M.

THE WARD SALIENT.

Chicago, April 28.—On the back page of today's Tribune is a picture of troops alighting from trucks, and another showing troops marching thru the halls of Montgomery Ward & Co., all dressed for battle with rifles in hand. Adjoining these pictures is one of our boys swarming onto the beach at Tanahmerah bay, Dutch New Guinea. What a contrast! I am sending these pictures to my son in Italy. I know they will all be of interest to him.

DISGUSTED.

F. D. R.'S BUSINESS EXPERIENCE.

Chicago, April 27.—Who says F. D. R. couldn't run a business? Wasn't he the chief of the greatest business ever conducted? How about WPA—cost 13½ billions—salaries $55 a month? Union papers please copy. A. H. G.

PRE-NOMINATION CABINET.

Chicago, April 26.—I read in an article a few nights ago that Gov. Dewey has already selected part of his cabinet in case he is elected. That really is counting chickens before they are hatched, and it is just possible that the great middle west may have something to say about the nomination and election of Dewey. It is about time that he forgot about being a prima donna and glamor boy and declare himself. The biggest joke of the above mentioned article was the fact that Gov. Stassen has been selected for secretary of the navy. Are people to understand that Stassen's meager experience has fitted him for that job?

A DAILY READER.

WANTS GOV. GREEN TO ACT.

Chicago, April 28.—In God's name what goes on here in our midst when a private enterprise is so deliberately and ruthlessly manhandled and molested, seized and taken over, if you please, by an enraged elected public official [a public servant] who apparently has water up his nose in connection with some personal grudge or difference of opinion held with the chief executive of the private enterprise?

How long will our governor tolerate such procedure in Illinois wherein private industry is literally taken apart, so to speak, and without due process of law? HARVE BADGEROW.

WHY UNIONS?

Chicago, April 27.—Will some one please advise me—why do we need labor unions now? The government has put a ceiling on wages; therefore, the unions are not necessarily needed—only to collect dues from wages, and to cause unrest, and, of course, to afford enough cash for labor leaders to maintain winter homes in Florida and summer homes in the north woods—and to contribute large sums of money to political parties that will agree to support their personal radical ideas, not the ideas of the rank and file.

AN EMPLOYEE.

THE BATTLE COMES IN NOVEMBER.

Madison, Wis., April 28.—If private property, not used in the war effort, can be taken over by the New Deal at any time, just to pay for a few votes, it is time we stop fighting around the world and start fighting for liberty in our own country. P. M.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

NO REASON TO DOUBT.

Chicago Heights, April 21.—I inherited a piece of property and am informed by the attorney who handled the estate that it is not necessary to change the deed to my name. He suggested that this can be done if and when the property is sold. This property in all probability will not be sold for years, and I wonder whether or not it is advisable to have it remain in the name of the deceased person rather than have it changed to my name. M. Z. B.

You state no facts which would justify us in disagreeing with your attorney. You should recognize that it is to his self-interest to have you spend money on legal services now and the fact that his advice is against his self-interest is a reason for respecting it.

MILITARY RITES HELD FOR KNOX IN WASHINGTON

Capital Dignitaries Take Part in Funeral.

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—The body of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox was buried today in Arlington National cemetery.

A solemn cortege wound its way thru the city's streets to the cemetery on the tree dotted slopes of the hills of nearby Virginia after funeral services had been held at the Mount Pleasant Congregational church.

The casket, flag draped, was carried on an artillery caisson drawn by white horses. A navy band, followed by detachments of sailors, marines, WAVES, and women marines marched behind it.

Thousands Watch Procession.

Around the world, navy men also held services for Knox. Only exceptions were the ships that were in actual battle with the enemy or carrying out emergency missions. In the British and Canadian fleets, as well, all flags were at half mast on orders from the admiralty.

Thousands of Washingtonians watched from the street curbs as the procession passed.

Behind the naval forces were motor cars containing high dignitaries from military and civilian life.

Other services were held simultaneously by navy employes in several section of the city.

Offices of Navy Closed.

Work in the navy department temporarily ceased as Knox was honored for his career not only as secretary of the navy but also as a newspaper man and executive.

President Roosevelt, still in seclusion in the south to recuperate from an attack of bronchitis, was represented at the funeral by Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. John Boettiger, their daughter, as well as by several official aides.

High military and navy officials, government executives and diplomats were in attendance at the funeral, including British Ambassador Halifax; Dr. Wei Tao-ming, the Chinese ambassador, and Andrei A. Gromyko, the Russian ambassador.

Hold London Service.

LONDON, May 1 (AP).—High ranking military leaders and diplomats of allied nations joined United States navy sailors and marines at St. Mary's church today in a morning memorial service for Navy Secy. Frank Knox.

United States Ambassador Winant and Adm. Harold R. Stark, commander of the United States fleet in European waters, were among the American group at the ceremony.

The service was conducted by Capt. Frank Lash, U. S. N., and Lt. Cmdr. Richard Williams, U. S. N. R., navy chaplains, and by the Rev. K. H. Thornycraft, vicar of St. Mary's. Two American bluejackets were soloist and organist at the tribute. They were Harvey Waugh of St. Cloud, Minn., the soloist, and John Williams, the organist.

HONOR KNOX AT GREAT LAKES.

Tribute to the late Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, was paid yesterday at memorial services at the Great Lakes Naval Training center, by Rear Adm. Arthur S. Carpender, commandant of the 9th naval district. He pledged the naval service will carry on in its devotion to its country, and its assurance of victory, "and in tribute to our dead leader." The services, attended by naval personnel and civilian employes at the center, were held in Ross auditorium.

SHAW APPROVED FOR U. S. COURT BY SENATE BODY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 1.—The senate judiciary committee today decided unanimously to recommend confirmation by the senate of Elwyn R. Shaw of Freeport, Ill., as a federal judge in the northern Illinois district.

The committee report was made subject to the right of Sen. Langer [R., N. D.] to object to Shaw's confirmation when it reaches the senate floor. Langer, a member of the judiciary committee, was not at today's meeting. He previously had objected to Shaw's confirmation without further hearings.

If confirmed by the senate, Shaw will take the place on the federal bench made vacant by the death two years ago of Judge Charles E. Woodward of Ottawa, Ill. Altho the judgeship is in Chicago, it has been considered a downstate office.

Approval of the nomination was held up several weeks by the judiciary committee because of complaints by Illinois attorneys about his personal conduct while serving on the Illinois Supreme court.

MOTHER OF LATE 'KING OF HOBOS' DIES AT AGE 86

Mrs. Ida Middlesteder Reitman, 86, mother of the late Dr. Ben L. Reitman, physician, known as the "king of the hobos," died yesterday. Services will be held at 2 p. m. today in the chapel at 7726 S. Ashland av.

Mrs. Reitman had made her home, after her son's death in November, 1942, with Mrs. Brutus M. Reitman, 5214 Kenwood av., wife of a grandson, Lt. Reitman, a flyer, who died in January, 1943.

Survivors include eight grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

SANDUSKY VETO OVERRIDDEN IN CICERO BATTLE

Cicero's administrative system still remained in a muddle last night. During the regular town meeting, Henry Sandusky, new board president, vetoed two board measures. The board in turn voted to override his vetoes, but Sandusky refused to recognize the overriding vote.

The muddle traces to the recent election which gave the board five Republican members. Opposed are two Democrats and Sandusky, a Democrat.

Sandusky vetoed 126 dismissals and 14 new appointments voted by the Republican majority. Immediately the board voted 5 to 2 to override him. Sandusky announced "That's not enough votes," but when asked how many were needed, he replied, "I'm not saying." A legal test of his veto rights was planned.

Meanwhile, tho, one point of the dispute was cleared when Acting Police Chief Frank Machacek's resignation was accepted by a vote of 5 to 0, leaving Joseph S. Kral as sole claimant to the chief's job.

CORONER AWAITS AUTOPSY REPORT IN GIRL'S DEATH

Coroner E. P. Madison of Kankakee county yesterday postponed an inquest into the death in Manteno state hospital of Miss Helen Cittshuk, 18, until he receives a report from the Cook county coroner's toxicologist.

Miss Cittshuk, formerly of 5132 S Kedvale av., died five hours after attendants tried to arouse her from a sleep in which they found her in her ward. They said 54 sleeping powder capsules were missing from the medicine cabinet.

Attendants said the girl frequently had attempted to swallow pins and other articles.

Playful Boys Push Truck Down Incline; One Killed

Robert Lolowski, 10, of 821 Webster av., was fatally injured last night when he was crushed between a building and the back of a truck which he and several playmates pushed from its parking space at the rear of 2150 N. Halsted st. He was caught as the truck rolled down an incline. The boy died an hour later in St. Joseph's hospital.

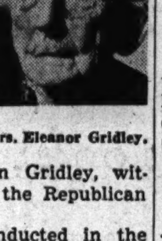
FUNERAL TODAY FOR WOMAN WHO SAW G. O. P. BORN

Services for Mrs. Eleanor Gridley, 98, lifelong Republican who died Saturday night in her home at 7156 Euclid av., will be held at 2 p. m. today in Jackson, Mich. Burial will be in the family lot in Mount Evergreen cemetery, which is situated near the spot where Mrs. Gridley, as a child of 8, and her father, the late Judge G. Thompson Gridley, witnessed the birth of the Republican party.



Mrs. Eleanor Gridley.

Services were conducted in the chapel at 1820 Michigan av. yesterday afternoon by the Rev. John W. Holland, Oak Park, minister of the WLS radio program, Little Brown Church of the Air, on which Mrs. Gridley had been the Lincoln day speaker for years. The Aaron Miner chapter of the D. A. R. participated in the services. Lawrence Veight, Bryn Mawr Community church, was soloist.

Active as a lecturer and regarded as a Lincoln authority, Mrs. Gridley lived with her daughter, Mrs. Queen Gridley Thomas. Survivors include five granddaughters, two grandsons, and five great-grandsons.

BELIEVE FLOOD DANGER PAST AS RIVERS RECEDE

St. Louis, Mo., May 1 (AP).—The Mississippi river was receding tonight from its highest flood crest at St. Louis since 1844—cheerful news for hundreds of farm residents forced out of their lowland homes.

Additional rainfall varying from half an inch at St. Louis to 3.8 inches in southwest Missouri was expected only to reduce the speed with which the river returned to normal.

The first company of Illinois Reserve militia returned home after a week of flood guard duty along the Illinois river at Peoria. The river's fall to 22.55 feet from a crest of 23.8 feet lessened the danger of levee seepage.

Also receding was the Missouri, which flooded 250,000 acres of St. Charles county, Mo.

JURY IN CAPITAL TODAY GETS CASE OF 'CALL GIRLS'

Washington, D. C., May 1 [Special].—The fate of the two alleged madames and five call girls in the Hopkins institute white slave trial waited still another day today when Judge Arthur Lederle dismissed the jury tonight and told it to report back tomorrow.

Both sides have rested in the case against the women accused of conspiring to transport girls for immoral purposes. Judge Lederle directed a verdict of not guilty be returned by the jury on two substantive indictments charging violation of the Mann act.

The jurors will be charged by the judge tomorrow morning, and then will deliberate on a verdict.

Opening argument was given the jurors—nine men and three women—by Prosecutor John Fihelly, who charged the Hopkins institute and the women defendants were part of "a gigantic commercialized white slave racket." He said Billie White and Billie Graham, alleged to be madames, were more guilty than the call girls.

QUIET MOVING DAY SETS NEW CHICAGO RECORD

Yesterday was the quietest May 1 moving day in Chicago history, because there was no place to move, real estate agents and the Movers' Association of Chicago reported.

Realtors said there was almost 100 per cent occupancy of dwellings in the city, and government rent ceilings had put a stop to apartment bargain hunting.

"In one way, it is lucky the day has been quiet," said Daniel Healy, secretary of the movers' association. "Moving concerns do not have enough men to meet a big demand."

Art Institute's Antiquarians Will Give Tea

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Antiquarians of the Art institute, whose exclusive little gatherings usually are shielded from publicity, are deep in plans for their party of the year—an "at home" Friday to meet Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, and trustees and governing members of the Art institute, which Mr. McCormick heads as president.

Guests are being invited to drop in between 3:30 and 5:30 p. m. to gallery L-2, a section of the decorative arts department devoted to early American furniture, where a simple tea will be served at 4 p. m. If weather permits, McKinlock court will be open for outdoor strolls around the Milles fountain.

Among the wives of trustees who will be pouring are Mrs. Lester Armour, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Max Epstein, Mrs. Charles F. Glore, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Everett D. Graff, Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill, Mrs. John A. Holabird, Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, Mrs. Walter B. Smith, and Mrs. Charles H. Worcester.

After tea the staff of the decorative arts department, including its curator, Meyric Rogers, and assistant curator in charge of textiles, Miss Mildred Davison; Miss Edna Johnson, and Dr. Oswald Goetz will guide guests to recent acquisitions and instalments. Mrs. McCormick, appropriately enough, is treasurer of the Antiquarians, whose other officers are Mrs. Phillip Miller, president; Mrs. Clive Runnells, vice president, and Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, secretary.

Wedding News.

The marriage of Miss Julia Louise Adams to Lt. Henry Bartholomay III. May 12 in the Episcopal church in Roswell, N. M., will take a number of members of the two large Chicago clans to the southwest. Going to Roswell with the bride will be her mother, Mrs. Charles True Adams; her younger brother, John Lee Adams, and their grandmother, Mrs. Samuel Adams. Miss Adams' other brother, Samuel II., will miss the ceremony as he is unable to obtain leave from Great Lakes.

Representing the Bartholomay family will be the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Bartholomay; his grandmother, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay; his aunt, Mrs. Bartholomay Chapin, and an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Graves. Also present will be Miss Claudia Garesché of New York City and Capt. and Mrs. John Lee Mahin, who are going from California so that Capt. Mahin may give his niece in marriage to the young army air force officer.

The bride's mother plans to move to 1200 Lake Shore dr. about June 1.

Engagement News.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Rehm Schmidt of E. Pearson st. announce the engagement of Mrs. Schmidt's daughter, Miss Gina Safford, to Hugo Adams Terrazas of La Paz, Bolivia. Miss Safford and her fiancé met while studying at Northwestern university, for which she prepared at the Girls' Latin school. At present Mr. Terrazas is in Bolivia, where he and Miss Safford will live following their marriage here in July.

Mrs. Louise Osborne Rowe of Astor st. announces the engagement of her daughter, Janet, to Sgt. Robert John Talamine of the marines. Miss Rowe, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Elliott of the Drake Towers, attended the Girls' Latin school. Her fiancé was a student at Jamaica Technical institute on Long Island when he entered the marines. For service in the battles of Midway, Guadalcanal, and New Hebrides he holds two Presidential unit citations. At present he is stationed at El Centro, Cal., and the date of the wedding depends on his orders.

Mr. and Mrs. John Heath Wood of Greenwood av. announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty Heath, to Lt. James E. Anderson of the army air forces, son of Mrs. E. Malcolm Anderson of A-Bar-A ranch, Medina, Tex., formerly of Chicago. Miss Wood, a graduate of the Faulkner School for Girls, attended Bennett Junior college and Rockford college. Her fiancé prepared for Brown university at the Harvard School for Boys.

News of Births.

Mrs. James M. Hopkins has gone east to greet her new grandchild, the third child of the junior Charles S. Deweys, born Saturday in Far Hills, N. J. The baby has a brother and sister, Kenneth and Ariel. Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Sr. are their paternal grandparents.

Word has been sent to Pvt. Werner Pese, stationed somewhere in England, of the birth of his daughter, Eleanor, April 27 in Passavant hospital. During her husband's absence Mrs. Pese has been staying with her parents, the Walther Buchens, in Winnetka.

In Quonset, R. I., Lt. Comdr. Robert M. Nelson learned of the birth of his new daughter Friday in the Evanston hospital. The baby, who has been named Diane Averill, and her 3 year old brother, Robert Jr., are grandchildren of the Averill Tildens of Winnetka and of the Charles H. Nelsons of Evanston.

Cut This Out and Save It as a Practical Guide to Rationing

Here Are Recipes for Some of Items on Current Menus

Following are recipes for some of the dishes included on Mary Meade's ration budget menus this week:

Barbecued Sausage Rolls—Fry 12 link sausages until about half done. Make 1 recipe baking powder biscuit dough [using 2 cups flour], roll out and cut into 12 rectangular pieces. Wrap each link in dough; bake at 450 degrees 15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot with sauce made as follows: Cook 1 small chopped onion in 2 tablespoons fat until tender. Add 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, ½ cup catsup, 2 teaspoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1½ tablespoons prepared mustard, ¾ cup bouillon or water; simmer 15 minutes or until fairly thick. Serve hot.

Lamb Curry—Cut 1½ lbs. lamb shoulder into 1 inch cubes. Cover with water; add 1½ teaspoons salt. Bring to a boil, turn burner low, and simmer about 1 hour. Cook 1 clove garlic and ½ cup diced celery in hot fat 5 minutes. Stir in 2 tablespoons flour mixed with ¾ tablespoon curry powder, add 2 small apples, chopped. Add to lamb, season to taste, simmer 20 minutes. Serve on hot rice.

Yeast Coffee Cake Ring—Beat together 1 cup cooled scalded milk, 1 cup bread flour, 1 cake yeast softened with 1 tablespoon sugar. Let rise until bubbly. Add mixture of ¼ cup fat and 3 tablespoons sugar creamed together. Add 1 beaten egg, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 to 2½ cups flour. Knead until elastic. Let rise in covered bowl until light. Roll out into rectangle, brush with melted fat, sprinkle with brown sugar, ½ cup chopped nuts, ½ cup chopped candied fruit or raisins. Roll up dough like jelly roll. Shape roll into ring on greased baking sheet, joining ends. Cut into ring with scissors, at 1 inch intervals. Turn out slices slightly on their sides. Let ring rise about 45 minutes. Bake 35 minutes at 350 degrees. Drip thin confectioners' sugar icing over ring while warm.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE.

Orange Lemon Pie.

1 baked pie shell [9-inch]
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1½ cups water
1¼ cups granulated sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
1 orange
1 lemon
1 tablespoon butter
¼ cup granulated sugar

Mix cornstarch to smooth paste with about ¼ cup of the water. Add remaining water, 1¼ cups sugar, and salt and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Transfer to top of double boiler and stir in beaten egg yolk. Cook 2 minutes over boiling water, stirring constantly. Add grated rinds and juices of orange and lemon. Stir in butter. Turn into baked pie shell and top with meringue made of stiffly beaten egg whites and the ¼ cup sugar. Brown lightly in moderate oven.

"The Lift that never lets you down"
The only difference between a good and poor figure often is a matter of a clever brassiere. In Perma☆Lift a miracle happens at the base of the bra-cup where a patented cushion inset softly lifts your bosom, holds that firm rounded contour, never becomes limp or lax through constant washing and wear. Tribune's 1944 Style Contest to Be Its Best

BY JUNE GESERICK.

THE TRIBUNE'S fifth annual American fashions contest promises to be outstanding in the history of the event, it was said yesterday by Mrs. Grace Pickering, fashion authority whose genius has been largely responsible for the expanding success of the competition from year to year. The 1944 contest closed at midnight yesterday.

"The entries show great originality, as well as chic and artistic ability," Mrs. Pickering said. "Some of the sketches are not merely fashion designs, but works of art in which great care is given to details of hats and gloves as well as the actual costume. This contest will be a big step in making Chicago the style center of the world."

Contest sketches, which have been arriving daily by the hundreds at competition headquarters, revealed yesterday that entrants had given careful attention to the contest's theme, "What Women Will Wear in War or Peace." A longer contest period this year made it possible for designers to give more time to their entries and to make them practical as well as beautiful.

Because the 1944 competition takes in a wider field of fashions than ever before, the prizes will be greater than those awarded in the previous contest. A grand prize of $2,000 will be given for first place, $1,000 for second, and $500 for third.

At least 30 sketches will be selected by a committee of fashion experts from among all entries. They will be awarded prizes of $50 each, and all of them will be eligible for the grand prizes. The designs will be made up into models at the expense of THE TRIBUNE and will be shown at the climax of the contest in the fall, when the nation's leading models will wear them at the annual American Fashions show in W-G-N's studio theater.

In the last four years, the annual contest has become the highlight of the year for ambitious amateurs and professional fashion designers. Some designers, now listed as "tops" in their profession, achieved their standing by winning prizes in TRIBUNE competitions. Winners have included school girls, salesmen, undertakers, service men, artists, dressmakers, and housewives. Others have been leading designers.

Looking over the stacks of entries already in contest headquarters, Mrs. Pickering predicted that all sketches are original and modern enough to fit into the style picture of 1945, whether the nation is at peace or still at war.

Foundation Granted Charter for Studies of Blood Diseases

The Hematology Research Foundation, 2920 Commonwealth av., yesterday was granted an Illinois not for profit charter to engage in scientific research of blood diseases and related medical problems.

Incorporators were listed as Dr. Raphael Isaacs, chief of the hematology research laboratory at Michael Reese hospital, where most of the foundation's work will be carried on; Mrs. Philip Marcus of the Commonwealth avenue address, and Mrs. Joseph Reader, 6151 N. Mozart st.

Dr. Isaacs, who is a noted authority on blood diseases, said the corporation will be backed by about 250 Chicago lay persons who are interested in finding a cure for such blood diseases as anemia and leukemia. He termed present methods of treatment "clumsy."

Black Faille's Return Evokes Patrician Era

BY REA SEEGER.

Stunning new black faille suits, coats, and ensembles revive the patrician qualities of elegance and distinction for all exacting women. They are the most beautiful clothes of the season. Beautifully detailed, made of handsome faille [long the most elegant of fabrics], such black beauties answer the query of what's dress parade for late spring and early summer. The short jacketed two-piece suits have long fitted sleeves and interesting details such as braid trimmed false pockets, coarse meshed lace to trim the front edges of the peplums, and dazzling white lace or embroidery contrast along the V neck lines. Most of them are two pieces to be worn as a dress costume.

Slim fitted coats are sleek and handsome, tailored with a sculptured precision to slenderize the body lines. Sleeves are long, and the silhouette flares around the lower hem. Both graciously curved collarless models and the crisp notched collar and lapel styles are offered. These coats are devoid of clutter and extra frills, making ideal summer coats for smart town wear, day or night. Three quarter length box coats are very smart and new when made of this interesting faille in dull sheened black. They swing loose and straight and are lined with effective black and white prints [more black than white] or with dull black. These, too, are slick two-purpose coats . . . doubling obligingly for day or night, with silks, or with summer sheers and with decorative cottons for dance dresses.

But the two-piece suits remain the tops in smart distinction for all dre..s parade occasions, whether they are soft dressmaker types with decorative braid or bows or white contrast, or with precise simple affairs with button accent as the only contrast.

Music Clubs' Cultural Aids Win Acclaim

BY KATHRYN LORING.

Notables in the Chicago music world paid tribute yesterday to the Illinois Federation of Music clubs for its encouragement of musicians thru its interest in youthful artists and support of deserving community musical enterprises. The occasion was the federation's fifth white breakfast in the La Salle hotel's grand ballroom, a highlight of the organization's statewide convention, which opened Sunday.

Among the speakers were Désiré Defauw, conductor of the Chicago symphony, who sat beside Mrs. Royden J. Keith, retiring president of the state federation; Rudolph Ganz, president of Chicago Musical college and conductor of the children's concerts with the New York Philharmonic orchestra; George Kuyper, new business manager of the Chicago Symphony orchestra; and Philip Maxwell, director of the annual Chicagoland Music festival sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Mr. Maxwell announced the date of this year's festival, Aug. 19, in Soldier's field.

Mrs. Keith, to whom a life membership in the national federation was presented in recognition of her service to the state group, also introduced Mrs. William Ragland [Edith Mason], Miss Doris Doe of the Metropolitan Opera association, Mrs. Ira McKinney of Springfield, immediate past president of the federation, and Lulu Jones Downing, who was piano accompanist for James Bradley-Griffin in his dramatic interpretation of "They Burned the Books."

Before Dr. Dudley Crafts Watson of the Art institute staff announced the winners of awards in the traditional table decoration contest, it was correctly predicted by those informally viewing the scene that the blue ribbon would go to the Chicago Woman's Musical club. This group's long white linen sheathed table was graced by two musical staffs of white wood, held upright in the manner of a miniature fence picketed with musical notes and flanked by flowering shrubs that resembled miniature apple trees. The second place award went to the Music Study club, for its radio décor, and third prize to the South Side Woman's chorus, also using a radio theme.

A new note this year was the massed choruses of white robed singers who opened the program with an impressive processional and the customary candle lighting ceremony in tribute to the founder, Mrs. Theodore Thomas.

The convention will close tomorrow with an election of officers. Mrs. Alma K. Anderson's nomination for the presidency is unopposed.

Woman's Club Officers and Board Will Meet

Officers and board members of the Chicago Woman's club will attend their first board meeting of the new club year at 10:30 a. m. today, with Mrs. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, who has been reëlected president, conducting. The recently named assisting corps of officers includes Mrs. Vinton E. Sisson and Mrs. Stanley Gibson, vice presidents; Mrs. Alexander Cowie and Mrs. Roy V. Thornton, secretaries, and Mrs. George W. Williams, treasurer.

On the Aisle

Kreisleriana.

Fritz Kreisler is 69 years old, and next July 17 he will appear on the radio for the first time in his life. Why did he suddenly succumb to persuasion? He says it is because his decision no longer can embarrass his beloved friend, Sergei Rachmaninoff. "Sergei and I," explains the violinist, "always did the same things. In the old days, for instance, if he was more popular in Vienna, say, than in Berlin, he wanted to go back to Berlin and fight it out with the audience. I worked the same way. This got to be a habit, and we went thru life, each more or less depending on the actions of the other. I had no objection to playing for the radio, but Sergei did, and I never wanted to embarrass him. But now Sergei is dead, and I make my radio début." One guess what concerto he has chosen. Right the first time—the Mendelssohn.

Unexpected Incognito.

After all the confusion about Saturday night's "Rigoletto," you can hardly blame the bewildered man who telephoned to ask, "If I didn't see 'Rigoletto,' what was it?" Not even Josephine Antoine who replaced Patrice Munsel as Gilda, knew she was singing incognito until the management presented apologies at the end of the performance. Miss Antoine had known about the substitution long enough to send east for her new costumes, but apparently this was not long enough to get correction slips from the printer, or to compose a suitable announcement to make from the stage.

Casting Notions.

Benny Rubin will play the Danny Kaye part when the revival of "Let's Face It" finally reaches Chicago. Mary Jane Walsh may be in it, too. . . . Katherine Dunham, whose "Tropical Revue" opens at the Blackstone next Monday, is wanted for a fall production of a Negro musical, "Meet Mr. Booji," about an African rain god come to earth. Phil Moore, who wrote it, also would like Lena Horne and Louis Armstrong for the cast. . . . Remember Eddie Cantor's play project, "Brown Derby," described as a true story of Hollywood? He wants Adolphe Menjou to play the head waiter.

Notes.

Film Comedy Is Well Cast and Good Fun

"ROSIE, THE RIVETER."
A Republic picture, directed by Joseph Santley, featuring Jane Frazee, Frank Albertson, Barbara Jo Allen, and Frank Jenks, and presented at the Oriental.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

The great housing shortage serves as the fertile earth from which this picture's comedy developments sprout.

And so you find two girl war plant workers, Rosalind and Vera, compelled to share the town's one available room with Charlie and Kelly, men who work the night shift in the same company. . . . Days, while the maidens labor, the men sleep. . . . Nights the girls have the room.

But neither pair ever has it quite all alone, for the household is much the same sort of haphazard conglomeration you saw in "You Can't Take It with You"—all for one, one for all; your room's my room, etc. . . . Grandma busts in to put a mouse trap under the bed. . . . Granddaughter appropriates the telephone. And in and out of the house—always accompanied by her piano—moves a married daughter, who leaves her husband and comes home to mother at least once a month.

Rosalind is engaged to the personnel manager of the plant, a thoroly proper young man, who, you know, in due time will get his comeuppance from Rosie the riveter in favor of Charlie, who—but I think I've told you enough of the story.

"Rosie the Riveter" is short and excellently acted and hands out quite a few laughs. . . . The casting director knew what he was about when he picked the foursome of Frazee, Allen [Vera Vague], Albertson, and Jenks for the leads. I hope some other caster gets the same idea.

See you soon.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 1.—Charles Rogers can expect fireworks over his "Song of the Open Road" from Alfred Hay Mallott. Mallott wrote both words and music of that song in 1928 as well as a screen story for John Charles Thomas. His permission for the Rogers picture was never given—or sought. . . . You don't realize until you hear Mack Gordon singing that one man could turn out so many song hits. These are just a sample: "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking," "Time on My Hands," "Stay as Sweet as You Are," "Love Thy Neighbor," "Lookie, Lookie, Here Comes Cookie," "Goodnight My Love," "When I'm with You," "Never in a Million Years," "Down Argentine Way," "I Had the Craziest Dream," "Chattanooga Choo-Choo," "I Yi Yi Yi Yi—I Like You Very Much," "Serenade in Blue," "Kalamazoo," "My Heart Tells Me," and "You'll Never Know."

Other Days and Other Ways.

In a cheering letter, Nina Patton writes: "Since Marie Dressler left us, you're my pinup girl." Speaking of Marie, it was Edward Everett Horton who really started Marie solidly back on the road to success. Sure she'd done "The Callahans and the Murphys," but that was frowned on by the Catholic church as giving a bad impression of the Irish. There was a long period when Marie didn't work. Horton was rehearsing "The Swan." The part of the queen in the last act wasn't cast. She was only on the stage 20 minutes but was very important. The late Adele Ritchie called Eddie and suggested Marie. He phoned her, invited her to lunch, and offered her the part. She said, "I don't believe I could remember the lines." "Well, if you can't, substitute your own," said Eddie. "They'll be even funnier." She came to rehearsal and loved the part. A few days before it opened, his brother said to him, "What are we going to pay her? We haven't much money left." Eddie asked her what she wanted. Marie said, "It's worth $1,500 a week to me to play this part because of your publicity. When you've finished paying the bills and if there's a profit, give me what you think is fair." Opening night might have been ballyhooed by the late P. T. Barnum. It was that kind of house. Everybody was there. Two weeks later Marie got the picture job that led to fame and fortune.

Not Showing Off but Helping.

If I hadn't heard some folks [who should have known better] criticize Maj. de Seversky for the wonderful story he wrote about the loss of his leg, I wouldn't be telling why he wrote it. He was dining in Washington when a beautiful white haired woman came over to his table, introduced herself, and said, "I know I shouldn't ask you to do this, but I'm at the end of my rope. I'm dining with my son over in the corner. He has his back to us and can't see you. He's just come from the hospital where they fitted him with a wooden leg. He's so bitter that he's almost turned against me. Could you, as you're leaving the dining room, pretend you're an old friend of mine and stop by our table to meet him?" Seversky did, talked with him, left him smiling. It was then he realized that, however he felt, it was his duty to help the boys coming home to find themselves.

A Hero Cleans the Slate.

Bob Cobb, of Brown Derby fame, got this note: "Dear sir: I've just returned from the Pacific, and my buddy, who died out there, asked me if I ever got to Hollywood to do him a favor and pay back a debt. He gave me two dollars and asked me to give it to the boss of the Brown Derby in Hollywood. Seems like Hal was hungry a few years back, went to your place, ate a lot, and you let him get by with it. So he asked me to look you up and explain, and say he was sorry. Then he died. I wanted you to know about my buddy. I'm shoving off tomorrow. If I ever get back this way, I hope to meet you. Yours, Joe Ryan." . . . "Summer Storm," with George Sanders and Linda Darnell, started out as "Shooting Party;" then "The Moon Their Mistress;" from there to "Strange Confessions," "Goodbye My Love," and has ended up as "Stormy Weather"—I mean "Summer Storm." . . . Allan Jones' fans want him back on the screen, but only in a good picture. A fan wrote, "I've seen him in New York. He's so much better looking off the screen. He was so nice to all the kids asking for his autograph, and stopped long enough to sing a song for us."

'Danger List' . . . . By Christianna Brand

(Copyright: 1944: By Mary Christianna Lewis.)

SYNOPSIS: Higgins, the postman, delivers seven letters accepting service in Heron's Park military hospital. Dr. Gervase Eden, homely but charming, hopes to escape from a fashionable practice. Jane Woods, a middle aged, successful dress designer, gives up her career to become a nurse's aid. Esther Sanson, against the wishes of a neurotic mother, offers her services.

INSTALMENT II.
ONE A MURDERER.

Higgins knew the handwritings on the next two letters. One was the crabbed old fist of Mr. Moon, who had been surgeon in Heronsford as long as one could remember; the other was that of the local anaesthetist, Barnes. "I wonder if that means they're both coming 'ere?" thought Higgins, frowning down upon the two envelopes. "I'd've thought Barnes, at least, would've wanted to go somewhere else. Well, I suppose if they're in the army, they have to go where they're told."

Dr. Barnes said much the same thing to Mr. Moon as, having posted their letters, they walked up the hill together to their homes. "I've applied to go to Heron's park so that I can give my father a hand with the practice now and then; but we're in the army now, sir, whether we like it or not."

"I think I do like it," said Moon. He was a stooping, plump little man, like a miniature Churchill but with all the pugnacity gone out of him; with soft pink cheeks and fluffy white hair, exceedingly thin on top. His blue eyes twinkled with kindliness.

"It'll make a change," said Barnes.

"I can do with a change you know, Barney," said Moon, with a little twist of his kind old face. "That house of mine—now that I've got a chance to leave it, I wonder how I've endured it all these years. Fifteen years I've lived in that house, all by myself; and I don't think there's been a day that I haven't lifted my head suddenly and listened, thinking that I heard my boy laughing . . . thinking I head him come clattering down the stairs. Well, well—I can find it in my heart now to be grateful, I suppose; now that the war's come, I mean. He'd have been of age, you know; I'd have had to send him off to see him go off to France or the east or somewhere. . . . I'd have had to wait and hunger for news of him; he might have been posted missing, perhaps, or killed, and without any news of what had really happened. It's that telegram business. . . . I don't think I could have borne that. I don't think his mother could have borne it, if she'd been alive."

Barnes was silent, not from any lack of sympathy but because he was a man who could not easily put his feelings into words. He was in his late 30s, not very tall, not very good looking, but radiant with the charm of absolute integrity. He, too, was glad to go into the army. "That Evans girl," he said; "the one who died under the anaesthetic last week—I've had an anonymous letter about her today. I think it's a good thing I'm getting out of the practice for a bit; I shall be serving king and country, and by the time the war's ended, the whole thing will have blown over."

"But, my dear boy, the death was no earthly fault of yours."

"Well, we know that now," said Barnes, shrugging his shoulders; "but I couldn't account for it at the time. I got it into my head that I'd seen the tubes crossed during the operation—the oxygen and the nitrous oxide, you know; it must have been my imagination, but I was worrying about what could have gone wrong, and I kept getting a sort of vision of the two tubes crossing instead of being separate. I went and asked them to check up; everything had been put away by then, of course, but nobody had noticed anything wrong. The mother came to me after the inquest and accused me of murdering the girl. It was horrible! Of course they decided that the findings at the inquest had been cooked, to protect me. It's fortunate for me, that I can go into the army."

Two more letters; both from women. One neat and correct, a pretty round hand, a pretty gray-blue notepaper, the stamp stuck neatly on the corner; the other on a cheap white envelope, addressed to the matron, the handwriting sprawling across the paper, uncertain and ill at ease. V. A. D. Frederica Linley and Sister Bates, Q. A. I. M. N. S., reporting to the Heron's Park military hospital.

Frederica's father, who for 30 years had been a legend in some outpost of empire, had subsequently settled down in Dinard, where he could by no means be got to appreciate that the inhabitants had not only never heard of the legend, but had never even heard of the outpost. The war put an end to this embarrassing state of affairs and on a nightmare voyage to England he met and affianced himself to a wealthy widow with a proper respect for the pioneers of the east. Frederica received the news with her habitual calm. "I think she's too frightful, daddy," she said; "but it's you that's got to live with her, not me," and she absented herself from the new home upon a series of lectures and finally wrote off to Heron's Park that she woud be reporting for duty on such and such a day, as instructed.

The reaction of Sister Bates to her transition from civilian to military nursing, was simple and forthright. She thought: "Perhaps I shall meet some nice officers!" and lest any one be tempted to despise such single minded devotion to the opposite sex, it may be pointed out that this innocent aspiration was shared in a greater or less degree, by 20 future members of the sisters' mess, and at least 50 V. A. Ds.

Seven letters. Old Mr. Moon and young Dr. Barnes, and Gervase Eden, surgeon of Harley street; Sister Marion Bates; Jane Woods, and Esther Sanson and Frederica Linley V. A. Ds. Higgins shuffled the envelopes together, impatiently, and wrapped them around with a piece of grubby tape and thrust them into his pocket, plodding on, wheeling his bicycle up the hill.

Sister Bates stood before the shabby plush curtains of the hospital concert hall, singing "Trees." Her pretty, foolish face was blank with fright, and her hands hung at her sides like lumps of raw meat.

The three V. A. Ds. sat at the back of the hall, because Frederica was on night duty and would have to slip out before the concert was ended.

Maj. Moon and Maj. Eden and Capt. Barnes, sat in the front row, but as far as possible away from the colonel. "Wait till I get hold of those girls," said Eden. "They promised me faithfully that Bates was going to wear a hula-hula skirt. That's the only reason I came."

Maj. Moon thought it was too bad of Eden to make fun of poor Sister Bates, who was reported to be madly in love with him; but he could not help laughing, all the same.

CREAMY FRUIT RING
(Serves 6; uses ¼ pkg.)

1 envelope Knox Gelatine — 3 eggs
¼ cup cold milk — ¼ tsp. salt
1¾ cups scalded milk — ½ cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla

Soften gelatine in cold milk. Scald remaining milk; add slowly to beaten egg yolks, salt and sugar. Cook in double boiler until somewhat thick. Add gelatine; stir until dissolved. Cool. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites; add vanilla. Pour in ring mold that has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve with any fresh or canned fruit.

IMPORTANT! Be sure to use Knox Gelatine. It is pure, plain gelatine—contains no artificial flavoring to cover up the goodness of your own home ingredients. Try using Knox with fresh fruits—not only for finer flavor, but also for the vitamins you don't get in artificial mixtures.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	1 diamond	1 heart	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	4 hearts [final bid]

This deal occurred at match point duplicate.

At this particular table the play proceeded as follows: West led the diamond king; East overtook and laid down the queen and jack. Declarer ruffed with the jack—and West promptly overruffed with the queen. [Perhaps he thought he might lose that card!] West returned a spade; the ace won, the heart ace was cashed, and declarer, entering his own hand with a spade, drew the rest of the trumps without loss. He had to go down a trick, of course, because of West's club ace, but when the scores were posted later, East-West found that the 100 points they had earned on this board gave them very few match points.

There were two good reasons for this. One was that West should have doubled the final contract; the other was that if he had correctly refused to overruff the jack of hearts, he would have set the contract another trick by eventually winning two tricks with the queen and eight of trumps.

Women Differ on Post-War Kitchen Layout

BY MARY MEADE.

Surveys have been made, plans are being converted into full scale models, and the post-war kitchen sounds so unlike a place to prepare food for the family that the average woman isn't just sure she wants it.

Fluorescent lighting, garbage disposal units, electric dishwashers, glass ovens, and concealed ranges are being discussed so much that some of the basic essentials of the efficient kitchen—plenty of storage space, for example—are being overlooked. I was interested in comments of some of the women viewing the model glass "kitchen of tomorrow" exhibited in a downtown store recently.

"O, I wouldn't want a glass refrigerator!" said one. "Think of having your little dishes of leftovers constantly on display!"

"Pretty, but not very practical," said another. "There's no room for pots and pans."

I heard no unqualified praise for the glass oven. Perhaps it was too radical a departure, something that women will like better when they're used to it. But most of the visitors loved the big kitchen window, and several remarked that the floor would be easy to keep clean—no "hard to get to" places.

Talks with many "average" women lead me to believe the post-war kitchen with most appeal is the one which looks like the best of model kitchens now in operation. A capacious, streamlined, white enameled electric or gas range with a deep well cooker, "simmer burner," and perhaps a glass window in the oven; a roomy refrigerator with plenty of meat and frozen food storage space, a modern sink with a large window over it, and cupboards, cupboards, cupboards [within easy reach, too]: Those are things women want in post-war kitchens. They want the stove to look like a stove, the sink to look like a sink—no pushing into a wall or putting down of lids to conceal the fact it's a kitchen. Women want kitcheny kitchens, not spare living rooms.

They want easily washed linoleum floors, built-in mixers, gay curtains, open shelves for pretty pottery and spice jars, sliding doors on cupboards to avoid head bumps. Partitioned drawers for pan and lid storage would be practical.

They are dubious about dishwashers, tho most of them admit they'll be willing to try them, especially for everyday dishes, pots, and pans. They think garbage disposal units would be wonderful if they really digest and carry away potato parings, bones, and all the other kitchen wastes.

Most of them think they'd like breakfast nooks fashioned on the cocktail lounge order—comfortable, leather upholstered chairs or benches and a circular or oval table.

I've heard some clamorings for the return of the old fashioned pantry—in a streamlined version, of course. It would be a cool room planned for storage of vegetables like potatoes, which don't require refrigeration, a place more convenient than the basement for canned goods and preserves. Such a room, its walls lined with shelves, could used kitchen equipment which many women would like to have but can't find room for in today's kitchen. It also could house that quick freezing unit which seems destined for a place in many post-war homes.

Thru the Looking Glass

Some mothers who are having their own troubles trying to bend the young twigs of daughters in the right direction, with emphasis on good taste in dress, makeup and manner, have reported wonderful results from the "teen-age" course one of our beauty salons introduced this last winter.

Because the course has been so successful, it's to be kept up after schools close this spring. And for the benefit of mothers involved in the struggle of trying to make their youthful daughters use makeup with discretion and taste, or teaching them to stand properly, or brush their hair as they should, we'd like to give you another reminder about them.

The course consists of six lessons, each two hours in length, and meeting once a week after school. The child is taught how to be clean, how to groom herself, how to sit, stand, walk, and how to choose her makeup and hairdress with a trained eye to becomingness and good taste. It's exactly what many girls need, Heaven knows—and it's what many of them know they need.

We'd like to emphasize that artificiality is something they unlearn rather than learn in this training. They're taught to make the most of their youthful appearance—which is what they desperately want to do—but primarily they are taught what is RIGHT.

The high school age girls are, as their mothers are the first to admit, a baffling problem nowadays. This course is professional help in handling some phases, at least, of the teen ager's set of difficulties.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Perfect Gems.

The American Gem society met for a war time conference last weekend in New York. Altho women wear seven-eighths of all jewelry, including 260,000 carats of diamonds in engagement rings sold last year, actually there are few women in the industry.

Altogether there are only five women in this country and 12 in England who hold the society's highest degree of certified gemmologist, requiring six or seven years of training. Yet those in the business assure us that it is a "perfect gem" of a career and one which white collar girls may well consider. For example, L. M. Black, registered jeweler in one of Washington's swankiest stores, forsook a government stenographic job and advises other girls to do likewise. White collar girls, she says, should get behind the counter, where they can make more progress than behind the typewriter. Women have a big chance as jewelers, she thinks.

Degrees.

At present there are about 25 women gemmological students in the United States working toward any one of three degrees: Certified gemmologist, junior gemmologist, and registered jeweler, a title for those in the jewelry business which requires about four years to win.

In almost every instance there is an interesting setting for a diamond studded career. The youngest member of the American Gem society is Juanita Schaeffer of Milwaukee, who completed in eight months of full time training what most jewelers accomplish in four to six years. Fresh from high school, she studied 12 hours a day and clipped thru the course. Nellie Gilmour, registered jeweler of Paterson, N. J., began as bookkeeper of a small side street jewelry shop and asked so many questions about stones she pried herself into a fine job. Now, after completing a course of study at night she does her own detecting with a diamond detectograph. Emily Jaeger of Queen's Village, Long Island, was studying filing systems at the Brooklyn library one winter when the Christmas rush pressed her into service in her brother's jewelry store. Today she is a partner in the business. [Emily evolved the "semi-ready" ring in which service men, short of time and money, can have a family diamond inserted.]

And Others.

And there are others in the society: Eunice R. Hastings of Mount Vernon, N. Y., certified gemmologist who took the highest degree after marriage while caring for a home and a baby. . . . Maurine Price, graduate member of the American Gem society, who is also a graduate nurse. . . . Virginia Hinton of Houston, Tex., first woman jeweler to take the degree of certified gemmologist. . . . Miriam Goldstein of Peoria, who has her own store. . . . Alfhild Lundborg, Vassar graduate who passed up a concert career, and Elizabeth Booth of Albany, N. Y., formerly a chicken farmer.

Commons Has 50th Birthday Party Tonight

Chicago Commons will observe the golden anniversary of its founding at a special program tonight in the settlement at 955 W. Grand av.

Edward L. Ryerson, who heads the board of trustees, will preside; Paul Kellogg of New York, editor of Survey Graphic, who long has been a friend of the Commons, will speak on "The Half Century Springboard for the Future," and the head resident, Miss Lea D. Taylor, daughter of the founder, Graham Taylor, will give the introduction to a dramatization depicting events in the history of the settlement.

The pageant, written for the occasion and directed by Mrs. Otto H. Theiss, will be enacted by a cast composed of 125 members and friends of the settlement.

Heading the 50th anniversary committee is Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence of Hubbard Woods, a trustee.

During its first seven years, Chicago Commons was housed in an old family mansion on Union st., north of Kinzie. It was moved to its present location in 1901. Last year 2,191 persons, 758 of whom were under 13 years old, were registered for organized activities—gymnasium, craft shop, household arts classes, dramatics, dancing, art classes, and citizenship classes.

Special war time activities include, in addition to a child care center, a Red Cross production unit, first aid and home nursing courses, and cooperative programs with the Office of Civilian Defense, such as consumer information, conservation, salvage, and morale. In the summer, Chicago Commons operates a day camp and playground for children, and a farm camp at New Buffalo, Mich.

Mr. Eigenschenk's Recital Displays the Organ's Faults

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

The organ as a concert instrument rates higher, if only for an interesting and little known literature, than certain widespread prejudice will usually admit. A large audience found this to be true at Kimball hall last night, where Edward Eigenschenk was presented in recital by the Van Dusen Organ club.

For tho Bach transcriptions are legion, only the instrument of the composer's original conception can do full justice to the majesty of the Fantasie and Fugue in G minor, and the same applies to the magnificent organ concertos of Handel, a movement from one of which opened the program. The organ has its contemporary composers, too, who live on one of the lonely side roads of modern music and well repay an occasional visit, as evidenced by the Prelude and Fugue of Dupre, and the Impromptu and Scherzo from the Second Symphony of Vierne.

Mr. Eigenschenk is an earnest but somewhat erratic guide among these treasures. He apparently has a profound understanding of his behemothian instrument and he has both a manual and pedal facility that is fleet and smooth. But it is this very fleetness which often betrays him into rhythmic instability and tempi so fast that they not only inflict an injustice upon the composer but pitilessly reveal the skeleton in the organ closet—its fundamental lack of clarity.

Sen. Brewster to Speak at Zionist Meeting Here

Sen. Brewster [R., Me.] has been announced as the guest speaker for the third war time conference of the Zionist organization of Chicago next Sunday in the Hotel Sherman. Nathan D. Kaplan, president of the organization, said the meeting will launch a program for planting a forest in Palestine to be named Chicago. Robert Szold, Zionist leader just returned from Palestine, will be among principal speakers.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

Several hundred uniformed volunteers of the Chicago chapter, American Red Cross, attended the opening session yesterday morning of a four day national conference of the organization's volunteer special services, held in the Upper Tower ballroom of the Stevens hotel.

Mrs. James A. Cathcart, Chicago chairman of all volunteers, presided at the assembly, at which Mrs. Richard M. Bissell, national chairman; James B. Forgan, chairman of the Chicago chapter, and Turner Catledge, foreign correspondent, spoke.

Mrs. Cathcart stressed the importance of volunteer service, and said that it qualifies the women engaged in it for better living in the post-war world. Mr. Forgan likewise praised the 100,000 Chicago volunteers' work, asserting that without it Red Cross service to the public and the service man would not function at highest efficiency.

The assembled Red Cross members rose in tribute to Mrs. Bissell, who told them that one of the considerations of the conference will be the post-war function of the volunteers.

"It is too early for definite post-war planning," she said, "but we know that we must not disband when the war is won. Right now our first job is to continue at the same tempo and to recruit many more workers to carry out Red Cross war projects."

Mr. Catledge described the function of the Red Cross in war theaters, and contrasted service in the first World war with the assistance given in the present conflict. His lecture delineated the expanded function of the Red Cross.

Yesterday afternoon's round table discussions were held by the camp and hospital service, led by Mrs. Archibald McLeish, and the public relations corps, with Mrs. Hendrick Eustis and Mrs. Lyman H. Johnson participating. The day's sessions closed with a tea at headquarters, 529 S. Wabash av., at which Chicago and out of town volunteers were the guests of Mrs. Cathcart.

Today the motor, home service, nurses' aid, hospital, and recreation, staff assistance, and canteen and dietitians' aid corps will meet for individual forums. Mrs. S. Sloan Colt, Red Cross deputy commissioner to Great Britain, will address a dinner in the south ballroom of the Stevens at 7:30 o'clock.

The arts and skills corps, with Mrs. Cass Canfield presiding, will have its first round table meeting at 11 a. m. tomorrow. Mrs. Bissell will conduct an executive session at 2:30 p. m. and another at 9:30 a. m. Thursday. The conference will adjourn at 12:30 p. m. that day.

Six women marines who "came aboard" at the procurement office, room 1170, 141 W. Jackson blvd., a year ago yesterday, celebrated their first anniversary of service in Chicago with a party at noon which included a "birthday cake" with one candle.

Maj. Paul Rickard, who welcomed the young women when they took over their duties last year, was present at the celebration, as was Capt. Katherine B. Persons, senior women's reserve procurement officer for the Chicago district.

The six celebrants are: Staff Sergeants Ann McClaren, Margaret Dolan, Edna Hrbek, Marie E. Paluszak, and Lorraine Stuesser, and Sgt. Marjorie E. Kennedy. Sgt. McClaren's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McClaren, live in La Grange. Sgt. Dolan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dolan, 6414 Newgard av.

Child Usually Outgrows Poor Sleep Habits

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It is all very well to lay down rules about children's sleep. As a matter of fact, there are a great many things that can be done to bring about wholesome regularity of going to bed and sound sleep.

But children and babies, too, have a way of springing all sorts of surprises upon their parents, which are not at all "according to the book" of rules for their sleeping behavior. One of these tricks is to wake up in the middle of the night for no apparent reason and stay awake for a couple of hours. The other is to go to bed very sweetly and amiably, sleeping soundly, but then to wake up at some hour, like 4 o'clock, and stay awake. Why these things happen I have never been able to find out, but happen they do with the best regulated babies and children.

What can you do about it? I would like nothing better than to give you a pretty piece of advice that neatly solves the problem. But this I can't do. What I can say to comfort you is that many healthy and happy babies and children go thru these funny little spells and come out of them without any apparent reason. Of course, you will have interrupted your short sleep for a time, and probably be a bit "groggy" as a result; but it won't last forever. And so here are some things you can do.

When your child wakes up in the middle of the night or early in the morning you can attend to any of his needs, like a drink of water or "toileting"; you can close the window and in other ways make him comfortable, after a quieting little pat or conversation. Then you can go back to bed and let him lie quietly by himself and go to sleep. You might even try a little warm milk and a brown cracker, or a well baked cookie as a soothing agent. This sort of thing induces sleep in an adult, so why not in a child? Actually, hunger pangs are real pangs or pains, and can wake a child up or make him restless.

I feel that I should not end even this discussion without saying that any irregularity in routine calls for a mother's scrutinizing her child's food [especially supper], her managing of his outdoors, his elimination activity, and that period of time just before his going to bed.

Million Paid on Debts of Diocese in 3 Years, Says Bishop Conkling

Bishop Wallace E. Conkling, in his annual charge to the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, last night announced that a million dollars has been applied to debts of the diocese during his three year episcopate. He asked today's sessions of the convention at St. James church to consider means of retiring the balance of nearly $200,000 debt to make way for a major development program.

Bishop Conkling proposed an Episcopal religious center for the loop from which, he said, the church "has largely abdicated" but must return." Just how this can be accomplished is not quite clear yet in my mind," he said, "but what I do see is not the usual kind of church or chapel but rather a hall or theater which can be made a center for constant instruction, priestly counsel, and spiritual refreshment."

The charge also pleaded for educational development in theological education, the building of new parishes, and advancement of the church's social and institutional work. He announced the formation of a council of Episcopal social agencies.

TAX ON FEDERAL PROPERTY RULED OUT BY COURT

Supreme Bench Finds Lessee Is Immune.

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—Government owned property, the Supreme court ruled today, is immune from taxation whether the tax is directed against the government itself or some one who leases the property.

While the 7 to 2 decision applied specifically to a Pennsylvania gunmaker who leased government machinery, the justice department previously had said the ruling would affect more than $7,500,000,000 worth of war production equipment.

Involved was a real estate tax of $5,137 which Allegheny county, Pa., levied against machinery in the Homestead, Pa., plant of the Mesta Machine company.

Overrule State Court.

The Pennsylvania Supreme court had held that under state law, regardless of who possessed the title, the machinery constituted a part of the company's mill for assessment purposes and had been properly assessed as Mesta's real estate. Allegheny county contended that the machinery was not taxed, but was considered only as enhancing the value of Mesta's land.

The United States Supreme court said, however, that the tax assessor actually had valued the plant machinery separately and pointed out that under the government's contract with Mesta the government would have to assume any increased cost to Mesta as a result of the tax.

Justice Jackson's opinion asserted that the title to the machinery was held by the United States and that the "substance" of the Pennsylvania taxing procedure was to lay a general property tax on government owned property. This, he said, violates the federal Constitution.

The Majority View.

Joining in majority opinion were Chief Justice Stone and Associate Justices Black, Reed, Douglas, Murphy, and Rutledge.

Justices Roberts and Frankfurter dissented, contending no federal interest was involved.

"Pennsylvania," Justice Frankfurter said, "has not tried to impose a tax which congress, in order to facilitate war production, has forbidden the states to levy. She has assessed real property concededly owned by Mesta at a valuation increased by the value of the machinery made available to Mesta. But it is the realty that is being taxed, precisely as other realty is taxed."

POLICE HEARING SEES GAMBLING PROBE RECORDS

Supervising Capt. Michael P. Naughton from Police Commissioner Allman's office was the first witness to testify yesterday before the police trial board, which opened its hearing of charges that Capt. Patrick T. Crotty permitted gambling while in charge of the Woodlawn district.

Naughton identified a two inch stack of papers as reports on gambling investigations conducted in the district by himself or his officers. The trial is expected to continue at least three more days. Malachy J. Coughlan, attorney for Crotty, and Earle R. Downes, assistant corporation counsel, spent most of yesterday agreeing on stipulations.

Crotty was suspended during the investigation conducted by the October grand jury into gambling activities in the city. He was reinstated by court order and is assigned now to the Cottage Grove av. station. Hs is the fifth captain to go on trial on the gambling charges.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Gail Compton

MAY 1, 1944.

THE brightest bit of color at the farm is furnished by the graceful weeping willows around the ponds. They offer a change from the monotony of winter black and whites long before the other trees.

As early as February or March the branches of the willows began to change color. From a dull brown they gradually assume an attractive yellow hue. They are noticeable during the early spring months because they are the only trees on the farm with any color.

Now the willows are beginning to leaf and the bright green of the small leaves presents a contrast to the yellow of the branches. Bending over the still waters of the ponds, the sweeping branches form a picture to delight the photographer or painter.

Retains Leaves Longest.

Another asset of the weeping willow, aside from its summer long beauty, is the fact that it retains its leaves much longer than most trees—almost as long as the white oaks.

The toughest job on the farm has been vanquished by mechanization. The job is digging post holes and the equipment that has made it easy is a tractor operated digger.

This power post hole digger is mounted on the small Fordson tractor. It resembles a large brace and bit. The bit is set at the spot where the hole is desired and the tractor motor spins the augur rapidly. A deep hole can be dug in one minute. When done by hand this tedious job takes about 10 minutes.

Job Becomes a Pleasure.

The power driven digger is appreciated by the men for a lot of fence needs straightening and resetting. Pounding down thru clay and gravel with a hand digger is work for a strong back. But with the new digger it is almost a pleasure to build fence.

The heavy clay soil on the farm not only makes post hole digging difficult, but it also has been the main reason why oats have not been seeded at this late date. The ground is slow to dry out and when neighboring farmers are sowing grain the men at the farm must stand idle waiting for their ground to drain. This retention of moisture is helpful, however, when a dry spell comes along.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

EXPERIENCED gardeners report benefits from the use of bacterial applications on the seeds of peas, edible soybeans, sweet peas, snap beans, and lima beans. A small package of inoculator sells for 10 cents in seed stores. Some gardeners reported yields increased by one-third after seed treatment.

There are two methods of applying the inoculator. In applying to garden peas, sweet peas, and soybeans the seeds are moistened with cool water, then the inoculator, which looks like fine black soil, is sprinkled over the moist seeds. For snap beans and lima beans the inoculator is applied dry.

The purpose of such seed inoculation is to increase the plants' utilization of nitrogen from the air, thus increasing plant growth. For many years farmers have inoculated soil for alfalfa and clover crops, but only recently has a product been packaged in small amounts for use by home gardeners.

DE LUCE GIVEN PULITZER PRIZE FOR REPORTING

New York, May 1 (AP).—Associated Press war correspondent Daniel de Luce, who made a daring trip into Nazi dominated Yugoslavia for first hand stories of the resistance by Marshal Tito's forces, today won the Pulitzer prize for international telegraphic reporting in 1943.

Two $500 pries were awarded for news photography, one to Frank Filan, of the Associated Press, for a photograph entitled "Tarawa Island" and the other to Earle L. Bunker, of the Omaha, Neb., World Herald, for his photograph entitled "Home Coming."

A special citation was awarded to Byron Price, director of the office of censorship and executive news editor of the Associated Press on leave, "for the creation and administration of the newspaper and radio code."

MEFFERT, PALATINE PRELATE, DIES.

MADRID, Spain, May 1 (AP).—Franz Meffert, 76, Palatine prelate of the house of Pope Pius XII., died last Wednesday at Gladbach in the Rhineland, after a short illness, it was announced in German newspapers received here today.

BAR CONFESSION OF PRISONER IN 36 HOURS QUIZ

The use of the "due process of law" clause in the 14th amendment "to disable the states in protection of society from crime is quite as dangerous and delicate a use of federal judicial power as to use it to disable them from social and economic experimentation," the minority asserted.

Cite Holmes' Opinion.

They called upon their colleagues to reread a 1929 opinion of the late Justice Holmes, "the great dissenter" in which he expressed his anxiety at "the ever increasing scope given to the 14th amendment in cutting down" the constitutional rights of states.

"I cannot believe," he wrote at that time, "that the amendment gives us carte blanche to embody our economic or moral beliefs in its prohibitions."

The minority opinion further stated:

"A sovereign state is now before us, summoned on the charge that it has obtained convictions by methods so unfair that a federal court must set aside what the state courts have done. Heretofore the state has had the benefit of a presumption of regularity and legality.

All Questioning Coercive?

"A confession made by one in custody heretofore has been admissible in evidence unless it was proved and found that it was obtained by pressures so strong that it was in fact involuntarily made, that the individual will of the particular confessor had been overcome by torture, mob violence, fraud, trickery, threats, or promises.

"As we read the present decision, the court in effect declines to apply these well established principles. Instead, it substitutes . . . a new doctrine that examination in custody of this duration is 'inherently coercive.'

"Questioning is an indispensable instrumentality of justice.

"The court bases its decision on the premise that custody and examination of a prisoner for 36 hours is 'inherently coercive.' Of course it is. And so is custody and examination for one hour. Arrest itself is inherently coercive and so is detention.

"If 36 hours [of questioning] is more than is permissible, what about 24? or 12? or 6? or 1? All are 'inherently coercive.' Eliminating all confession made after interrogation while in custody is the logical consequence of today's ruling."

LIQUOR DEALER DENIES CHARGE OF PRICE FRAUD

Paul Morton, Chicago liquor dealer, and former prohibition era bootlegger, pleaded not guilty yesterday when arraigned before United States Commissioner Robert Ernest, in West Palm Beach, Fla. on a Chicago charge of selling whisky above ceiling prices.

He waived a hearing, and posted a $10,000 bond, made returnable in Chicago on May 15. Morton was arrested Sunday in West Palm Beach on a fugitive warrant. Government authorities charge that his excess price charges netted him $73,000 in illegal premiums.

Morton is owner of Paul Morton & Co., 612 N. Michigan av. He served an 18 month sentence for bootlegging. A brother, Samuel J. [Nails] Morton, Chicago gangster, was accidentally killed in 1923 when he fell from his horse in Lincoln park.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

Mrs. Mary Lehman, 56, of 1537 Orchard av., wife of John Lehman, a retired contractor, died of a heart attack yesterday in her home.

LARRISON CASE SUSPECT DENIES MURDER CHARGE

Nick Kokenas, 27, a distributor for the Racing Form, was arraigned yesterday before Police Magistrate Harry Pendl in the Willow Springs court on a charge of murder in connection with the shooting April 18 of Jens D. Larrison in a Cicero saloon. He pleaded not guilty and the hearing was continued until Thursday.

A charge of being an accessory after the fact of murder was placed against Dan Altieri, 40, of 3842 West End av., and he will appear today in Felony court for arraignment.

Altieri, who was in the Hall of Fame tavern at the time of the shooting, is believed by the state's attorney's office to have carried out Larrison's body and aided in its disposal. He is believed to be the partner of Mat Capone in the ownership of the tavern. Deputies still were seeking Capone, charged in a warrant with the murder, and his bartender, Willie Sanders.

Judge Harold G. Ward in Criminal court yesterday set June 5 as the trial date for four fugitives who surrendered recently to the state's attorney's office for arraignment in the murder last September of Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk.

They are Jerome Jonckheere, Robert Bock, Ray Deskovitz, and James [Red] Fawcett, alias Red Forsythe. All are being held in the county jail.

JIM WILSON RESIGNS AS MANAGER OF CUBS

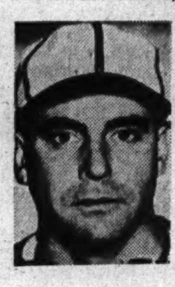
TWELFTH TRIBUNE GOLF SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

IT must have been quite a sight . . . Fred [Golf] Corcoran, Lefty [Baseball] Gomez, and Jack [Boxing] Sharkey landing in the dead of night near Casablanca and waiting to be taken into town. . . . Loitering nearby were some natives, the men wearing trousers reminiscent of plus-fours, the golfers' one time craze. . . . Gomez, noted as a comedian in his days as a great Yankee pitcher, strolled over to one of the Arabs, tapped his shoulder, and whispered to him. . . . When Lefty returned to his own circle, Corcoran wanted to know what he had said. . . . "I asked him," said Gomez in all seriousness, "what he scored on the back nine!" . . . Billy Rogell, the one time Tiger star infielder, now a Detroit councilman, remains active in baseball as coach of a Detroit Catholic high school team. . . . Charlie Low of San Francisco and Louis Gow of Calgary are believed to be the only Chinese owners of race horses on the continent. . . .

Leo Rodak.



Luke Sewell.

Texas league fans who have no home town teams to cheer this season, the organization being inactive for the second straight year, quickly climbed on the St. Louis Browns' bandwagon when Luke Sewell's athletes made a sensational start in the American league race. . . . Texas league grads now with the Browns include Don Gutteridge, Vern Stephens, Hal Epps, Milt Byrnes, Jack Kramer, Mark Christman, Nelson Potter, and Myron Hayworth. . . . Phil Handler of the Chicago Cardinals still is chuckling over the fast one he pulled at the draft meeting in Philadelphia last week. . . . When he called out the name of Rogers Smith, a rival coach protested that the Texas Tech player's name had not been written on the blackboard. . . . "There it is, down there in the corner," said Phil slyly. . . . A magnifying glass was needed to spot the name. . . . Pro coaches will do anything to get a player, especially in these times. . . . Don't be surprised if Notre Dame picks Clem Crowe to coach its basketball squad until Lt. Ed Krause returns from the war. . . . He is one of several under consideration.

Johnny Mize, the New York Giants' first baseman, is at the Kaneohe naval air base at Oahu, Hawaii. . . . Corp. Mel Maceau, former center on Marquette's football team, writes from China of a 30 course dinner at which he was a guest. . . . And with chopsticks as weapons. . . . Speaking of eating, the Detroit Tigers' champion is Hal Newhouser, southpaw pitcher. . . . Mrs. Tom Mix rides Tony, the famous pony, in southern California bronco shows. . . . Leo Rodak, the former Golden Gloves champion, is a combat conditioner at the marine air base in Santa Barbara, Cal. . . . It costs an American league umpire $274.50 for his equipment and then some of 'em aren't safe. . . . Harry Thayer, general manager of the Eagles, is ill of pneumonia in a Philadelphia hospital.

ILLINOIS P. G. A. MEMBERS WILL BE TEACHERS

Park District Links Again Sites.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Fore!

The 12th annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE, the largest system of group instruction in the history of the game, will open next Monday night on the four courses of the Chicago Park district, with members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' Association of America again comprising the faculty.

In the preceding 11 years of the school, 414,000 men, women, and children in the Chicago area have received these gratis instructions from the members of the Illinois P. G. A. Last year 14,500 such lessons were given, the annual total being greatly reduced by three unpleasant visitations from the weather man.

Requirements Are Simple.

Officials of the school and the Illinois section yesterday were rummaging thru their weather kits, digging out parkas, fur lined galoshes, and raincoats, hoping that by this ruse they would throw the W. M. off the beam and bring warm temperature and fair skies for the four nights of the 1944 session.

Those four nights are next Monday; Friday, May 12; Monday, May 15, and Friday, May 19. The only requirements for enrolling in the school are one golf club [if you don't have one, borrow one], a desire to learn the A B C's of the game, and prompt attendance at the park district course most convenient to your home or work. All classes will begin at 7:15 p. m., and will last approximately one hour. Each student, however, is urged to appear at the course of his or her choice by 7 o'clock, if possible, in order to expedite the beginning of each lesson.

Instructors Eager to Help.

The four Chicago park district course locations at which the free lessons will be given by members of the Illinois P. G. A. follow:

COLUMBUS—Jackson blvd. and Central av.

DIVERSEY—In Lincoln park, foot of Diversey blvd., on Lake Michigan.

JACKSON—63d st. and Stony Island av.

MARQUETTE—Marquette rd. and Kedzie av.

A recent conference with Alex Cunningham of North Shore, president of the Illinois section and his associates, revealed that members of the organization, all of whom have donated their services during the years of the school, again are eager to carry on the work of teaching golf's fundamentals to beginners.

Skeptics Now Are Boosters.

In 1933, the first year the call to the school was sounded, there were a number of golfing skeptics who thought this method of imparting the fundamentals to novices was not feasible. They allowed it was too unwieldy, overlooking the prime purpose of the school, which was, and still is, to develop confidence at the first tee. In the 11 years since its inception, the school has convinced those doubters and has become a model for scores of similar classes thruout the country.

Dear Mr. Ward:

Mr. Hunter has told me of the check for $6,666.67 which the United Charities of Chicago has received through you from the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

The sports which you and the Tribune have promoted have been a splendid thing for Chicago, particularly in these war times, and to say that we of the United Charities are grateful to be beneficiaries of these promotions is putting it mildly.

The calls upon our Agency continue to increase and these additional funds which you have made available will, we assure you, be put to good and immediate use.

Dear Arch:

I wish to thank you for your recent communication and to let you know how very grateful Mrs. Kelly and I are for the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. check in the amount of $11,527.11 made payable to the Chicago Service Men's Center.

This very generous amount, along with the $5000 advanced to meet operation expenses of the bowling alleys at Service Men's Center No. 2, is representative of a splendid spirit of generosity, understanding and cooperation. You may be sure that the funds represented by your check will be used prudently so that the maximum number of our men and women in uniform will benefit therefrom.

I know that you, as a fellow-Chicagoan, feel justly proud of what the generosity and public-spiritedness of our citizens have, during these trying war times, accomplished in upbuilding and maintaining a high degree of morale among the men and women in training in this area, as well as among the thousands who each week use the wholesome facilities of the Centers as they pass through our city.

Again thanking you for your splendid helpfulness, and with kindest personal regards, I am

My dear Mr. Ward,

I thank you for your kindness in sending to me the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. check for $6666.67, which is a donation to the Associated Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago from the undistributed funds of the Chicago Tribune Charities as of Dec. 31, 1943. This contribution makes the 1943 contribution to the Catholic Charities $20,000. We appreciate deeply this aid extended to our Charities and we hope sincerely that the promised hundredfold will be given by Our Blessed Savior to the donors.

Dear Arch:

Today our office received from our Mayor, Edward J. Kelly, the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., check for the proceeds from our All Star Bowling Championship Tournament, held at the Auditorium Theatre Service Men's Center, and I know you must feel the same as I, as well as the committee in charge, after having put in many hours of hard work to receive a check of this size. It is a feeling of satisfaction, particularly knowing what it will mean to our men and women in our armed forces making it possible for them to enjoy their recreation, bowling, free of charge.

We want to thank you as the leading individual in making this contribution possible with the assistance of all those who were so generous in giving both their time and effort toward the success of the show just completed.

Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., has donated $45,427.09 from the undistributed funds of 1943 sports promotions to various Chicago organizations. The Chicago service men's center has received checks totaling $16,527.11, which represents the profits of the annual All-Star bowling tournament sponsored by Tribune Charities and the Bowling Proprietors of America. A sum of $20,000 has been divided equally among the United, Catholic, and Jewish Charities. This contribution raises to $60,000 the amount turned over to those organizations in 1943 by Tribune Charities. The Community fund was mailed a check for $7,900, out of which it takes care of more than 50 charitable organization which long have been aided by revenues from Tribune sports events. The Girl Scouts have received $1,000.

Indians Tally 7 in 8th; Beat White Sox, 9-3

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., May 1.—The White Sox offense wilted after making three runs in the first inning against the Cleveland Indians this afternoon and the defense collapsed in a seven-run foldup in the eighth. The result of these things was a 9 to 3 success for the Indians.

Thus the Sox, who could have soared to sixth place in the American League standings if they had held together two more innings, drilled deeper into the league cellar.

ACTION COMES AFTER 9 GAME LOSING STREAK

Coach Roy Johnson Temporary Pilot.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

James Wilson's career as manager of the Cubs came to an abrupt end yesterday, the final chapter garnished by the nine game losing streak in which the team is languishing at the moment.

The finish followed a conference, at the conclusion of which a formal announcement was made to the effect that Wilson had "resigned" and that temporarily the team would be in charge of Coach Roy Johnson.

The secret session, attended by President P. K. Wrigley, Vice President James Gallagher, and Wilson, reportedly did not get to the stage where the names of possible candidates were discussed. Gallagher insisted the "resignation" was unexpected, but, happily, refrained from offering any bright saying such as "a new broom sweeps clean."

Thru Last Fall, Rumors Said.

While the "resignation" may have been voluntary—Wilson afterward declared he had been given excellent treatment—it has been known since last fall that efforts were being made to ready a place for the incumbent in the Cubs' well stocked managerial graveyard.

During the world series word leaked out that Wilson positively was thru. Two days later he was reported back in good standing, a sudden switch which caused speculation to the effect that Gallagher had been overruled by Wrigley.

Wilson was cognizant of what was going on behind the scenes and recently acted the part of a man with a sword hanging over him.

Speculate on Successor.

When Wilson's hold on his job was in a shaky state last fall the speculators thought up a score or more of possible successors and the same list promptly was revived, with additions, yesterday.

One of last fall's leading possibilities, tho he wasn't given much attention by the speculators, was Bill Jurges, the former Cub shortstop, now with the New York Giants. Bill Terry, former Giant manager, was mentioned. So were Bill Sweeney, manager at Los Angeles, and Charley Grimm, a former pilot of the Cubs, now at Milwaukee. Kiki Cuyler, then a Cub coach, was in a receptive mood and, when assured that Wilson was to remain he accepted a managerial berth at Atlanta, Ga.

The most likely move is that the Cubs will try to find Wilson's successor among the coaches now employed on other National league clubs. Among possibilities outside the league, the candidacy of Coach Muddy Ruel of the White Sox already has been called to the attention of the Cubs' officials.

The Official Statement.

The statement concerning the resignation follows:

"Jim Wilson today resigned as manager of the Cubs, a position he had held since 1941, at the conclusion of a meeting attended by P. K. Wrigley, club president; James Gallagher, vice president and general manager, and Wilson. It was decided that a change might help the club shake off the slump which has seen the Cubs lose nine straight games since winning on opening day. No successor has been chosen and Coach Roy Johnson will direct the team until a manager is named."

After yesterday's meeting Wilson said, "I thought it would be the best thing for me to step out. I don't have any complaints of any kind. Both Wrigley and Gallagher have given me excellent treatment and it has been a nice place to work. I still think the Cubs are a better team than they appear to be and they'll start winning under some one else, I am sure."

Wilson, who was scheduled to move into a new apartment yesterday, a fact indicating he had no thoughts of giving up his job, said he will not start for his Philadelphia home before the end of the week. Presumably he and the Cub officials have reached an agreement over paying off on the unexpired portion of his contract.

Johnson Takes Over Today.

Johnson, who will take charge today by putting the Cubs thru a practice prior to opening a series tomorrow with the Reds, once was the property of the Athletics but his career was cut short by an injury to his pitching arm. He since has had 11 seasons of managerial experience at Bisbee, Ariz., Ponca City, Okla., Tulsa, Okla., and Lockport, N. Y. He also served several seasons as a Cub coach prior to being brought back this spring.

Wilson took over the management of the Cubs at the start of the 1941 season, succeeding Gabby Hartnett. The club finished sixth in the National league both that year and in 1942. Last season it was fifth, with a record of 74 games won and 79 lost.

Wilson started his major league

PLAY GRIER WINS: WAGER $555,709 AT SPORTSMAN'S

BY EDWARD PRELL.

A blue Monday, which started as a rainy, muddy Monday at that, failed to stop the pari-mutuel march of Sportsman's Park fans yesterday.

The machines clicked out a plus half million dollar tune and the rush for the windows was scarcely less riotous than during the big Saturday push when an opening day crowd of 22,000 sent dollars after more dollars.

Yesterday's turnout proved the suspicion that only inability of the track's sellers to handle all bets prevented the handle from exceeding $1,000,000. The 11,001 who flocked yesterday to the stylish half mile oval in Cicero wagered $555,709. Saturday's handle was $824,054.

Yesterday's total exceeded the second day's wagering at last spring's Sportsman's meeting by $251,079, or almost 100 per cent.

Favorites had been in command on yesterday's program until the Stickney purse, sixth race on the program and the top one, was run. Then the field of 10 turned this seven furlong sprint into a long shot frolic, with three outsiders crowding into the payoff. Victory went to Play Grier, owned by Mrs. Frank Nugent, of southern Illinois, and ridden by George Napier.

The 3 year old gelding spurted in the stretch. Damie, with J. W. Martin board, did the same and the result was a thrilling finish, Play Grier scoring by a nose. Damie was only a head in front of Queen Kizzie.

Play Grier paid $26.20, $10.80, and $8. Damie's prices were $22.60 and $14.40, while Queen Kizzie returned $15.60. Whosyourgal, the favorite, stopped on the back stretch and finished last.

Derby Trial Today Is Test for Outsiders

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 1.—The Derby Trial, last competitive workout for Kentucky Derby eligibles until the thorobreds are summoned to the post Saturday for the big event, has drawn a mediocre field of seven for tomorrow's $5,000 added event over the mile route. Mrs. Payne Whitney's Broad Grin, stable mate of Stir Up, the Derby favorite, will go to the starting gate a 2-1 favorite, with Mrs. George Poulson's Broadcloth, the second choice, at 3 to 1.

The remainder of the field will be made up of W. C. Hobson's Diavolow, Neville Dunn's Fire Power, W. C. Davis' Rockwood Boy, J. V. Maggio's American Eagle, and Mary Stephenson's Marksom, which still has his first race to win.

Standouts Pass It Up.

Back in February when the entries for the Trial were closed, 91 thorobreds had been nominated, including most of the stars of the 2 year old ranks of 1943. None of the remaining seven was a standout last year, altho Broad Grin, Broadcloth, and Fire Power won 10 races between them out of 43 starts.

So the set-up for the Derby Trial, won last year by Warren Wright's Ocean Wave, only tends to prove that there are no really outstanding 3 year olds and that the Derby field, too, will be made up along the same lines.

Expect 16 for Derby.

Right now, officials at the Downs are figuring on 16 sure starters in the $75,000 mile and a quarter fixture Saturday, with the Greentree stable's Stir Up, plus Jockey Eddie Arcaro, still commanding 8 to 5 respect in the odds on the strength of just two good victories this year—the Flamingo at Hialeah, and the first division of the Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

The outstanding news of the day, insofar as the colts considered as serious Derby contenders were concerned, was the feat of the Erlanger stable's Shut Up in stepping the Derby distance of a mile and a quarter in 2:05 3-5 in a workout. That is only 1 3-5 seconds slower than Count Fleet's winning time last year.

The decision announced today by Owner Warren Wright and Trainer Ben Jones to send Pensive on to Louisville, has added a bit more interest to the affair.

LEAHY SWORN INTO NAVY AS A LIEUTENANT

Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame was sworn into the navy as a full lieutenant in Chicago yesterday and ordered to report to Princeton university, May 25, to begin a 60 day indoctrination course.

Leahy said he knew nothing about reports that he might be assigned to a football coaching position at the Iowa Naval Pre-Flight Training school. He will receive his navy assignment upon completion of his indoctrination.

BOVA AND KIEFER WIN JUVENILE DANCE SKATING

Rose Bova and Kenneth Kiefer, representing the Imperial Figure Skating club of White Plains, N. Y., captured the juvenile dance competition yesterday afternoon in the Roller Bowl to become the first 1944 champions to be crowned in the National Amateur Roller Skating meet.

The winning pair was only 12 and 11 years of age.

Chicago was placed in the winning column when Larry Richter, C. Y. O. ice skating star in the midget boys' class, took the 220 yard race. Lawrence Wells of the Wells Roller club, River Rouge, Mich., was second and Billy Clark of the St. Sabina club of Chicago, third.

Chicago skaters also scored in the junior girls' 440 when Ellen Ryan of the St. Sabina Community club finished a close second to Peggy Madden, representing the Palomar Rink of Lansing, Mich.

INDIANS' 7 RUN RALLY IN EIGHTH BEATS SOX, 9-3

Sox. The first six innings were pitched by Hal Kleine, former St. Louis sandlotter, who made the Sox look terrible after the first inning flurry.

Thornton Lee was the losing pitcher. He was pretty much in command until he seemed to suddenly tire at the start of the eighth. Gordon Maltzberger sought to relieve and had a most unhappy time of it as five hits bounced off his offerings to the first six batters he faced. One of these was the second double of Jimmy Grant, Sox discard, this one with the bases loaded.

In the entire fateful eighth the Indians made seven hits, one more than they had made in the entire first seven sessions.

The Sox, perhaps momentarily remembering they made Lee labor 12 innings last Friday without giving him a run, pleased the big lefty when they stepped out for three runs before he had to cast his first pitch this afternoon. He had no way of knowing the cluster would be all for the day. With one out Skeeter Webb doubled to right and Myril Hoag walked. Hal Trosky singled to center, scoring Webb and putting Hoag on third. Guy Curtright also singled, scoring Hoag and putting Trosky on third. Trosky scored the third Sox run while John Dickshot was forcing Curtright.

Grant Opens with Double.

Lee retired the first six batsmen but suffered a slight pushing around in the third. Grant opened with a double along the right foul line and scored on George Susce's single to center, first of three by the old catcher-coach all of which drove in runs.

Dickshot got to third base with none out in the fourth—on a single, theft of second and an error by Susce. John stayed on third while Cuccinello popped to Grant and Tresh fanned. Then he was caught trying to steal home.

Then came the horrible eighth after Peters, first batsman, had been retired.

SIMMONS BEATS JOHN ROZINA IN MARIGOLD BOUT

Robert Simmons, Indianapolis 151 pounder was given a decision over John Rozina of Milwaukee in a wild eight round slugging match in Marigold Gardens last night.

The crowd of 1,435 saw three of the first four bouts end in knockouts. Bill Parsons, former Danville, Ill., sectional Golden Gloves winner, floored Roy Lewis, also a Golden Gloves graduate, in the seventh round; Herman Hayes, Chicago heavyweight, stopped William [Pug] Wilson, Gary, in the first, and Robert Earl, ex-City Golden Gloves lightweight champion, knocked out Robert Fowler, Nashville, Tenn., in the second round.

Fight Decisions

LAST NIGHT.

At Marigold Gardens—Robert Simmons beat Johnny Rozina [8]; Bill Parsons knocked out Roy Lewis [7]; Herman Hayes stopped William [Pug] Wilson [1]; Robert Earl knocked out Robert Fowler [2]; Willie Moon beat Eddie [Kid] Carson [4].

At Pittsburgh, Pa.—Bee Bee Wright beat Ernie [Cat] Robinson [8]; Phil Muscato beat Lou [Tiger] Jones [8].

At New York—St. Thomas Reed stopped Gus Dorazio [4]; Billy Arnold knocked out Eddie Saunders [1].

The Inquiring Camera Girl

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Marjorie Bell, Galesville, Wis.]

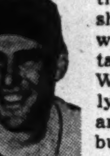
THE QUESTION.

How did you spend your winter? [Asked of Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox.]

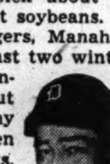
WHERE ASKED.

Comiskey park.

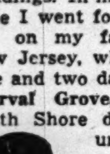
THE ANSWERS.



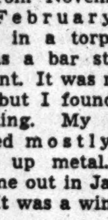
Hal Trosky, White Sox, Norway, Ia.—I have a 300 acre farm in Iowa that I operate on shares with a man whom I have hired to take care of it for me. We concentrate mostly on stock farming and had a flourishing business this year. We raise crops, too, and last fall I helped pick about 150 acres of corn and cut soybeans.



Roger Cramer, Tigers, Manahawkin, N. J.—For the last two winters I have been a carpenter. Fort Dix is about 30 miles from my home and I've been working on barracks, and other government buildings. In my spare time I went fox hunting on my farm in New Jersey, where I live with my wife and two daughters.



Orval Grove, White Sox, 6930 South Shore dr.—From November until February I worked in a torpedo plant as a bar stock attendant. It was new to me but I found it interesting. My job consisted mostly of cutting up metal. I took time out in January to get married. It was a winter well spent.



Pinky Higgins, Tigers, Dallas, Tex.—Last winter I worked in a prefabricating and housing company as an inspector. We manufactured jeep crates for shipment overseas and prefabricated houses for the army. Before I left for Evansville to go into training for the ball club I planted my war garden.

C. W. D. G. A. Revises Team Play System

Resumption of team play on a new basis and arrangement of club guest days for convalescent service men were the highlights of yesterday's annual spring luncheon of the Chicago Women's District Golf association. More than 200 members of the organization attended the session in the Wedgewood room at Marshall Field's, which was presided over by Mrs. Gilmore M. Mellor, president of the C. W. D. G. A.

The association plans to contact army and navy medical authorities in connection with the veterans' entertainment plan. Thru this, each club would hold separate guest days during the season on regular ladies' days, giving golf to those men able to play and luncheons and cards to those who cannot. The men would be invited from such veterans' hospitals as Hines, Gardner, and Downey.

Team play this year will be changed from interclub competition to medal play against par at the individual clubs. Prizes will be awarded in three divisions at each club. The dates of the team contests are the weeks of June 12, July 10, July 24, and Aug. 14.

Other association tournament dates follow:

Open days—June 16 at Beverly and July 26 at Riverside [Mabel Gustafson memorial]; C. W. D. G. A. championship at La Grange, from July 31 thru Aug. 4; Pro-Ladies—Aug. 14 at Sunset Ridge, and annual two ball foursome and election of officers at Park Ridge.

NEGRO GIANTS PLAY SUNDAY.

The Chicago American Giants will open their Negro American league schedule Sunday with a double header in Comiskey park against the Birmingham Black Barons, defending league champions.

career in 1923 with the Philadelphia Phillies and was one of the game's leading catchers for most of his 18 years on the active list. He was with the Phils until May 11, 1928, when he was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals for Catcher Virgil Davis and Outfielder Homer Peel. He spent six seasons as the Cards' No. 1 receiver, catching more than 100 games in five of those years. After the 1933 campaign he was traded back to the Phillies for Davis and Infielder Eddie Delker.

The Phillies secured the veteran to take over the management of the club and he filled that position from the start of the 1934 season until the end of 1938. In the latter season he appeared in only three games and the following year went to the Cincinnati Reds as a coach.

CHARGE GLOBAL MATCH CARTEL TO BAR RIVALRY

File Federal Suit to Break Contracts.

New York, May 1 (AP).—A civil complaint charging maintenance of an international cartel in the manufacture and distributon of matches by six American companies, four foreign concerns, and some of their officers and agents was filed in federal court today by the department of justice.

The complaint sought dissolution of alleged illegal contracts and agreements which it charged created noncompetitive marketing areas thruout the world and asked a perpetual injunction prohibiting the defendants from violating the Sherman anti-trust laws.

Competition Is Suppressed.

The government alleged the cartel had been in existence since 1901, had suppressed competition, established production and sales quotas, suppressed inventions and improvements and by acquiring patents controling the so-called "ever-lasting match," suppressed its production and use.

The complaint also alleged that because of an agreement between the Diamond Match company, named in the action, and I. G. Farbenindustrie of Germany, American production of chlorate potash, essential to match production and certain types of ammunition, was virtually halted in the period between the first and second world wars and that a grave shortage of chlorate potash for military purposes and match production resulted.

Defendants Are Listed.

Defendants named included Diamond Match company, New York City; William A. Fairburn, of Ojai, Cal., its president, and Howard F. Holman, Mahwaha, N. J., its vice president; Berst-Forster-Dixfield company, of New York City; William Gordon corporation, of New York City; Universal Match corporation, of St. Louis; and Ohio Match company and Lion Match company, both of New York City.

Others were British Match corporation of London and Clarence Bartholomew, managing director; Bryant & May, Ltd., of London; Eddy Match company, of Pembroke, Ont.; Swedish Match company, of Jonkopings, Sweden; Transamerican Match corporation, and New York Match company, both of New York City; and Paul Bertel Lind and Fritz Atterberg, both of New York City, presidents, respectively, of Transamerican and New York Match.

Universal's Head Replies.

A. H. Rosenberg, president of Universal Match corporation, St. Louis, made this statement:

"We have not seen the contents of the suit filed in the United States court at New York today, but we want the public to understand that Universal Match corporation has never been and is not now a member or participant in cartels of any kind.

"The match production of Universal Match corporation has been governed for more than two years by the allocations of raw materials controled entirely by the war labor board. We can only manufacture to the extent of the materials which we are permitted to purchase."

Subsidy on Cuba Bound Flour Suspended by WFA

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—The WFA said today the subsidy of $1.45 a hundred pounds paid to millers in this country for flour sold to Cuba has been temporarily suspended as shipments have reached 75 per cent of Cuba's 1944 requirements.

Stocks Climb; Trade Broad but Sluggish

New York, May 1 (AP).—The stock market advanced today altho dealings were sluggish and the ticker tape frequently loafed until the final hour when a buying flurry gave volume a lift. Gains of fractions to around two points were fairly well distributed at the close. Montgomery Ward gained ½ point.

Investment demand revived moderately, and short covering was in evidence. Brokers believed selling as invasion insurance had been virtually completed and that, news warranting, the next move might be on the upside.

Stock Average Gains.

The Associated Press 60 stock average advanced 0.3 to 51.4. Transfers of 570,570 shares compared with 561,230 Friday. The market was broad, 807 issues appearing.

Consolidated Film Industries and Pacific Mills touched peaks for 1944. Standard Oil [New Jersey] jumped 1⅛ when directors voted a 75 cent extra dividend, an increase of 25 cents from previous payments. Schenley rose 1¼ on rumors of retirement of the preferred shares and a possible common stock dividend. Republic Steel lost ⅛ on a disappointing first quarter earnings report.

RAIL BONDS ADVANCE.

New York, May 1 (AP). — Selected rails and assorted high priced industrials and utilities gained in today's bond market, but the main corporate list closed uneven.

A half dozen bonds of the Milwaukee road were outstanding favorites. The 5s of 1975 closed up 1⅝ at 56⅜ on sales of $659,0000, the adjustment 5s added 1¼ at 16 on sales of $981,000 and advances of ½ to 1½ were scored on lesser volume by the 4¾s, 4½s, 4s and 3½s.

CHICAGO LIST GAINS.

Prices advanced yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Commonwealth Edison gained ⅜, General Motors ¾, and Quaker Oats 1½. Chicago corporation, the volume leader, closed unchanged. Libby, McNeill & Libby and Great Lakes Dredge and Dock lost small fractions.

Elevated Traffic Climbs 8.6 Per Cent During April

The Chicago Rapid Transit company announced yesterday it carried 15,622,300 passengers in April, a gain of 8.64 per cent above a year earlier. In the first four months 62,945,147 passengers, were carried, a rise of 7.62 per cent. Chicago Motor Coach company's April traffic volume totaled 5,613,107, a gain of 0.83 per cent. In the four months, passengers aggregated 22,241,425, up 2.25 per cent.

People and Events

Col. Charles H. Davis, safety superintendent for Commonwealth Edison company and former commanding officer of the 132d infantry regiment of the Illinois National Guard, retired yesterday from active service after 36 years with the company. Davis had headed Edison's accident and fire prevention activities since 1919.

Charles H. Eaton has resigned as Chicago regional manager of Butler Brothers because of health reasons, T. B. Freeman, president, announced. His successor has not been appointed.

E. N. Sanders has resumed his former position of vice president in charge of operations in the National Tube company after 20 months spent in helping organize the new Tubular Alloy Steel corporation plant in Gary, Ind.

O. A. Felton has resigned as executive vice president of the J. R. Hamilton Advertising agency to enter business for himself.

DISTRIBUTORS' GROUP WARNS LATE SPRING PERILS FOOD OUTPUT

New York, May 1 (AP).—A cold, late spring with excessive rainfall has set farm work back so seriously that food production during the summer and autumn is in real danger, the American Institute of Food Distribution reported today.

The summary of food supply prospects for the country as a whole said these backward conditions prevail in all major growing centers with the exception of Florida, southern Texas, and "beyond the Rockies."

It said acreage of crops ordinarily harvested in June and early, July has been seriously curtailed, "and growers are so short of extra help that a shift to later plantings is difficult to predict."

County Buys Two Buildings Near Hospital

BY AL CHASE.

The county board of commissioners yesterday, thru an option held since 1941, purchased from the University of Chicago for $125,000 the two buildings at the northeast corner of Wood and Flournoy sts., formerly occupied by the Durand hospital and the John Rockefeller McCormick Institute for Infectious Diseases.

The county also bought four apartment buildings, containing 27 flats, just east of the institute building. Post-war plans call for their demolition to make way for a hospital parking lot.

Deal in 1941 Canceled.

In 1941 a deal for the sale of the Durand and McCormick properties to Atty. Hugo Sonnenschein, representing an undisclosed client who planned to make them into a private charity hospital, was canceled at the request of the county.

Altho the contract was signed the county commissioners persuaded the buyer that it was needed more by the county than by him. The county then leased the property at an annual rental of $4,200, which this year was reduced to $3,600, and took an option to buy at $125,000.

The county uses the Durand hospital unit for an overflow out-patient department of the county hospital, which is across the street, and as quarters for interns. The McCormick institute building is used for medical research laboratories.

Founded as Memorial.

The McCormick institute was founded in 1902 by Harold F. and Edith Rockefeller McCormick as a memorial to their son, John, who died of scarlet fever. They gave it a $612,500 endowment. The Durand hospital was founded by Mrs. Annie W. Durand.

A merger of these and the $500,000 trust left in care of the University of Chicago by Mrs. Harriet G. Smith permitted plans to be made for a new institution to be known as the Charles Gilman Smith hospital. It will adjoin the Billings Memorial hospital on the University of Chicago campus when built after the war.

Slight Dip in Production by Steel Mills Is Forecast

New York, May 1 (AP).—The American Iron and Steel institute estimated today the country's steel mills would operate this week at 99.5 per cent of capacity and produce 1,782,300 tons of steel, compared with last week's 100 per cent.

Bigger Supply Helps Outlook of Corn Users

Prospects that Chicago wet process corn industries would be able to reopen their plants next week were brighter yesterday. Purchases for deferred shipment from the country aggregated 150,000 bushels, the first time in several weeks the processors have obtained more than daily requirements.

In addition to the grain purchased by local industries, several in Iowa were said to have obtained large amounts of corn, and unless there is a period of wet weather officials predicted a majority of the largest processors' will be able to resume capacity operations within 10 days.

Illinois Shipments Large.

Chicago received 380,000 bushels of cash corn over the week-end, the largest single day's arrival in more than a month, the bulk of which came from central Illinois.

Grain futures held within narrow price limits, and averaged lower on favorable weather and crop reports. Wheat futures finished ⅛ to ¼ a bushel lower. Oats lost ⅜ cent and rye was ¼ to ⅜ cent lower. Rye was ⅜ cent higher in the early trading as deliveries of about 2,600,000 bushels were reported taken by firms which acquired the bulk of the cash rye deliveries late last year.

OFFERINGS INCREASE

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—A WFA official said today he was "optimistic" that the goal of 80 million bushels of corn required for war industries would be obtained by the government before the end of the 60 day freeze on private sales in 125 counties in five states.

The WFA said 27,169,815 bushels have been offered for sale to the Commodity Credit corporation since the program began a week ago today. Illinois led with 15,700,000 bushels, with Iowa offering 9,088,000, Nebraska 1,418,815, Minnesota 500,000, and Indiana 463,000.

War industry needs are roughly 11 million bushels of corn a month, and the 80 million bushel goal will be sufficient until late November or December, when new corn will be available. The freeze is to be lifted as soon as the goal is reached.

3 MORE FIRMS AUTHORIZED TO PRODUCE IRONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 1.—The WPB, which expects 2 million critically needed electric flatirons to be produced this year without hindrance to military production, announced today that three more manufacturers have been authorized to make 193,625 irons. WPB previously had authorized nine manfacturers to make 201,375 irons.

The manufacturers and the quotas assigned them today are: Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, Mansfield, O., 157,000 irons; Dominion Electrical Manufacturing company, Mansfield, O., 35,000 irons; New York Pressing Machine company, New York City, 1,625 irons.

SHEAFFER PEN GETS VT LOAN OF 2½ MILLIONS

W. E. Sheaffer Pen company has completed arrangements with four banks for a VT loan of 2½ million dollars, C. R. Sheaffer, president, informed stockholders in his annual report yesterday. This credit has not been used, he added, but is intended for the company's protection in case of sudden cessation of war contracts.

The company's profit for the fiscal year ended Feb. 29, after provision for post-war adjustments, was $1,132,650, equal to $6.97 a share, compared with $800,107, or $5.06 a share on a somewhat smaller number of shares in the year before.

Utility's Shareholders Vote Stock Change Plan

Philadelphia, Pa., May 1 (AP).—United Gas Improvement company's stockholders approved today a plan to reclassify the company's capital stock by reducing authorized shares from 35 million with no par value to 3½ million with a $13.50 par value.

HOG RECEIPTS JAM MARKETS; MAY 1 HIGH SET

Holdovers Mount as 200,000 Arrive.

Market receipts of hogs thruout the midwest yesterday surpassed all records for May 1 as reports from all sections indicated the feed grain situation was rapidly tightening. At the same time the East St. Louis yards were jammed with hogs forced onto the market as farmers faced the flood waters of a Mississippi river swollen to a century high peak.

Holdovers again piled up at all markets that opened for business. Many yards, however, remained closed because they still were filled with hogs received last week and were short of feed.

Biggest Volume Since Feb. 28.

The 20 biggest markets received 200,000 hogs, compared with 146,000 a week earlier. Volume was the largest for any day since Feb. 28. On the corresponding day last year 140,000 arrived, and two years ago the run was 89,000.

Altho Detroit announced the conclusion of its four day embargo on hogs, stock yards officials in that city said resumption of shipments would be permitted beginning today, but only under a permit system. At St. Joseph, Mo., an embargo went into effect to continue until 3 p. m. tomorrow.

Indicative of the glut of unsold hogs hanging over the market was the holdover at Chicago. Of 27,000 received, including 10,000 direct shipments to packers, 5,000 remained unsold. Other holdovers were: Omaha, 7,000; Sioux City, 6,000; Kansas City, 10,000; Indianapolis, 14,000; and Cincinnati, 4,500.

Feed Shortage Underlined.

The tightening feed situation was underlined by three incidents.

1. The war food administration warned: "Shortage of feed at several public markets is hampering operations, making it difficult to maintain the weight of hogs that are carried over for any length of time."

2. In Chicago the use of potatoes as a hog feed was forced when the market's grain supplies neared exhaustion and added supplies were unobtainable. Two carloads of potatoes were uploaded over the weekend and all hogs arriving yesterday were placed on a potato diet.

3. At Decatur, Ill., state agricultural adjustment administration headquarters said the Commodity Credit corporation would dispatch two carloads of wheat to Randolph and Monroe counties as emergency feed for live stock in flooded areas. AAA Chairmen Andrew Brown of Randolph county and Charles A. Franklin of Monroe county asked for the grain.

30,000 Reach St. Louis.

At East St. Louis H. A. Powell, secretary of the St. Louis Live Stock exchange, said a "terrific" run of more than 30,000 hogs resulted because smaller markets along the Mississippi river had been flooded and because raisers had become dependent entirely on their own feed supplies since the WFA's order of April 23 freezing corn supplies in 125 midwest counties. Holdover was estimated at close to 20,000 head. Receipts a week ago were 18,900.

Prices for all except good to choice 200 to 270 pound hogs eligible to federal support fell sharply on the Chicago market. Losses up to 25 cents a hundred pounds were frequent for stock under 200 pounds and over 270 pounds. All such weights were at the lowest prices since early spring of 1942.

The average was 5 cents lower than last week's close, at $12.90, and the lowest since March, 1942. Most good butchers just over 270 pounds and up to 350 pounds sold at $12.00 to $12.60. Good 170 to 190 pounders sold at $12.00 to $12.75. Most 350 to 600 pound sows brought $11.20 to $11.40.

United Seeks Hawaii Route; T.W.A. Aids Affiliate's Plea

Two moves to establish additional air line service between this country and Hawaii, one involving direct service from Chicago to Honolulu, were disclosed yesterday.

Jack Frye.

United Air Lines filed an application with the civil aeronautics board to establish Chicago-Hawaii service. Its petition seeks authority to operate two routes to Honolulu—one from San Francisco and the other from Los Angeles, both western terminals of United transcontinental routes from New York to the Pacific coast.

Acquires Part Interest.

Transcontinental and Western Air announced acquisition of a 20 per cent interest in Hawaiian Airlines, Ltd., and said it would support an application for operation of a route which Hawaiian Airlines has pending before the CAB.

The Hawaiian line at present does a large passenger, mail, and freight business in the Hawaiian Islands. It was reported to have carried 514,775 pounds of express and freight in January.

Jack Frye, president of T. W. A., also announced that his company is withdrawing its earlier application for authority to operate its own route from California to Hawaii.

"We believe that the international air transport job is far too great for any single United States corporate structure or management," said Frye. "The acquisition of an interest in Hawaiian Airlines is a further step in line with our policy to participate in a minority way in certain leading, established companies operating outside of the continental United States."

Frye said T. W. A. is making preparations with a view to providing its own service from the United States to the British Isles and beyond.

The price paid for the Hawaiian Airlines interest was "over $300,000," he said.

Passenger Total Mounts.

Stanley C. Kennedy, president of Hawaiian Airlines and of Inter-Island Steam Navigation company, said the steamship company proposes to divest itself of the controling interest which it has held in Hawaiian Airlines. The air line reported for 1943 a profit of $132,054. Last year it carried 108,114 passengers, an increase of 31.04 per cent above the preceding year.

United Air Lines officials said that four-engined transport planes would be operated over the approximately 2,500 miles between California and Hawaii. Elapsed time from Chicago to Hawaii would be approximately 20 hours with the type of 52 passenger, 220 mile an hour planes which the company plans to place in service immediately after the war, the company said.

PLAN TO BRING 100 CHINESE TO U. S. FOR FINAL RAIL TRAINING

One hundred Chinese partially trained in their own country for various railroad jobs are to be brought to this country to complete their training on American railroads, it was learned yesterday.

The move, initiated by the Chinese government and handled by the Association of American Railroads, represents an effort to improve Chinese railroad operations rather than to relieve man power shortages in this country, a Chicago railroad official said. Ten of the men will be trained in his line's shops, he added.

Under arrangements with shop and operating unions, the men will be paid the regular wages of apprentices, and it is agreed the Chinese will return to their home country when their training has been completed. The men will not accumulate seniority rights, it was understood.

The association has arranged to apportion the Chinese among various United States railroads, but details on their transportation to this country have not been completed. The Chicago official who obtained shop union approval of the move said the arrangement would be of no economic benefit to American railroads because of the normal expense of training new employes.

SENIOR HOLDERS GET MILWAUKEE DIVIDEND FIRST

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—Priority on dividends will go to the present holders of preferred stock in the reorganized Milwaukee railroad, the interstate commerce commission decided today.

In an adjustment of a reorganization plan it approved last December, the ICC ruled that dividends of 5 per cent must be paid or declared and set aside on the preferred stock before any action is taken on common stock.

The ICC also specified that dividends on preferred stock "shall be assumed to have been paid for the three years immediately preceding the effective date of the reorganization plan."

DEVELOP METHOD TO GET RUBBER FROM HAITI VINE

LA LIMA, Honduras, May 1 [Special].—A method of extracting rubber from cryptostegia grandiflora, which may save from total loss the United States government's 7 million dollar investment in the tropical rubber vine in Haiti, has been developed by chemists of the United Fruit company, working under the direction of Dr. Vining C. Dunlap.

The company, which has no commercial plantings of cryptostegia, intends to make the process available to Shada, the Haitian government rubber agency, which has about 40,000 acres in cultivation but thus far has not been able to produce rubber in commercial quantity.

The process developed here has been successful on a small pilot scale, the chemists recovering a little more than a pound of rubber for each 100 pounds of freshly cut vine leaves and stems treated.

Dr. Dunlap said the chemical does not seriously damage the rubber and the process is highly efficient, removing almost all of the small percentage of rubber found in cut stems and leaves.

CONGRESS ASKED TO LIMIT BANK HOLDING FIRMS

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—Immediate legislation to prevent further expansion of bank holding companies or creation of new ones was recommended today by the federal reserve board, which told congress that bank holding companies should be limited to the banking business and that their activities should be regulated like those of the banks they control.

The board said that the bank holding company device had been used to gather under one management many different kinds of enterprises "wholly unrelated to the banking business," and in some cases to escape supervision of agencies that regulate banks since a holding company can do certain things forbidden to a bank.

Prospects for the post-war period favor continuation of low long-term interest rates which it said would tend to promote increased employment by encouraging capital outlays in both old and new enterprises, the board reported.

AVERY PRAISED BY U. S. STEEL STOCKHOLDERS

Renamed Director; Wage Fight Told.

Hoboken, N. J., May 1 (AP).—Stockholders of the United States Steel corporation today reëlected Sewell L. Avery a director and approved a resolution declaring they were "proud" to have him on the board.

Irving S. Olds.

The enthusiastic stockholder who authored the resolution wanted to go further and praise the Montgomery Ward & Co. chairman "because of his valiant and persistent fight in behalf of the fundamental rights of American industry," but Irving S. Olds, steel corporation chairman who presided at the meeting, declined to permit the complimentary resolution to be voted as originally framed.

Ward Fight Not Relevant.

Olds told the approximately 250 shareholders at the meeting that Avery, a member of the steel corporation board since 1931, had been chosen because of his experience and his executive ability and that his recent conflict with the government over a dispute with the war labor board had no relevancy to his reëlection today.

Reëlected with Avery were four other directors whose terms had expired.

Olds told the shareholders the corporation would be unable to absorb any increase in wage costs which might result from the current demands of steel workers without an increase in prices of steel products.

Wage Demands Outlined.

The demands of the union include a wage increase of 17 cents an hour for all steel workers, a guaranteed annual wage, a more generous vacation plan, dismissal with pay, shift differentials, a fund for steel workers in military service, and elimination of geographic wage differentials, Olds said.

"These wage demands cannot be granted within what is permitted by the existing governmental wage stabilization policy," Olds said. "Steel workers in general are today receiving at least the full compensation allowed by the so-called Little Steel formula.

Public Interest at Stake.

"This is a highly important matter, not only for the corporation and the steel industry, but also for the entire public. The granting of wage increases of this character must inevitably result in higher wages in all industries and in higher prices for almost everything which all of us buy."

Olds disclosed that at the request of the late Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, United States Steel with General Motors corporation would act in an advisory capacity in solving problems involved in the distribution of combat equipment for effective use against the enemy. This was technically described as "logistic support of the fleet," said Olds.

CCC to Buy 55,000 Tons of Sugar for Lend-Lease

New York, May 1 (AP).—The war food administration has entered the market for a total of 55,000 tons of refined sugar for lend-lease to be purchased thru the Commodity Credit corporation, it was reported today. The purchase will be 30,000 tons from domestic refiners in New York and Philadelphia and the rest from Cuban refiners.

WHY MUNICIPALS?

Consider their net return as compared to that from taxable securities

• Investors who have not determined the net return they can secure today from carefully-selected tax-exempt municipal bonds as compared to the net yield from taxable securities, are overlooking one of the most important factors in the investment field.

• For many investors, especially those in the higher income brackets, this can be their most important investment consideration.

• The primary appeal of municipals is still safety—safety next to U. S. government obligations. But no investor should hastily conclude that "municipals are too high" without fully investigating their tax exemption advantages as compared to taxable securities.

• To assist you, we have available a convenient schedule comparing tax-free versus taxable bonds and which shows the return you should receive from taxable securities to compare with tax-exempts.

KELLY AIDS HIT 'DROP IN BUCKET' POST-WAR IDEAS

Group Asks Ruling Soon on War Plants' Fate.

A report emphasizes the necessity for private enterprise to make jobs in the post-war world and the "drop in the bucket" character of government financed work planned so far was presented to Mayor Kelly yesterday by the Economic Advisory council of Chicago. The mayor attended a luncheon of the group in the Chicago club.

To carry out its recommendations, the council held, the government should make an early determination of policy on the question of what would be done with the 268 war plants costing more than a billion dollars that have been built with public funds in the metropolitan area.

Housing Plan Advocated.

Revision of the methods of terminating war contracts and a comprehensive plan for more housing, including new condemnation legislation, also were listed as imperative.

The report asserted that present airport facilities, even if Chicago airport is expanded to the greatest degree possible, would be inadequate and suggested other sites to be developed, all of them on the outer fringes of the city. It opposed a lake front port.

"The creation of a site for an air terminal by building an island in Lake Michigan, it was concluded after careful study, would require extensive construction costs and would lack ready access for facilities needed for a commercial airport," the report said.

New Rail Station Favored.

The council approved a proposal that the railroads get together on a plan for a combined rail station south of the loop. A belief was indicated that the railroads, in a period of prosperity, might be more receptive to such a project than they have been in the past.

James S. Knowlson, chairman of the council, which was appointed by the mayor, said that the public money so far available for post-war job making was $1,226,000,000, a sum that would keep only 50,000 employed a year; and that 800,000 jobs had to be made.

The mayor said that Mayor F. H. La Guardia had told him New York had laid aside 30 millions for planning alone, which seemed to him excessive. He suggested that the council should take an interest in the traction problem and its importance to the city.

"I have suggested a municipal ownership plan, but I am not wedded to it," he averred. "I mentioned it only because I want to force action on some workable local transportation plan."

ASKS ACTION NOW

Municipalities can best prepare for the post-war period by taking constructive steps now, Carl H. Chatters, executive director of the Municipal Finance Officers' association, said yesterday at the annual planning sessions of the American Society of Planning Officials in the Stevens hotel.

"What municipalities do now determines what they will be compelled to do and what they will be compelled to accept in the post-war era," Chatters said. "Put your 'houses' in order now."

Chatters asserted public works must be built around a master plan.

"Without controled development, new expenditures on a large scale may aggravate the rundown condition of the central areas in large cities," he added.

W-G-N MAN HANDLES RADIO PROGRAM FOR 'MOSQUITO NETWORK'

GUADALCANAL [Delayed].—An American expeditionary radio station for entertainment of troops in the Solomons area was formally opened here recently with a broadcast of dedicatory speeches by Adm. William F. Halsey, commander in chief, South Pacific; Lt. Gen. Millard H. Harmon, commanding general, South Pacific; Maj. Gen. Ray S. Geiger, commanding general, first marine amphibious corps, and others.

Capt. Spencer Allen.

The station, already dubbed "The Mosquito Network," was constructed in a muddy grove of coconut trees by army engineers and signalmen, under supervision of the radio branch of the morale services division of the war department. Broadcasts of entertainment, news, music, and variety, many of the latter specially recorded in the United States, will be put on by members of each branch of the military services stationed on this island.

The program staff is under direction of Capt. Spencer M. Allen, formerly associated with W-G-N, Chicago. The station is the second of its kind in the South Pacific. Another, in Noumea, New Caledonia, has been in operation several months. Two others, farther north, are planned.

WALKIE-TALKIE PICTURED AS AID IN WAR ON CRIME

After the war policemen and firemen may be equipped with walkie-talkies to fight crime and fire by radio. And thru the same type of radio devices physicians may keep in touch with hospitals and offices, and operators of trains, buses, taxis, and trucks may receive orders while on the move.

War needs have brought such developments in radio communication that these walkie-talkie applications are in prospect for peace time, H. F. Mickel, manager of police and emergency communication of the Radio Corporation of America, disclosed yesterday.

Mickel envisioned firemen carrying small walkie-talkies inside a blazblazing building and being directed by a superior officer, carrying a walkie-talkie on the outside.

Mickel also predicted the introduction of radio operated heat indicators for setting off fire alarms. The burglar alarm of tomorrow, he said, may use invisible rays to prevent any indication that a detection device is in operation.

AMERICAN ENKA.

I would like to have information on the American Enka corporation, including financial data. B. B.

Answer: The company, Dutch controled, manufactures viscose rayon yarn under license from the Dutch Enka company. The bulk of its output ordinarily is used in the manufacture of women's dress fabrics but now is being taken by the government. The company is carrying out a 5 million dollar expansion program to provide high tenacity rayon yarn for war uses. A newly formed subsidiary manufactures tire fabrics from rayon, cotton, and nylon.

Capitalization consists solely of 372,550 no par shares. Dividends for the last five years were: 1943-'42, $3.50; 1941, $4.50; 1940, $5; 1939, $5.50.

Net income for 1943 was $1,698,023, equal to $4.56 a share, subject to renegotiation, against $1,885,262, or $5.06 a share, for 1942. No refund was necessary for 1942. Per share net income for prior years included $4.76 for 1941, $5.11 for 1940, $6.02 for 1939, $2.74 for 1938, and $6.76 for 1937.

Current assets as of Jan. 2, 1944, totaled $15,791,033, including $7,165,224 cash and $5,057,000 United States treasury tax notes, against current liabilities of $5,605,453.

ARMY MEN FACE 'DISCIPLINE' FOR BATTERY SALES

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—Disciplinary action is being taken by the war department against army officers involved in the low price sale to civilians last year of thousands of "salvage" dry cell batteries at the Ogden, Utah, depot.

Rep. Cochran [D., Mo.], who said he was so informed today by Undersecretary of War Patterson, told the house recently that some of the 100,000 batteries for which the government originally paid $200,000 were sold to civilians for $125 and that part of these later were resold for $20,000.

Result of Errors.

The sales, Patterson said in a report to Cochran, were the "result of errors of judgment and administration," but no fraud or collusion by officers or employes of the war department was indicated.

Two of the initial buyers, Patterson said, were civilian employes at the depot. He added that army regulations prohibit the acceptance of bids for salvaged property from government employes.

"Necessary disciplinary action is being taken against responsible officers at all levels of command," Patterson wrote Cochran, "including, where appropriate, reprimands, relief from duty, and reclassification."

Called to Officers' Attention.

The case had been called "forcefully" to the attention of the chief signal officer, commanding general of the 9th service command, and the commanding general of the Utah army service forces depot, he said, and to prevent a recurrence salvaged property hereafter will be sold on bids except in extraordinary circumstances.

Patterson said one lot of the batteries was sold for $15 and another lot was sold for $110.

Some of the batteries sold for $15 were resold for from $1,200 to $1,500. Other lots brought $20,000 and $7,000.

RADIO MUSICIANS ORDERED TO END CHICAGO STRIKE

Washington, D. C., May 1 [Special].—The war labor board tonight ordered the American Federation of Musicians [AFL] to direct striking members at radio station WJJD, Chicago, to return to work immediately. Ten union record turners have been on strike at the station since April 15.

The WLB ordered the case returned to the 6th regional board for disposition and directed that conditions of employment existing prior to the strike be restored pending final settlement. According to Ralph Atlass, president of WJJD, the strike was called after he refused a union demand to hire 10 additional men.

A return to work order was also issued by the WLB in connection with a musicians' union strike at radio station KSTP, Minneapolis.

23,000,000 Now Work in British War Industry

COUNCIL OF AFL REVIEWS LABOR'S NO-STRIKE VOW

Philadelphia, Pa., May 1 (AP).—The American Federation of Labor executive council renewed its no strike pledge today and said since its last appeal to the membership three months ago "no strikes have been called by any affiliated union of the AFL engaged in war production."

President William Green said the international revenue bureau had given labor unions an extension until July 15 to file the financial reports required under the recently enacted tax law. This is the second extension granted.

The requirement, Green said, means 40,000 to 60,000 reports will have to be made. Each local union has to make a report, either directly to the bureau or thru its international union. Green also said the AFL is conferring with internal revenue officials in an effort to work out a simplified form.

The council, which opened its spring meeting today, also will draft proposals for the labor planks of the major political parties.

1.8 Billion More Approved to Provide Landing Craft

Washington, D. C., May 1 (AP).—The house naval committee today approved without dissent a measure authorizing construction of an additional one billion 800 million dollars' worth of landing craft. The bill supplements the 32 billion dollar navy budget because the need for additional motored barges for shore attacks became apparent after the estimate was submitted, said Rep. Vinson [D., Ga.], chairman of the committee.

GAIN IN AIRPORT TRAFFIC OVER 1943 IS REPORTED

Public Works Commissioner Hewitt yesterday reported that Chicago airport did more business during the first four months of 1944 than for the comparable period in 1943.

Citing figures prepared by Walter Wright, parks and aviation superintendent, Hewitt said 214,922 plane passengers arrived or departed from the city field during January, February, March, and April of this year, as compared with 187,630 last year.

Plane arrivals and departures totaled 13,792, against 12,910 for the 1943 period. In addition there were 13,516 nonscheduled flights, mainly military.

TRAINED AND UNTRAINED
Think of the men you serve while working on our war products. We pre-warm aircraft engines and cabins with our Ground Heaters. Where would tanks, PT boats, the Douglas B18 and Higgins boats be without our panels? Think of the big job our lubrication equipment does for planes, boats and land vehicles! And then there is the dramatic story of our radar products, our range and direction-finding equipment, and our communications equipment. Working here at the bench, on machines, in inspection, in the stockroom or office, you have a fine insurance policy and hospitalization plan, a convenient credit union, good wages, and a 10% bonus on 2d and 3d shifts.
